MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

FINANCIAL REVIEW

The PRC government strengthened the promotion of fire safety to the public and implemented tighter measures to monitor public and industrial safety. This stimulated market demand for high quality and reliable fire alarm products and systems and contributed to growth in product sales and service revenue for the Group. For the year ended 31 December 2006, the Group's consolidated turnover grew by 15.0% to approximately RMB645,771,000 (2005: RMB561,716,000) and gross profit increased by 9.8% to approximately RMB316,730,000 (2005: RMB288,480,000).

Due to decrease of gross profit margin in fire alarm systems and the expansion of installation business, the Group's overall gross profit margin decreased by 2.4 percentage points to 49.0%. With tight control, operating cost was reduced by 1.9 percentage points. The operating profit before value-added tax ("VAT") refund and income tax increased by 17.2% to RMB156,269,000 (2005: RMB133,303,000). Since certain products did not entitle to VAT refund, the VAT refund received in 2006 decreased by 43.4% to RMB16,859,000 as compared to the previous year (2005: RMB29,810,000). Profit before taxation increased by 6.1% to approximately RMB173,128,000 (2005: RMB163,113,000). Tax expenses, however, increased to RMB8,001,000 (2005: RMB694,000) after the expiry of certain income tax exemption benefits of the Group. Net profit attributable to shareholders increased by 1.6% to RMB164,993,000 (2005: RMB162,427,000). As new shares were issued in June 2005 during the listing exercise, the average number of shares increased to 800,000,000 shares (2005: 652,665,990 shares), and therefore basic earnings per share was RMB20.6 cents (2005: RMB24.9 cents).

The Board recommended the payment of a final dividend of HKD7.33 cents per share, equivalent to approximately RMB7.33 cents, increased by 1.6% over last year.

MARKET REVIEW

The steady growth of China's economy fuelled a sustained growth in the fire alarm systems industry as a whole which led to a growing trend for both utilization and market penetration of fire alarm systems. Under the 11th Five Year Plan which implemented by the PRC Government in 2006, almost every province, municipality and district incorporated fire safety projects into the planning of their general economic and social development and special programs for fire safety development have been strongly advocated on every level. Relevant government policies are also in place to further enhance the awareness of the importance of industrial safety among different industries. Tighten measures were also implemented to ensure that fire safety is being accorded a high priority in the workplace. Thus, the demand for fire prevention related equipment from different industries, was fostering, in particular, there was increase in the demand for fire alarm system products, installation and maintenance services from industrial sector which presents a potential for future business development.

Market competition exists in the fire alarm system industry with over 100 players in the PRC and drives selling price to adjustments. Nevertheless, the Group has successfully achieved the largest share in the PRC fire alarm systems market for many years with its primary task on the provision of diversified product and excellent service to customers not solely depending on price-cutting strategy. The Group has always pursued technological advances, greater brand recognition and better quality service in order to boost its core competitiveness. Effective efforts have also been made to reduce costs, so as to consolidate the Group's competitiveness and to alleviate the impact of prices adjustments.

As the PRC market grows at a rapid pace, there is a rising demand for one-stop solutions for the installation and maintenance services of fire alarm systems and such kind of market demand has become the norm. Consequently, providers who offer one-stop service solutions will become even more competitive and will benefit from such market opportunities. In addition, overseas export markets also provide good opportunities for those enterprises who offer superb products and services at competitive prices.

Furthermore, international fire safety systems manufacturers have also stepped up their penetration into the PRC market. They bring not only new challenges but also opportunities for local players to cooperate with them to explore the domestic market.

All these factors provided a favourable operating environment with good opportunities for the Group to propel its future growth.

BUSINESS REVIEW

The Group is a provider of fire alarm systems, 119 fire network systems and other security systems products with research and development capabilities as well as providing installation, repair and maintenance services. The Group is well poised to emerge as a dominant player in the PRC fire industry with an increased market share of about 30% in the field of fire alarm systems.

During the year under review, the Group focused on the manufacturing and sales of fire alarm system products. Thus, in turn, contributed to driving the demand for product installation, repair and maintenance services, and ultimately further broadened the Group's revenue base from services business. In addition, the Group has always regarded the domestic market as its primary target for business development. On top of expanding its commercial and residential customer base, the Group took a great step in actively exploring the industrial and export sectors to expand its market coverage in view of their great potential. The Group deployed more resources, such as establishing a designated team, in order to seize market opportunities and provide new driving forces to the Group's sale.

In order to expand its production capacity to achieve a better economies of scale, during the year, the Group completed the third phase of Qinhuangdao expansion project and new production facilities commenced operation in August 2006. The Group's production capacity increased by 82% and the overall utilization rate stands at 60%-70%. The increased capacity will satisfy the rising demand in the next two years. The Group will continue to expand its production capacity to meet market demand as well as achieve better revenue growth.

In January, 2007, the Group was named by Forbes as the 21st highest growth potential PRC enterprises, for the second consecutive time included amongst the top 100 since 2006.

Fire Alarm Systems

Sales of fire alarm systems, the Group's core business, increased by 11.0% to RMB476,138,000 (2005: RMB429,003,000) and accounted for 73.7% of the total turnover. Of this total, sales from fire alarm systems sales and maintenance services were RMB466,856,000 and RMB9,282,000, respectively, representing a growth of 10.7% and 28.5% respectively. Despite the competition in the PRC fire alarm system market with about 100 players, the Group successfully solidified its leading position in the industry. In terms of sales from domestic fire alarm system, the Group enjoyed a market share of about 30%, doubling the market shares held by the second and third largest players.

Leveraging its comprehensive product portfolio, the Group successfully established a diversified customer base, including commercial, residential as well as professional clientele such as metal refinery, electrical and chemical industrial customers, banks, government organizations, airports, railways and other public facilities. In recent years, the Group also proactively explored the export market and regards it as one of the driving engines for future business growth.

The Group's gross profit margin in the fire alarm system in 2006 was 53.5%, which was 3.4 percentage point lower than 2005 (2005: 56.9%) mainly due to normal business competition, but it was still at a satisfactory level. However, to enhance its overall profitability, the Group shifted its customer mix into higher margin customers such as industrial and public facilities clients (gross margin of 55.9%) and export clients (gross margin of 59.8%) from the domestic commercial clients (gross margin of 52.3%) and residential clients (gross margin of 50.2%). In particular, the sales growth in the industrial and public facilities sector and the export market is approximately 48.2% and 91.2%, respectively.

Meanwhile, the Group enhanced its bargaining power and reduced raw material cost by leveraging on its economies of scale on the one hand and improved its production process and product design through its research and development with technology upgrade on the other, thereby making the average production cost more competitive in order to attain its cost control target.

FOREIGN CURRENCY EXPOSURES AND TREASURY POLICY

We are exposed to a risk of the exchange rate change between the United States dollar and Renminbi. In principle, more than 95% of our sales and raw material purchasing amounts are denominated in Renminbi. However, the purchases of raw materials by our suppliers are usually transacted in United States dollar. Given the appreciation of the Renminbi against the United States dollar, announced in July 2005, favorable impacts are expected to be bought to the Group's future financial performance in terms of reducing raw material costs. The Group's bank deposits are predominately in Renminbi, Hong Kong dollar and United States dollar. The Directors are of the opinion that the appreciation of Renminbi may not cause any significant adverse effects on the financial position of the Group's operation. However, a foreign exchange loss of approximately RMB5,688,000 (2005: RMB7,554,000) was reflected in our financial statements given that the proceeds from the listing were dominated Hong Kong dollar while the Group's accounts were calculated in Renminbi.

It is the Group's treasury policy to manage its foreign currency exposure whenever its financial impact is material to the Group. The Group will continue to monitor its foreign exchange position and, if necessary, will appropriately hedge its foreign currency exposure. For the twelve months ended 31 December 2006, the Company did not use any financial instruments or enter into any contract in order to hedge against its foreign currency exchange risk.

FUTURE PROSPECTS

The PRC government is expected to continue its proactive macroeconomic control policies in the coming year, which certainly will further influence the overall development and investment activities in mainland China and indirectly affect the market demand for fire alarm systems but great potential still exists in the market of fire alarm market in the PRC. The service business of the Group will not only increase income, but will also assist the Group in turning into an all-around solution provider of fire systems where both service and products are equal in excellence.

This not only enhanced the Group's shareholder base, but also marked a historical milestone in the Group's development. In addition, the Group was awarded as one of the top 100 highest growth potential PRC enterprises by Forbes for two consecutive years since 2006. Management believes that the Group will benefit from more international collaborations and will seize opportunities in the high-end fire safety and security market in the PRC.
