(8) Earnings per share

Basic earnings per share for the year ended 31 December 2019 and 2018 has been computed by dividing the net profit attributable to ordinary shareholders of the Bank by the weighted average number of ordinary shares outstanding during the year.

For the purpose of calculating basic earnings per share, dividends on non-cumulative preference shares declared in respect of the period should be deducted from the amounts attributable to equity shareholders of the Bank.

The conversion feature of preference shares is considered to be contingently issuable ordinary shares. The triggering events of conversion did not occur for the year ended 31 December 2019 and 2018, therefore the conversion feature of preference shares has no effect on the basic and diluted earnings per share calculation.

The notional amounts of derivatives only represent the unsettled transaction volumes as at the end of the reporting period, instead of the amounts of risk assets. Since 1 January 2013, the Group has adopted Capital Rules for Commercial Banks (Provisional) and other related policies. According to the rules set out by the China Banking and Insurance Regulatory Commission ("CBIRC"), the counterparty credit risk-weighted assets include risk-weighted assets for credit valuation adjustments with the considerations of counterparty status and maturity characteristics, and include back-to-back client-driven transactions. The risk-weighted assets for counterparty credit risk of derivatives of the Group were calculated in accordance with the Rules on Measuring Derivative Counterparty Default Risk Assets since 1 January 2019.

(a) Other contracts mainly consist of precious metals and commodity contracts.

The maturities of hedging instruments and hedged items are both within five years.

(11) Commitments and contingent liabilities

① Credit commitments

Credit commitments take the form of undrawn loan facilities which are approved and contracted, unutilised credit card limits, financial guarantees, letters of credit, etc. The Group assesses and makes allowance for any probable losses accordingly.

The contractual amounts of loan commitments and credit card overdraft commitments represent the cash outflows should the contracts be fully drawn upon. The amounts of guarantees and letters of credit represent the maximum potential loss that would be recognised if counterparties failed completely to perform as contracted. Acceptances comprise undertakings by the Group to pay bills of exchange drawn on customers.

As credit commitments may expire without being drawn upon, the contractual amounts set out in the following table do not represent the expected future cash outflows.

Net gain on derecognition of financial assets measured at amortised cost was RMB3,359 million, an in crease of RMB5,600 mill ion over 2018, m ainly because net gain arose from the derecognition following the issuance of securitisation products, compared to the low base in 2018 caused by net loss arising from the derecognition. Other net operating income was RMB7,281 million, a decr ease of RMB2,588 m illion from 2018, mainly because of the substantial decrease in foreign ex change gain compared to the previous year due to the decrease in the volume of swap business related to precious metals leasing.

4.4 PROSPECTS

In 2020, impacted by geopolitics, econom ic and trade frictions and global spread of COVID-19, the world economy is facing great downward pressure. Looking ahead, the outbreak of COVID-19 will affect China's economy to some extent, but the duration and scale of COVID-19 remain to be seen. China's econom ic fundamentals remain favourable for the long term , and China is still in an important period with strategic opportunities.

The banking industry in China is still facing a com plex operating environment, which presents both challenges and opportunities. On the one hand, the world econom ic growth continues to slow with rising external uncertainties, while China's economy faces a combination of structural and cyclical problem s exerting increasing down ward pressures on econom ic development, making it more difficult for banks to achieve stable operation. COVID-19 will affect China's short-term economic growth, leading to a declin e in consumption and presenting challenges t o business operations. The deepening interest rate liberalisation will intensify competitions within the financial industry and across other industries, putting the interest yield of commercial banks under pressure. On the other hand, the im plementation of national strategies, such as the coordinated development of the Beijing-T ianjin-Hebei region, the integrated regional development of the Yangtze River Delta and the construction of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, will unleash enorm ous business development opportunities for the banking industry. The new infrastructure construction, advanced manufacturing, green finance, technology and innovation, and improvement of people's livelihood will all bring huge demands for financial services. The m easures to cut taxes and adm inistrative fees by the Chinese government will be conducive to building up market confidence and vitality of enterprises, especially for micro, small and medium businesses and private businesses, laying a solid er base and business. The incr easingly stringent foundation for banks to expand custom regulatory requirements and a well-organised financial market will create a more secure external environment for the healthy development of the banking industry.

In 2020, as the uncertainties and related risks rise along with the evolution of the pandemic, the Group will continue to pay close attention to and make assessment of the impacts of COVID-19 and take active counterm easures. Meanwhile, it will strengthen stra tegic implementation, accelerate development of key regions, com prehensively promote refined m anagement, and enhance risk control so as to realise high-quality business development. The Group will focus on the following tasks: firstly, it will press ahead with "Three Major S trategies" by expanding the new blue ocean of house rental business, m aking new progress in inclusive finance business and creating new FinTech advantages. Secondly, it will effectively invigorate "Three Communities" by connecting the governm ent (G-community) with "Intelligent governm ent affairs services", improving the experience of custom ers (C-community) with "Digitalis ed operation", and strengthening the empowerment for businesses (B-community) with "Supply chain finance". Thirdly, it will g ive full play to "Three Advantages" by consolidating its leading position in infrastructure and housing finance and taking advant ages of its full-coverage financial licenses. Fourthly, it will strive to build "Three Pillars" by continuously improving the value creation of corporate business, strengthening coordinated development of retail business, and prom oting collaborative efforts in asset m anagement business. Fifthly, it will accelerate business development in the Beijing-T ianjin-Hebei region, the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area and the Yangtze River Delta, promot e business innovation, st rengthen fundamental and front-line management, and improve regional competitiveness and contribution to the Bank. Sixthly, it will a ctively strengthen risk cont rol and com pliance management, accelerate the building of an intelligent risk control system, and firmly hold the bottom line of no system ic financial risks.
