I. MARKET REVIEW

(i) Scales of Trading and Deposits

During the Reporting Period, the total trading volume in the futures market of China was 2.522 billion board lots (all of the followings are per side), representing a year-on-year increase of 45.35% with a total turnover of RMB165.47 trillion, representing a year-on-year increase of 28.70%, among which, the total trading volume of commodity futures and options was 2.472 billion board lots, representing a year-on-year increase of 45.14% with a total turnover of RMB116.24 trillion, representing a year-on-year increase of 20.85%. The total trading volume of financial futures and options was 50.1023 million board lots, representing a year-on-year increase of 56.25% with a total turnover of RMB49.23 trillion, representing a year-on-year increase of 52.03%.

(ii) Performance of Products

The price trends of the futures market of China by sector during the Reporting Period are set out as follows:

1. Performance of agricultural products futures

During the Reporting Period, amidst the Covid-19 Pandemic (the “Pandemic”), China’s demand for agricultural products futures decreased significantly, leading to a sharp drop in the prices of most varieties in the first quarter of 2020. As China was recovering from the economic malaise caused by the Pandemic, prices of agricultural products futures sector rallied in the second quarter of 2020, resulting in a V-shaped moving trend of the prices of agricultural products futures as a whole. However, there was a big difference between the trends of varieties. The corn futures and No.1 Soybean futures were bullish in the first half of 2020, and their prices rallied to one and another highs due to tight supply. Softs (such as cotton and sugar), oils and meals, eggs, apples, etc. suffered from weak demand due to the Pandemic, and their prices fluctuated on a declining trend.

2. Performance of metal futures

During the Reporting Period, after the 2020 Spring Festival, the prices of metal futures plunged due to the Pandemic. In early February 2020, favorable policies were expected, and the prices of ferrous metal futures rallied substantially as a result; as the Pandemic continued to spread overseas in March 2020, the prices of ferrous metal futures plunged once again; since April 2020, as China resumed work and production, demand for ferrous metal futures increased quickly and were strong thanks to optimism for supporting policies, driving their prices to dramatic reaction. Prices of non-ferrous metals fell sharply to a low level in recent years due to substantial reduction in demand at the outset of the Pandemic. However, as the economic shock of the Pandemic on China was reduced, their demand slowly recovered. The outbreak of the Pandemic in major mining countries, especially South America, choked upstream supply, and prices of non-ferrous metals generally experienced a V-shaped rally.

Management Discussion and Analysis

3. Performance of energy and chemicals futures

During the Reporting Period, the energy and chemical market experienced substantial fluctuations driven by crude oil. Due to the unexpected decision of the OPEC+ oil-producing countries to stop cutting output at their meeting in March 2020, as well as the sharp decline in demand caused by the Pandemic, prices of crude oil experienced a historic drop in March and April 2020. Prices of chemical futures plummeted along with crude oil in China. In May 2020, the substantial reduction in the output of oil-producing countries and the resumption of the economies of Europe and the United States have led to a gradual recovery in the prices of crude oil and a rise in that of chemical products. Prices of crude oil began to fluctuate at a high level in June 2020, but in a narrower range. The prices of chemical products were based on their respective supply and demand profile again. In particular, varieties with sound supply and demand balance such as PP, PE and PVC did well, and those with poor supply and demand balance such as PTA, MEG and MA continued to fluctuate at low levels.

4. Performance of financial futures

During the Reporting Period, affected by the Pandemic and the significant fluctuations in international crude oil prices, the A-share market in China was volatile, and investors' demand for stock index futures surged for asset allocation and hedging purpose. The trading volume and the total closing position of the three major index futures of the China Financial Futures Exchange were far higher above the level of the same period in 2019. In addition, owing to the Pandemic and the relatively stable monetary policy in China, China's market interest rates fell initially before rising in the first half of the year. The prices of China Financial Futures Exchange's treasury bond futures rose initially before falling, showing a complete inverted V-shaped trend.

(iii) Development of the Industry

1. The ability to serve the real economy continued to increase

New varieties were listed at a much faster pace. In the first half of 2020, the CSRC approved trading of the futures and options of six varieties, including liquefied petroleum gas ("LPG") futures and options, live pig futures, low-sulfur fuel oil, and aluminum and zinc. As at the end of the Reporting Period, 66 futures products and 19 options products were listed on the PRC's futures markets. The coordinated development of on-exchange and over-the-counter ("OTC") commodity and financial futures and options on domestic and overseas markets was initially formed.

The scale of the market expanded steadily. As at the end of the Reporting Period, the cumulative trading volume of the futures market of China was 2.522 billion board lots, representing a year-on-year increase of 45.35% with a total turnover of RMB165.47 trillion, representing a year-on-year increase of 28.70%; the holding of Wenhua CCI was 21.06 million board lots, representing a significant increase of 20.4% and 32.9% as compared with 17.491 million board lots at the end of last year and the 15.848 million board lots during the same period of last year. The market-wide holdings grew steadily. Major products have maintained high liquidity, the continuity of active contracts has been continuously improved, and the futures market's ability to serve the real economy has been continuously enhanced.

2. Reform and opening up of the futures market continued

Commercial banks and insurance institutions were allowed to participate in trading of the treasury bond futures. With the consent of the State Council, the CSRC, the Ministry of Finance of China, the People's Bank of China, and the China Banking and Insurance Regulatory Commission issued a joint announcement to allow commercial banks and insurance institutions to participate in trading of treasury bond futures via China Financial Futures Exchange in batches, subject to laws and regulations, control of risks, and commercially sustainability.

Restriction on foreign investment in Chinese futures companies were officially removed. On 18 June 2020, the CSRC approved the application for the change of shareholdings of the first futures company wholly-controlled by foreign investors.

3. Solid achievements were made in poverty alleviation by the futures market

As at the end of the Reporting Period, in terms of paired assistance, 110 futures companies have signed 377 paired assistance agreements with 212 national-level poor counties (townships and villages), and RMB570 million were invested in poverty alleviation. Through the "insurance + futures" model, futures companies provided price protection for agricultural products in poor areas, with an insured value of approximately RMB18.542 billion; helped 27 enterprises in poor areas in becoming futures exchange delivery warehouses; provided 112 risk management service programs for entities or individuals in poor areas, such as cooperative hedging, pricing, and OTC options, with a nominal principal of approximately RMB1.05 billion.

II. GENERAL OPERATING RESULTS

During the Reporting Period, the Group realized operating income and other gains of RMB190.286 million and profit for the period attributable to the Company's shareholders of RMB41.766 million, representing an increase of 12.19% and 18.01% as compared with RMB169.612 million and RMB35.392 million in the same period of last year, respectively. Such increase in business performance was mainly due to the following factors: active trading of the futures market during the six months ended 30 June 2020; at the same time, the Company launched a series of promotions, which demonstrated the advantages of the Company's Internet business model as evidenced by the fact that the average daily equity balance of new customers doubled, the handling fee income increased significantly, and the market share in terms of the handling fee income has increased substantially as compared with the same period of last year.

As at 30 June 2020, the total assets of the Group were RMB10.713 billion, representing an increase of 19.99% as compared with RMB8.929 billion as at the end of 2019. The total liabilities of the Group were RMB8.487 billion, representing an increase of 25.84% as compared with RMB6.744 billion as at the end of 2019. The equity attributable to Shareholders of the Company was RMB2.227 billion, representing an increase of 1.95% as compared with RMB2.184 billion as at the end of 2019. The Group's gearing ratio (both total assets and total liabilities have excluded accounts payable to brokerage clients) was 10.48%, representing a decrease of 3.49 percentage points as compared with 13.97% as at the end of 2019. During the Reporting Period, the Group's assets were good in quality and its financial position was healthy.

III. ANALYSIS OF PRINCIPAL BUSINESS

The main businesses of the Group include commodity futures brokerage, financial futures brokerage, futures investment consulting, asset management, commodity trading, basis trading, warehouse receipt services, cooperation insurance market making business, Over-the-counter ("OTC") derivatives business, information technology consulting services, and other business activities permitted by the CSRC.

During the Reporting Period, the Group took the initiatives and worked conscientiously by adjusting and optimizing our organization and structure and strengthening compliance and risk control system, continued to improve our results of operation and pushed ahead various tasks for meeting the Group's development goals for the year while taking effective measures to prevent and control the Pandemic.

(i) Futures and Options Brokerage Business

During the Reporting Period, the Group's major operating indicators such as income from brokerage business, client equity balance, and turnover and market shares continued to rise. Among them, income from brokerage business was RMB142.42 million, representing a year-on-year increase of 18.14%; accumulated turnover of futures (bilateral) was RMB2.58 trillion. The turnover and market shares increased steadily.

During the Reporting Period, the Company improved its capability to serve industrial clients by increasing its industry research capabilities. It helped enterprises in risk management and model innovation by inspecting the physical commodities sectors, and utilizing a combination of financial tools to serve physical commodities producers according to their local conditions, and integrating futures and options tools with industrial enterprises' procurement, production, sales, and trade.

During the Reporting Period, the Company's options business continued to maintain a leading position in the industry. From January to June 2020, the Company's trading volume of stock options on the Shanghai Stock Exchange ranked the first in the entire market. In addition, the OTC derivatives business continued to develop steadily. Despite the dramatic fluctuations in the prices of the energy and chemical bulk commodity market represented by crude oil, the Company's OTC service team responded proactively to minimize the impact of market risks on the Company and achieved satisfactory profits. The Company provides various OTC option products for many established entities and financial institutions.

During the Pandemic, the Company exploited opportunities out of the crisis, and focused on building an online customer service system to improve customer experience and satisfaction. By launching a handheld business hall online, it enabled clients to transact business online at home. It made best use of the channel advantages and operational advantages of the Internet. While attracting customers and expanding the market through the platform, it actively promoted the establishment of online investment and research services and customer classification systems, and offered lots of online investment education. During the Reporting Period, the number of the Company's new clients who opened accounts increased by 380.70% year on year, among them, the number of new clients who opened accounts online account for 97.64% of the number of new clients who opened accounts.

During the Reporting Period, the Company facilitated the development of futures and options brokerage business by implementing effective measures in marketing management, acquisition of institutional clients, promotion of business synergies, strengthening team-building and improvement of support capabilities in the middle and back offices.

Management Discussion and Analysis

(ii) Futures Asset Management Business

During the Reporting Period, the Company defined the new goal of returning the asset management business to its origin, developing high-quality asset management business in a compliant manner, and making every effort to build active management capabilities; focused on improving the professional capabilities and compliance risk control level of asset management business, comprehensively reviewed and strengthened the internal control system of asset management business, perfected the endogenous mechanism of preventing and controlling operational risks.

(iii) Commodity Trading and Risk Management Business

During the Reporting Period, the Group's profit before income tax from commodity trading and risk management business was RMB14.8728 million, representing an increase of RMB2.9528 million as compared with the same period of last year.

During the Reporting Period, the Group continued to develop the commodities trading and risk management business through Luzheng Capital, which includes OTC derivatives business, market making business, warehouse receipt services and basis trading business as well as commodity trading business, primarily engaged in inventory management and risk management of commodity prices for clients.

In terms of OTC derivatives business, the Group has signed master OTC derivatives business agreements with more than 700 companies and institutions, which further expanded its business scope and diversified its business. The master agreements covered products including rebar, hot-rolled coil, iron ore, soybean meal, corn and other varieties.

Management Discussion and Analysis

In terms of market making business, the Group has successively obtained the market maker qualifications for four options including the thermal coal option of Zhengzhou Commodity Exchange, the polyethylene, polyvinyl chloride and polypropylene options of Dalian Commodity Exchange; and the market maker qualifications for seven futures products including styrene, polypropylene, soybean oil, corn starch, palm oil, eggs of Dalian Commodity Exchange, the oil and asphalt on Shanghai Futures Exchange. Now it provides market-making services for a total of nine options products and eleven futures products on Zhengzhou Commodity Exchange, Dalian Commodity Exchange and Shanghai Futures Exchange. The Group extended its market-making varieties to more industries, continuously optimized and diversified its market-making strategies, resulting in enhanced market-making capabilities.

In terms of warehouse receipt service business, the Group actively promoted the warehouse receipt service business, focusing on standard warehouse receipt services. The operation mode was mainly pledge of warehouse receipts, agreed repurchase, and risk-free delivery arbitrage, providing strong liquidity support for clients to revitalize their inventory. At the same time, under the premise that risks are controllable, non-standard warehouse receipt service business should be prudently carried out to improve service quality and level, and better serve industrial enterprises.

In terms of basis trading and commodity trading, the Group actively conducted commodity trading in multiple industry chains, concentrating its capital, manpower and other resources on the development of the Group's dominant varieties, with a focus on various products on grains, oils and fats, ferrous metals and other industrial chains. In order to strengthen the risk management of the physical commodities, in addition to the on-exchange futures, options and OTC option hedging protection, the Group actively tried to hedge the risk through the electronic trading platforms for physical commodities such as the Group's associated Company Rizhao Board of Trade Co., Ltd. (日照大宗商品交易中心有限公司). As a result of deepening into the terminal of the industrial chain, the market channels of the Group were further expanded, the number of clients was further increased, the market presence was further strengthened, which provided better support to other businesses of the Group.

IV. PROSPECTS AND FUTURE PLANS

(i) Market Analysis

In the first half of 2020, the unprecedented Pandemic shocked the global economy. However, under the strong leadership of the Central Committee of the CPC, China has coordinated the efforts to prevent and control the Pandemic and to promote economic and social development. Thanks to a series of policies, China's economic operation rose after initial declining, and steadily recovered, withstanding the challenge of the Pandemic.

In terms of economic growth, the GDP of China for the second quarter increased by 3.2% year-on-year, turning around from a decline of 6.8% in the first quarter; the added value of industrial enterprises above designated size increased by 4.4% as compared with a decrease of 8.4% in the first quarter; the added value of services industry increased by 1.9%, turning around from a decline of 5.2% in the first quarter. In terms of social consumption, the decline in total retail sales of consumer goods in the second quarter narrowed by 15.1 percentage points as compared with that in the first quarter. In terms of investment, the decline in fixed asset investment in the first half of the year narrowed by 13.0 percentage points as compared with that in the first quarter. In terms of prices, the rise of consumer prices showed a downward trend. In the first half of the year, the consumer prices rose by 3.8% year-on-year, and the growth rate dropped by 1.1 percentage points as compared with that in the first quarter.

The economic growth maintained improvement in quality. The growth of the high-tech sector accelerated. In the first half of the year, the added value of the high-tech manufacturing industry increased by 4.5% year-on-year, accounting for 14.7% of the added value of industries above designated size, up by 0.9 percentage point as compared with that in the same period of last year. Investment in high-tech fields continued to increase. In the first half of the year, investment in high-tech manufacturing increased by 5.8% year-on-year, and investment in high-tech service industries increased by 7.2% year-on-year. Related products such as new infrastructure grew rapidly. Urban rail vehicles increased by 13.0% in the first half of the year, and the output of charging piles increased by 11.9%.

China was able to effectively control the Pandemic in a short period of time, turn the economy from falling to rising, and maintain the overall economic and social stability, highlighting the strong resilience and potential of the Chinese economy.

2020 is the year to finish building a moderately prosperous society in all respects and the “13th Five-Year Plan (‘十三五’規劃)” will end. It is necessary to lay a solid foundation for the development of the “14th Five-Year Plan (‘十四五’規劃)” and the realization of the second centenary goal. The “Central Economic Work Conference” at the end of 2019 pointed out that to achieve the expected goals of 2020, it is necessary to “uphold the policy framework of stable macro policies, flexible micro policies, and social policies that ensure basic needs are met and to introduce more forward-looking, pertinent and effective approaches in macro-economic regulation.” In 2020, the economic policies of China will be designed towards such goals. In terms of fiscal policies, the country will increase counter-cyclical adjustments with investment and infrastructure to stabilize economic growth; in terms of monetary policies, the country will continue to implement a moderately loose monetary policy and use multiple monetary policy tools in a flexible manner to maintain reasonable and sufficient liquidity and effectively support economic operations within a reasonable range; the recent signing of the first phase economic and trade agreements following the 13th round of Sino-US trade negotiation will contribute to improved expectation and boost investment confidence in China. But the economic growth is still exposed to risks. Firstly, the Sino-US trade issue is a long-term issue, and there are still great uncertainties about the future; secondly, the endogenous growth momentum has weakened, stifling the growth of global economy, and the probability that the global economy is going worse and several economies are falling into recession has increased. Central banks and governments of various countries have begun to work out more initiatives to stabilize growth to avoid a rapid decline in demand. On the whole, despite the risks, China’s economy will steadily pick up under countercyclical adjustment policies in 2020.

(ii) Development Plan

The Group will firmly grasp the existing edges with the first duty of “serving real economy” and the goal of to “establishing itself as an industry-leading integrated financial services provider focusing on risk management” and further promote the rapid development and transformation and upgrade of the Group.

In the second half of 2020, the Group will further enhance its efforts in the following five aspects: firstly, completing work on time and in volume according to the work plan and assignments specified at the beginning of 2020; secondly, continuing to improve the compliance and risk management in response to more stringent requirements imposed by the market and regulatory authorities on futures companies’ compliance and risk control capabilities; thirdly, increasing business competitiveness in all round, focusing on transformation of brokerage business to build an excellent research brand, and steadily improving the profitability of various business lines; fourthly, always keeping its employees alarmed and informed of the intention of supervision and legislation to prevent and control the risk of OTC business and innovative businesses, steadily increasing the size of risk management business; fifthly, strengthening party building work, promoting the deep integration of party building with business development, and effectively strengthening party members’ cultivation and education and talent building.

V. LIQUIDITY, FINANCIAL RESOURCES AND CAPITAL STRUCTURE

As at 30 June 2020, the equity attributable to the Company's Shareholders was RMB2,227 million, of which share capital was RMB1,001.9 million, share premium was RMB651 million and retained earnings were RMB310 million. This represents an increase of 1.95% as compared with RMB2,184 million as at the end of 2019, which was mainly attributable to an increase in the profits during the Reporting Period.

During the Reporting Period, the Group's asset increased and maintained sound asset quality and liquidity. As at 30 June 2020, the Group's total assets after deducting accounts payable to brokerage clients reached RMB2,487 million, decreasing by 2.06% as compared with RMB2,540 million as at the end of 2019, among which, funds deposited with the futures exchanges in the PRC accounted for 31.01%; cash and bank balance accounted for 23.04%; investment assets (including investments in associates and financial assets, especially investment in financial assets with strong liquidity) accounted for 37.43%; and the property and equipment and intangible assets accounted for 1.90%.

The total gearing ratio of the Group remained at a relatively low level. As at the end of the Reporting Period, the gearing ratio of the Group (both total assets and total liabilities less accounts payable to brokerage clients) was 10.48%, decreasing by 3.49 percentage points as compared with that as at the end of 2019. The Group's operating leverage (the total assets less accounts payable to brokerage clients/equity attributable to the Company's Shareholders) was 1.12 times, decreasing by approximately 3.45% as compared with 1.16 times as at the end of 2019. As at 30 June 2020, the Group's total liabilities were RMB8,487 million, among which, RMB8,226 million was accounts payable to brokerage clients. The remaining liabilities (net of accounts payable to brokerage clients) were RMB261 million, of which RMB57 million was derivative financial liabilities, RMB97 million was payable to OTC option clients, RMB39 million was for staff cost payable, RMB26 million was lease liabilities. The Group has sufficient resources to repay the aforementioned liabilities. During the Reporting Period, the aging analysis of accounts payable was not applicable to the Group.

The Company dynamically monitors the net capital regulatory indicators on real time basis. A simulation test and stress test will be done on regulatory indicators such as net capital before any material capital investment is made to ensure the Company's ongoing compliance in terms of regulatory indicators.

After taking into consideration of the available financial resources, including cash flow from operating activities, the Group has enough working capital to meet the capital demand for its business development. During the Reporting Period, the Company did not charge any of its assets.

The foreign currency assets and liabilities held by the Group are not material as compared with the total assets and total liabilities. In terms of the Group's revenue structure, a majority of the business transactions are denominated in Renminbi, and the proportion of income from foreign currency transaction is not significant. Therefore, the Group considers that its risk of exchange rate changes is immaterial. The Group does not use any derivative financial instruments to hedge the risk of exchange rate changes for now.

VI. MATERIAL FINANCING OF THE COMPANY

During the Reporting Period, the Group organized a series of trainings on new varieties such as LPG futures, live pig futures, low-sulfur fuel oil futures and existing varieties, a series of trainings on compliance, information technology, finance, investor appropriateness, work integrity, marketing skills improvement, middle and senior leadership, job competence, and systems and rules of the Company.

X. RISK MANAGEMENT

(i) Major Risks Affecting the Group's Operation and the Responsive Measures

Major risks affecting the Group's operation include credit risk, market risk, liquidity risk, compliance risk, operational risk and reputational risk.

1. Credit Risk

Credit risk refers to the risk resulting from the failure of a debtor or counterparty to timely perform its contractual obligations. The Group's credit risk mainly comes from commodity trading, risk management business and futures brokerage business.

For credit risks related to the Group's commodity trading and risk management business, the Group has established a client credit evaluation system and assessed the creditworthiness of the Group's existing and prospective clients based on the Group's onsite investigation and independent third-party investigation, and adjusts the credit ratings of the Group's clients on a continuous basis. The Group determines whether to enter into a contract with a prospective client and specific forms of trading based on the client's credit evaluation results in order to prevent default risk.

For credit risks related to the Group's futures brokerage business, the Group conducts risk rating on the Group's clients based on their assets, professional knowledge on futures, trading experiences, risk appetite and risk tolerance, and provides appropriate services to its clients and implements corresponding risk management measures accordingly. Meanwhile, the Group requires its clients to maintain higher margin deposits than the minimum required by the futures exchanges in the PRC. Clients are required to replenish their margin deposits within a specific period of time if such margin deposits fall short, otherwise, the Company will close out the position. The Company pays attention to the clients' risk level of their margin deposits through the Company's system and thus could effectively focus on high-risk clients. At the same time, the futures exchanges in the PRC impose the daily price up and down limit, which also effectively limits the risk exposure of the Company's clients and the Company.

2. Market Risk

Market risk refers to the risk of loss or decrease in the Group's income resulting from the changes in the market which are different from the Group's expectations, including the risk of price fluctuation in equity-based assets and interest rate risk.

To maximize the reduction of market risk, the Group has adopted the following measures:

- (1) establishing a systematic investment mechanism, under which the Group's research team provides investment recommendations and the Group's operation team provides market guidance to the research team;
- (2) requiring the Group's operation team to submit an application to the Group's management before conducting every transaction, with details on possible market risks, consequences and maximum risk tolerance level as well as the nature of the proposed transaction; and
- (3) evaluating the Group's risk exposure by quantitative measures, and utilizing risk control measures such as hedging and stop-loss to mitigate the damages when the market conditions deviate from the Group's expectations.

Management Discussion and Analysis

3. Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk refers to the risk of whether the assets can be liquidated to repay debts in a foreseeable period before value depreciation of the assets.

For liquidity risk, the Group has adopted the following measures: (1) strengthening the real-time monitoring and management of large amounts of funds in order to achieve centralized fund allocation and coordinated liquidity risk management; (2) establishing a risk evaluation and monitoring system on net capital; (3) conducting comprehensive or special stress tests on the risk control indexes on a regular or ad hoc basis and conducting sensitivity analysis before making any significant business decisions, such as significant business expansion and large assets acquisition, which could affect the risk control indexes; and (4) selecting those commodities that are more actively traded for commodity trading and risk management business, or selecting the contracts with the largest or second-largest open interest among similar futures contracts in futures trading.

4. Compliance Risk

Compliance risk refers to the risk of being subject to legal sanctions, regulatory measures, self-discipline penalties and loss of property or reputation due to the futures companies' business activities or their employees' conduct in violation of the relevant laws, regulations or rules.

In response to compliance risk, the Group has built up a comprehensive compliance management and organization system; appointed a chief risk officer; established the compliance and risk control department and the audit department with full-time compliance management staff; and conducted supervision and control on the overall compliance of the business through means such as compliance review, compliance training, compliance consultation and internal audit, etc., to continuously improve the Company's internal control system.

5. Operational Risk

Operational risk refers to the risk of financial loss resulting from the improper operation in transactional processes or the management system. To minimize the operational risk, the Group has taken the following measures: (1) has strict internal control systems and work procedures in place, reviews risk areas in the business to form a risk control list, and strengthens accountability, implements strict operation control mechanisms to reduce the risks of technical irregularities or human errors, enhances the efficiency and capability of operational risk management; (2) regularly conducts internal audit and evaluates the efficiency and capability of operational risk management; (3) established a scientific salary and promotion incentive mechanism to create a good development environment for employees; and (4) sets aside 5% of its net commission and service charge income of futures brokerage business as risk reserve fund each month.

6. Reputational Risk

Reputational risk refers to the risk that the Company's operations, management and other actions or external events result in a negative evaluation of the Company by the stakeholders. It is possible to involve the Company in costly litigation cases and result in loss of revenues, clients or key employees.

In order to cope with reputational risks, the Group always strives to protect the legitimate rights and interests of clients and investors, ensure timely handling of various complaints and disputes, continue to pay attention to negative information related to the Group, and collect early reputational risk warning information from various channels. At the same time, the Group established a good internal reputational risk management system, to further improve the incentive and constraint mechanism and reduce the possibility of damage to the Group's reputation.

(ii) Risk Management Measures Adopted by the Group

1. Establishing a scientific and effective risk management structure

The Board of the Company is the highest decision-making body for risk management. It has a risk control committee and an audit committee to review and audit major risk issues; the senior management is responsible for organizing and carrying out the Company's routine comprehensive risk management work; the Supervisory Committee is responsible for supervising the Board and the senior management in performing their duties of risk management; the chief risk officer is responsible for organizing, coordinating, and implementing various comprehensive risk management tasks; the Company's Compliance and Risk Control Department is at the core of the Company's comprehensive risk management, who is responsible for the implementation, monitoring and overseeing of specific risk management tasks and assesses the effectiveness of such tasks; each of other functional departments and branches has its compliance risk control personnel who is responsible for organizing the identification, evaluation, responding to and reporting of various risks of the entity within which they function. The Company incorporates its subsidiaries into the comprehensive risk management system, and subsidiaries at all levels shall carry out risk management under the Company's overall comprehensive risk management framework.

2. Consistently improving the corporate governance structure

The Group consistently normalizes the operation of the general meeting to ensure that all Shareholders, especially minority Shareholders, can enjoy equal positions and protect the interest of minority Shareholders. It normalizes and improves the operation of the Board, and gives full play to each of the special committees of the Board and independent non-executive directors. It gives full play to the monitoring role of the Supervisory Committee on the Board and the senior management.

Management Discussion and Analysis

3. Consistently improving the overall risk management system

The Group sticks to the principle of implementing a risk management system covering all departments and subsidiaries of the Company, all business processes and the whole process of each business to consistently improve the Company's internal control and risk management system, continuously strengthen the identification and control of pre- and on-going risks, continuously implement risk management throughout the entire process on various innovation businesses, gather main business risk information and operating data of various departments and subsidiaries of the Group on a daily basis for overall risk analysis and central reporting.

4. Continuously increasing risk awareness

The Group attaches great importance to increasing the risk awareness and risk control capabilities of all employees. Through various lectures and trainings within the Group, it consistently enhances the ability to identify and prevent risks of all employees, strengthens the risk awareness of all employees, fosters an excellent risk management culture and ensure the realization of the overall target of the Group in risk management.

The directors of the Company are responsible for the preparation and presentation of this interim financial information in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting". Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on this interim financial information based on our review and to report our conclusion solely to you, as a body, in accordance with our agreed terms of engagement and for no other purpose. We do not assume responsibility towards or accept liability to any other person for the contents of this report.

Scope of Review

We conducted our review in accordance with International Standard on Review Engagements 2410, "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity". A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the interim financial information of the Group is not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting".

1 General information

LUZHENG FUTURES Company Limited (魯証期貨股份有限公司) (the “Company”) is incorporated in Shandong Province, the People’s Republic of China (the “PRC”) as a joint stock financial institution.

The Company, originally named as Shandong Quanxin Futures Brokerage Co., Ltd. (山東泉鑫期貨經紀有限公司), was set up upon approval from the China Securities Regulatory Commission (the “CSRC”) in April 1995 as a limited liability company with an initial registered capital of RMB10.2 million. The Company increased its registered capital to RMB50 million after three additional capital contributions and was renamed as Luzheng Futures Brokerage Co., Ltd. (魯証期貨經紀有限公司) in February 2007. The Company subsequently increased its registered capital to RMB200 million and further changed its name to Luzheng Futures Co., Ltd. (魯証期貨有限公司) in December 2007. After a series of share transfers and capital increases, the Company increased its registered capital to RMB640 million by September 2012. Upon approval by relevant government authorities, the Company was converted from a limited liability company into a joint-stock company in December 2012. After the conversion, the registered share capital of the Company was RMB750 million and the Company’s Chinese name was changed accordingly (魯証期貨股份有限公司).

The Company completed its initial public offering on The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited on 7 July 2015. The share capital of the Company was increased to RMB1,001.90 million.

The Company holds the futures business licence No. 31190000 and business licence No. 91370000614140809E. The registered address of the Company is Floor 15 and 16, No. 86 Jingqi Road, Shizhong District, Jinan, Shandong Province.

The Company and its subsidiaries (the “Group”) are principally engaged in financial futures brokerage, commodity futures brokerage, futures investment consultancy, asset management, commodity trading, derivatives trading and other business activities as permitted by the CSRC.

This condensed consolidated interim financial information is approved for issue by the board of directors of the Company on 20 August 2020.

2 Basis of preparation

This condensed consolidated interim financial information for the six months ended 30 June 2020 has been prepared in accordance with International Accounting Standards (the “IAS”) 34 Interim Financial Reporting.

The condensed consolidated interim financial information does not include all the notes of the type normally included in an annual financial report. Accordingly, this report is to be read in conjunction with the annual report for the year ended 31 December 2019, which have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (the “IFRS”), and any public announcements made by the Company during the interim reporting period.

Following a review of its interim financial information, the Group reclassified comparative amounts according to the current presentation or classification, which would be more appropriate having regard to the criteria for the selection and application of accounting policies in IAS8.

The Group adopted the going concern basis in preparing its condensed consolidated interim financial information.

The accounting policies adopted are consistent with those of the annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2019, as described in those annual financial statements.

2.1 New and amended standards adopted by the Group

A number of new or amended standards became applicable for the current reporting period. The Group did not have to change its accounting policies or make retrospective adjustments as a result of adopting these standards.

2.2 Impact of standards issued but not yet applied by the Group

There are no other standards that are not yet effective and that would be expected to have a material impact on the Group in the current or future reporting periods and on foreseeable future transactions.

3 Estimates

The preparation of interim financial information requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expense. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

In preparing this condensed consolidated interim financial information, the significant judgements made by management in applying the Group's accounting policies and the key sources of estimation uncertainty are the same as those that applied to the consolidated financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2019.

The critical accounting estimates and key assumptions that have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next accounting period are outlined below. It is possible that actual results may be materially different from the estimates and judgments referred to below.

3.1 Classification of financial assets

When the Group determines the classification of financial assets, a number of significant judgements in the business model and the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets are required.

Factors considered by the Group in determining the business model for a group of financial assets include past experience on how the cash flows for these assets were collected, how the asset's performance is evaluated and reported to key management personnel, how risks are assessed and managed and how managers or trustees are compensated.

When the Group assesses whether the contractual cash flows of the financial assets are consistent with basic lending arrangements, the main judgements are described as below: whether the principal amount may change over the life of the financial asset (for example, if there are repayments of principal); whether the interest includes only consideration for the time value of money, credit risk, other basic lending risks and a profit margin and cost, associated with holding the financial asset for a particular period of time.

3.2 Fair value of financial instruments

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in active markets are determined by using valuation techniques. These techniques include discounted cash flow analysis model, Black-Scholes Model etc. Observable input are used at arm's length in spite of areas such as credit risk (both own and counterparty) require management to make estimates. Changes in assumptions about these factors could affect reported fair value of financial instruments.

3.3 Income taxes

The Group is mainly subject to income taxes in China. There are many transactions and calculations for which the ultimate tax determination is uncertain. The Group recognizes liabilities for anticipated tax audit issues based on estimates of whether additional taxes will be due. Taxation matters such as tax deductible due to asset impairment loss are subject to the decision of taxation authorities. Where the final tax outcome of these matters is different from the amounts that were initially recorded, such differences will impact the current and deferred income tax and deferred tax assets and liabilities in the period in which such determination is made.

3.4 Determination of consolidation scope

All facts and circumstances must be taken into consideration in the assessment of whether the Group, as an investor, controls the investee. The principle of control includes three elements: (a) power over the investee; (b) exposure, or rights, to variable returns from involvement with the investee; and (c) the ability to use power over the investee to affect the amount of investors' returns. The Group reassesses whether or not it controls an investee if facts and circumstances indicate that there are changes to one or more of the three elements of control listed above.

(3) Net refunds of trading fees

Net refunds of trading fees reflect the refunds of trading fees from futures exchanges to the Group, partially offset by the consequential return from the Group to its customers. To improve the sustainable development of the futures markets, the futures exchanges implement a practice to partially refund trading fees to their clearing members. Policies on the timing and calculation method of refunds are made and adjusted periodically at the discretion of the futures exchanges. In some cases, the Group further returns all or part of these refunds to its customers.

As at 30 June 2020, no trading commodities are placed as collateral of margin deposits on futures exchanges (31 December 2019: trading commodities with carrying amount of RMB229,225 thousand).

The Group's physical and commodities involves major agricultural products.

To provide an indication about the reliability of the inputs used in determining fair value, the Group has classified its physical commodities into the three levels prescribed under IFRS 13. An explanation of each level is provided in Note 37.

The fair value hierarchy of physical commodities held by the Group is set out below.

| (Unaudited)          |         |         |         |        |
|----------------------|---------|---------|---------|--------|
| As at 30 June 2020   | Level 1 | Level 2 | Level 3 | Total  |
| Physical commodities | –       | 26,295  | –       | 26,295 |

| (Audited)              |         |         |         |         |
|------------------------|---------|---------|---------|---------|
| As at 31 December 2019 | Level 1 | Level 2 | Level 3 | Total   |
| Physical commodities   | –       | 309,256 | –       | 309,256 |

There are no transfers between any levels during the period.

Physical commodities have therefore been classified as level 2 in the fair value hierarchy, since no significant adjustments need to be made to the prices obtained from the local markets.

26 Bank balances held for clients

The Company maintains separate accounts with banks for clients' funds arising from the normal course of business. The funds mainly consist of individuals, asset management customers and other non-fully licenced futures brokerage firms. The Company records these funds as bank balances held for clients or deposits with exchange-clearing organizations under current assets, and recognizes them as due to clients given that the Company is held liable for any loss or misappropriation of these funds. Bank balances held for clients for transaction and settlement purposes are subject to regulatory oversight by large state-owned commercial banks and joint-stock commercial banks in the PRC, pursuant to CSRC regulations.

(1) Other risk reserves

In accordance with the requirements of the Notice of the MOF on Issuing the Tentative Provisions for the Financial Management of Commodities Futures Trading (Caishang [1997] No. 44) issued on 3 March 1997, the futures risk reserve is appropriated based on 5% of the commission and fee income from futures brokerage and clearing service net of relevant expenses payable to futures exchanges, for the purpose of covering potential losses from futures brokerage service. When actual losses occur, the loss amount is charged to the current profit or loss, with the same amount being transferred from futures risk reserve to retained earnings simultaneously. Appropriation for futures risk reserve is recorded as profit distribution, whilst the utilization of futures risk reserve is recorded as the reversal of the reserve.

33 Commitments and contingent liabilities

(1) Capital commitments

Other than what has been disclosed in Note 15 (2), the Group is not involved in any material capital commitments as at 30 June 2020 (31 December 2019: same).

(2) Contingent liabilities

The Group receives a number of complaints from retail investors who incurred substantial losses from five asset management schemes managed by the Group, questioning its non-compliance with its duties and conducts as the manager. The five asset management schemes were established from 2017 to 2018 and distributed by a joint stock commercial bank. All of them are now in liquidation process.

In 2020, several investors have submitted demands for arbitrations to Jinan Arbitration Commission, claiming an aggregate compensation of RMB22,194 thousand from the Group. As at 30 June 2020, all these arbitrations are in suspension since related legal investigations regarding underlying investments of these schemes have not been completed. Based on the information and evidence available and present, the Group disclaims any significant misconduct in performing its duties, and considers the possibility of an outflow of resources low.

36 Financial risk management

The Group's risk management objective is to maintain an appropriate balance between risks and rewards, and reduce the negative impact on the operating results of the Group, so as to maximize the shareholders' value. The Group's risk management strategy is to identify and analyze the risks to which the Group is exposed, set an appropriate risk tolerance level, measure and supervise risks in a timely and reliable manner so as to ensure that risks are controlled within acceptable limits.

Operating risks to which the Group is exposed to mainly include: credit risk, market risk, liquidity risk and capital management risk. The Group has designed a comprehensive system, internal control policies and procedures to identify, assess, monitor and manage the financial risks. The Group reviews the risk management policies and systems regularly, and revises according to the market environment, as well as changes in products and services. The Group is devoted to establish a control environment consisting of a clear framework, normative process and specific responsibilities.

The interim condensed consolidated financial information do not include financial risk management information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements, and should be read in conjunction with the consolidated financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2019.

There have been no changes in the risk management policies and structures since year end.

37 Fair value of financial assets and liabilities

Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date.

37.1 Financial instruments not measured at fair value

The Directors of the Company consider that the carrying amounts of financial assets and financial liabilities recorded at amortized cost in the statements of financial position approximate their fair values.

For financial instruments with a short maturity, including cash and bank balances, bank balances held for clients, financial assets held under resale agreements, deposits with exchange-clearing organizations, refundable deposits, contract assets and accounts payable to brokerage clients, the fair values approximate their carrying amounts.

The Group's policy is to recognize transfers into and transfers out of fair value hierarchy levels as at the date of the event or change in circumstances that caused the transfer.

The Group does not measure any financial assets or financial liabilities at fair value on a non-recurring basis as at 30 June 2020.

37 Fair value of financial assets and liabilities (Continued)

(1) Financial instruments in level 1

The fair value of financial instruments traded in active markets (such as exchange traded derivatives and equity securities) is based on quoted market prices at the end of the reporting period. The quoted marked price used for financial assets held by the Group is the closing price within bid-ask spread. These instruments are included in level 1.

(2) Financial instruments in level 2

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market (for example, OTC derivatives) is determined using valuation techniques which maximize the use of observable market data and rely as little as possible on entity-specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in level 2.

As at 30 June 2020, asset management schemes, trust schemes and private securities investment funds classified as level 2 in fair value hierarchy, are issued and managed by the Company, Zhongtai Asset Management and other non-related financial institutions, as well as unregulated private fund managers, with the underlying investments mainly in stocks and listed financial and commodity futures in the PRC. Fair value of these investments are determined based on their net asset values as at the reporting date, which are calculated by their respective managers based on the fair value of the underlying investments in each portfolio. They are mainly exposed to price risk.

For OTC options, fair value is determined based on the Black-Scholes (BS) Model, Binomial Model and Monte Carlo Simulation. The key parameters are obtained through the observable market.

For forward contracts, the fair value is measured by discounting the differences between the contract prices and market prices of the underlying financial instruments.

For the six months ended 30 June 2020, there are no significant transfers between level 1 and level 2 of the fair value hierarchy of the Group (2019: same).

(3) Financial instruments in level 3

If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in level 3.

As at 30 June 2020, trust schemes, bank wealth management schemes, asset management schemes and income certificates that are classified as level 3 in fair value hierarchy are issued by financial institutions. Such schemes typically generate an expected rate of return to their investors, achieved through investment income from underlying instruments and possibly a structuring design within the schemes where principal and return of senior tranche is guaranteed by junior tranche investors. The discounted cash flow model is used to determine the fair value of those schemes, where the expected future cash flows are discounted at rates that reflect management's best estimation of the expected risk level. They are mainly exposed to credit risk and market risk.

The following table presents the changes in level 3 instruments for the period/year ended 30 June 2020 and 31 December 2019.
