PART I: BUSINESS REVIEW

Alnovation is a fast-growing enterprise-level artificial intelligence solution provider in China, providing full-stack AI-based products and solutions to customers in the manufacturing and financial services industries. In the first half of 2022, the Company was successfully listed on the Main Board of the Stock Exchange on 27 January and accessed the international capital markets, which provided capital guarantee and development opportunities for the Company's long-term development, the details of which are set out in the Prospectus. In the new stage of development, continuing to implement the "focus" strategy and developing the "specialized and new" route in the industry, we have devoted strenuous efforts in vertical sub-sectors such as iron and steel metallurgy, energy and power, automotive equipment, panel semiconductor, 3C high-tech, engineering and construction, banking and insurance.

In the first half of 2022, despite the resurgence of the COVID-19 pandemic, benefitting from the stabilization and recovery of the manufacturing economy as well as strong demand from customers for digital transformation, we achieved remarkable business results in the first half of the year as demonstrated by the following key indicators:

- As of 30 June 2022, the Group's revenue reached RMB645.6 million, representing a year-on-year increase of 76.1%; its gross profit reached RMB205.7 million, representing a year-on-year increase of 81.8%; its gross profit margin was 31.9%, representing an increase of 1 percentage point as compared with the same period of last year; its loss for the period was RMB230.2 million, representing a year-on-year decrease of 18.9%; its adjusted net loss was RMB59.1 million, representing a year-on-year decrease of 3.0%; its adjusted net loss margin was narrowed by 44.9% year-on-year to 9.2%.
- Continuous innovation in technology research and development. As of 30 June 2022, we have cumulatively applied for 697 patents, in which the invention patents accounted for approximately 90%; received the authorisation for registration of 160 patents, including 100 invention patents, with 63 new patent applications being made in the first half of 2022. Meanwhile, we have proposed a dual attention mechanism for the few-shot learning technique which has been accepted as the Main Track paper by AAAI 2022, the world-renowned conference for artificial intelligence. This technology will be used for few-shot fine-grained image recognition tasks in manufacturing scenes. We have further consolidated the MMOC artificial intelligence platform strategy which made platform functions more advanced and open.

We continued to focus on in-depth industry development and AI application. In the first half of 2022, the revenue of our "AI + Manufacturing" business amounted to RMB336.8 million, accounting for 52.2% of the total revenue. Benefitting from the prosperity of core intelligent manufacturing industry in China, we have registered strong business revenue in various sub-sectors of the manufacturing industry, among which: revenue from automotive equipment business amounted to RMB121.4 million, accounting for 18.8% of the total revenue; revenue from panel semiconductors business amounted to RMB51.1 million, accounting for 7.9% of the total revenue; revenue from energy and power business amounted to RMB41.1 million, accounting for 6.4% of the total revenue; and revenue from iron and steel metallurgy business amounted to RMB31.1 million, accounting for 4.8% of the total revenue.

Business Overview

While pursuing continuous business growth, we also attached great importance to the iteration and development of technologies and products. We continuously pushed forward the accelerated penetration and effective implementation of AI technology in diverse industry scenarios, and further promoted the expansion and transformation of our business structure from providing customers with intelligent solutions for enhancement of operation efficiency to intelligent solutions for information management. In the first half of 2022, our AInnovation Intelligent Manufacturing System (AIMS) with the MMOC technology platform as the core has become more functional, while embracing the implementation of more AI-based products and solutions, the representative achievements of which are as follows:

- In the field of automotive equipment, we continued to expand the application of vision technology in various scenarios such as automotive sunroof gluing, interior and exterior trim inspection, rain test for quality inspection and safety production, which gradually formed an overall vision application solution in the field of automotive equipment.
- In the field of panel semiconductors, we have successfully offered panel glass defect detection solutions for batch replication to leading panel manufacturers, and further improved the robustness of the detection algorithm for different detection targets and detection environments, as well as the high configurability of software functions during the replication process, thereby significantly enhancing the efficiency and speed of delivery on the customer side. Meanwhile, our self-developed quality inspection solution for silicon wafers has been successfully implemented in leading semiconductor material enterprises in China, thus further enriching our solution portfolio in panel semiconductor sub-sectors.
- In the field of energy and power, we have further expanded our business to the flexible transformation of thermal power plants so as to facilitate the participation of these plants in power grid scheduling and realize the in-depth peak-shaving of thermal power units. In particular, the quality improvement and renovation of the self-developed peak-shaving and reheating system of thermal power plants together with the safety monitoring system has enabled flexible peak shaving, and safe and low-pollution operation of the units based on our Orion Distributed Machine Learning Platform, while achieving real-time safety monitoring of the entire unit with our MatrixVision Intelligent Edge Video Platform. It is expected that this solution can enhance the peak-shaving revenue by 5-10% for the customers, while reducing the operation and maintenance costs by 5-8%.
- In the field of iron and steel metallurgy, we have continued to push forward the launch of the intelligent molten iron transportation system and the iron-steel interface intelligent management and control system in various large iron and steel enterprises, and realized the proprietary technology replacement of various key components such as in-car AI controllers, in-car sensing kits, and active safety devices. On the basis of the existing unmanned locomotive technology, we have actively expanded the unmanned systems of the four major coking-operation vehicles to realize the systematic unmanned transformation and upgrade of the whole process of coke tanker transportation and the operational information management of the four major coking-operation vehicles. Meanwhile, on the basis of intelligent metallographic analysis, we have carried out more technological research and development on defect detection, including low-magnification metal structure inspection, visual and thermal inspection for continuously cast slab and others, thereby using machine vision technology to improve the product quality inspection capability of iron and steel enterprises.

- In the area of financial services industry, we have also continued to enhance our IT and infrastructure intelligent operation and maintenance solutions for data center through iteration, and focused on helping customers improve the operation and maintenance efficiency of data center assets. In respect of the increasing demand for AI computing power from customers in the financial industry, we have made a major technical update to the GPU pooling technology of the Orion platform to further boost the flexibility of GPU computing power resource scheduling, and integrated this new technology into intelligent cloud management solutions to help certain potential customers improve their effective computing power resources. Based on the data automation center DAC and automated machine learning AML of the Orion platform, we have also provided enterprise-featured platform construction solutions to help financial industry clients efficiently refine data features related to the construction of common intelligent applications from massive multi-source heterogeneous data, and accumulated the features in a unified feature platform to realize the sharing and reuse of enterprise-level data feature assets.

In addition to realizing strong organic growth, in the first half of 2022, through investment, merger and acquisition of Qingdao Aolipu Automation Control System Co., Ltd. (青島奧利普自動化控制系統有限公司) (now renamed as Qingdao Aolipu Qizhi Intelligent Industrial Technology Co., Ltd. (青島奧利普奇智智能工業技術有限公司)) ("Aolipu Qizhi"), a leading integrated manufacturing operations management (MOM) solution provider in the PRC, and Shanghai Higher Mechanical & Electrical Co., Ltd. (上海浩亞智能科技股份有限公司) ("Shanghai Higher"), an integrated solution provider of industrial automation systems which has been deeply involved in the field of automotive equipment for many years, we have acquired 51% equity interests in each of the two companies and achieved external growth. These acquisitions will further improve our "AI + Manufacturing" footprint, enable us to expand into scenarios of various processes of core manufacturing businesses with critical values, and acquire more extensive sources of industry knowledge for iteration of AI-based products and solutions, thereby enhancing our comprehensive competitiveness in the field of intelligent manufacturing.

In recent years, the "specialized and new" approach has gained increasing attention, and has been elevated to the national strategic level. In 2022, the "specialized and new" approach was included in the government work report for the first time, which pointed out that we should "focus on cultivating specialized and new enterprises, and giving strong support in terms of capital, talents and the establishment of incubation platforms so as to promote the construction of a strong country of quality and advance the industry towards the medium-to-high end". As of the first half of 2022, the Company and 4 of its subsidiaries have been recognized as "specialized and new" enterprises at the provincial/municipal level. Our Company, Chongqing CISA Technology Co., Ltd., Aolipu Qizhi, AlInnovation (Nanjing) Technology Co., Ltd. and Shanghai Higher have been selected as the 2022 "specialized and new" enterprise in Shandong Province, the 2022 "specialized and new" small and medium-sized enterprise in Chongqing, the 2022 "specialized and new" small and medium-sized enterprise in Qingdao, the 2019 little giant firm in Jiangsu Province and the 2019 "specialized and new" enterprise in Shanghai, respectively. The Company has been awarded the recognition as the specialized and new "little giant" firm at the national level again in August 2022. This is a recognition of the Company's achievements in the field of "AI + Manufacturing" by government agencies, and also a recognition of its comprehensive corporate strength.

Business Overview

Continuing to explore artificial intelligence technology to empower the digital transformation of the industry, Ainnovation has not only earned the trust of a wide range of customers and the recognition of the government, but has also been repeatedly recognized by internationally renowned research institutions, with its specific performance highlighted as follows: (i) becoming the only enterprise to be ranked among the top 4 computer vision and top 4 machine learning platforms in IDC 2021 H2 (data source: "China AI Software and Application Market Research Report, 2021 H2" by IDC); (ii) selected in Gartner's 2022 China Market Guide for AI Software (data source: Gartner: Market Guide for AI Software, China); (iii) listed as one of the "Medium Manufacturers in the AI System Market of China" by Forrester (data source: "Now Tech: AI Systems In China, Q1 2022" by Forrester).

PART II: FUTURE PROSPECTS

According to the statistics from the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology, the size of China's AI core industry currently exceeds RMB400 billion. From 2012 to 2021, the added value of China's manufacturing industry has increased from RMB16.98 trillion to RMB31.4 trillion in ten years, and its proportion in the world has increased from approximately 20% to nearly 30%. In addition, according to the data of National Bureau of Statistics, despite the resurgence of the COVID-19 pandemic, the added value of the manufacturing industry above the scale in the first half of 2022 increased by 2.8% year-on-year, while the proportion of the added value of the manufacturing industry to GDP reached 28.8%, representing an increase of 1.4 percentage points from 2021.

From the above data, it can be seen that the manufacturing industry has strong resilience and incremental scale in the Chinese market. The digitization of the manufacturing industry is inseparable from artificial intelligence technology. In the field of intelligent manufacturing, the application of intelligent technology has significantly enhanced the efficiency of product inspection and equipment utilization. However, the manufacturing industrial chain, which was far more complicated than that of other industries, placed more emphasis on the enabler's background knowledge of the industry, which has led to higher threshold, greater difficulty and correspondingly higher incremental value for AI empowerment in the manufacturing industry as compared to other industries. Although artificial intelligence technology has been applied to a certain extent in some stages and processes of the manufacturing industry, the overall penetration rate remained at a relatively low level, and therefore we considered that "AI + manufacturing" will have a very substantial market size and room for growth during a relatively long period of time.

Going forward, we will follow the direction for long-term development set out in the Prospectus, namely: (i) continuing to optimize our AI platforms and strengthen our R&D capabilities; (ii) continuing to grow and enrich our solution offerings; (iii) continuing to enhance our commercialization capabilities; (iv) continuing to broaden our customer base and deepen the partnership with customers; and (v) continuing to pursue strategic investments and acquisitions that can strengthen our market position. On this basis, we will put forward “three pillars of adherence” in combination with the internal and external environment, namely adherence to industrial specialization and innovation, adherence to growth and improvement of profitability, and adherence to value creation and sharing, and the detailed actions will be implemented as follows:

- Improve technological innovation and R&D efficiency: promote the upgrade and iteration of the MMOC artificial intelligence platform.

MMOC is an end-to-end platform that supports innovation, R&D and delivery of AI solutions.

ManuVision Intelligent Machine Vision Platform: We will continue to enhance our ManuVision Intelligent Machine Vision Platform with intensified efforts in the R&D of general-purpose deep-learning models and continuous iteration of few-shot training technology, so as to complement the traditional imagery processing capabilities and hence deliver a comprehensive coverage of industrial vision. We will also step up our efforts in the R&D of Designer components of the platform and release ManuVision3.2 version, which will feature 6 types of over 40 built-in underlying image operators that are able to support customized visual inspection for flexible designs of industrial inspection solutions under different scenarios.

MatrixVision Intelligent Edge Video Platform: We will continue to devote more resources to the R&D of MatrixVision Intelligent Edge Video Platform and release MatrixVision2.2 version. In addition to support algorithm model under more general-purpose scenarios, MatrixVision2.2 version will also provide stronger support for domestic edge accelerator chips, including support for mainstream products such as microchips of Rockchip and chips under the Ascend series. The new version will also provide licensing assurance for Graph encapsulation-based deep-learning algorithm models, which will better facilitate the reuse of assets and licensing management on the platform.

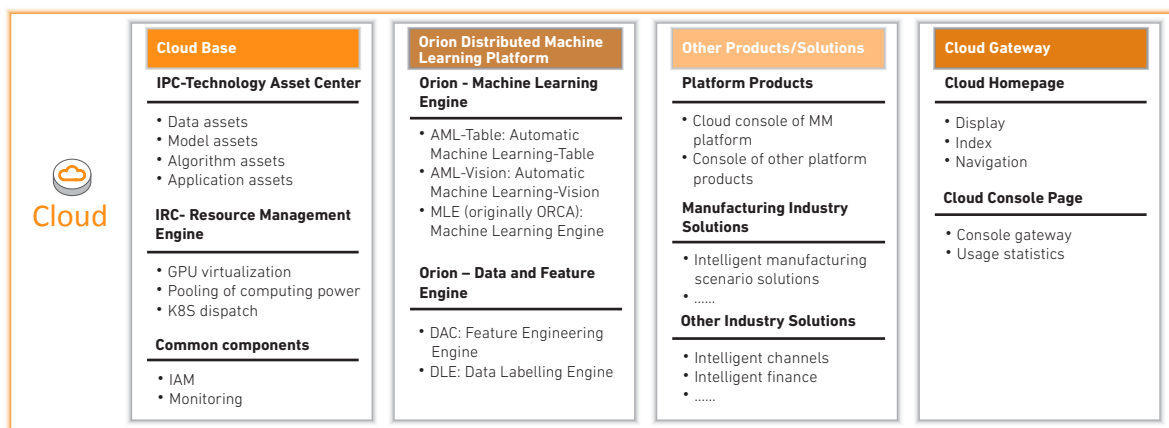

Diagram (1) Structure of Orion and Cloud platforms

Business Overview

Orion and Cloud platforms are cloud platforms with machine learning ability that provide unified base and gateway for ManuVision, MatrixVision and AI solutions.

In the first half of 2022, we comprehensively implemented the MMOC platform strategy for Orion and Cloud platforms, and completed the definition of production structure and rationalization of key execution pathways as shown in Diagram (1) above. The R&D of Orion and Cloud platforms progressed steadily in all aspects and become increasingly mature. In particular, major sub-products and new products such as Orion AML-Vision, Orion DLE, Orion DAC and Cloud have achieved preliminary breakthroughs.

Orion Distributed Machine Learning Platform: In the first half of the year, we continued to enrich the data processing and AI development capabilities with a view to enhancing the maturity level of products. 1) Release the first major version of Orion AML-Vision. On the basis of automatic machine learning of table data, AML has initially added to the structure the low-threshold deep-learning ability for machine vision. Based on the actual needs of our business, AML-Vision is featured 6 built-in training production lines for industry scenario-based deep-learning models, which are scalable as necessary. Offering strong visual modelling productivity, AML-Vision realised closed-loop functions from training production to application of AI models for vision when used in combination with the two major vision platforms, namely ManuVision and MatrixVision. 2) Drawing on AlInnovation's own experience in machine visual labelling over the years, Orion DLE Labelling Engine has completed the design and materialization of AlInnovation's labelling system. As the carrier of the accumulation of the Company's labelling-related knowledge, the labelling system sorted out all imagery data of the Company with index in a systematic manner from multiple dimensions ranging from industries to scenarios, covering over 10 million images with over 10,000 labels applied. Data research and reuse of labels by using the labelling system will further improve the efficiency and lower the cost of AI development. 3) In the next stage, we will continue to put greater efforts in, and accelerate the R&D on, the optimization of industrial large-model technology, scenario-oriented modelling capability, end-to-end MLOps functions of Orion and accelerate the R&D works in these areas, with a view to developing the product matrix for our industry-leading distributed machine learning platform with industry characteristics.

Cloud Platform: We completed the definition, development, launch and commencement of invitation-only test-run of the major version of AlInnovation Cloud 1.0, the unified base for infrastructure platforms, marking our ground-breaking achievement that further reinforced AlInnovation's MMOC platform strategy. Adhering to the cloud native principle and the "One Core Two Wings" top-level design, i.e. the privatization plan of cloud native technology stacks and public cloud service, the Cloud platform will then ensure its leading position in terms of technology and realization of values therefrom. On the basis of the existing Orion On Cloud, we will promote cloud migration of more PAAS/SAAS products, including cloud migration of products of our newly acquired subsidiaries (the cloud migration of MI, the intelligent manufacturing BI platform of Aolipu Qizhi, our newly acquired subsidiary will be completed in the third quarter). Through a series of cloud migration practices, we have refined our products and improved product maturity, which are now scheduled to complete the invitation-only test-run and official launch of AlInnovation Cloud to the public in the third quarter.

Intelligent Cloud Management Platform: With the growing importance of AI in corporate IT technology, GPU-oriented intelligent computing power has become key computing resources for modern enterprises, and to fully utilize and effectively manage intelligent computing power have become the major tasks of corporate users. We will take the management, operation and maintenance of intelligent computing power as the major direction of our R&D efforts. Leveraging our intelligent cloud management platform, we will further develop the technological capability of the platform in respect of management, operation and maintenance of intelligent computing power, in an endeavor to providing users with GPU cluster collaborative computing ability that is user-friendly and low-maintenance. With the GPU virtualization technology independently developed by the Company, we will be able to realise single-card-multiple-use and multi-card-integration as well as pooling management capability of remote scheduling of GPU resources. Based on the needs of users and the condition of intelligent computing power, computing power resources will be allocated in an intelligent and efficient manner, thereby enhancing the utilization efficiency of GPU resources. On the other hand, on the basis of AIOps technology, we will design the operation and maintenance solution oriented with the characteristics of the GPU resources, so as to realize safety management and intelligent maintenance of the pool of GPU resources. By enhancing the technology of the intelligent cloud management platform, we will be able to comprehensively improve the utilization rate, user friendliness and safety level of the intelligent computing resources of our clients.

Edge defect detection system for liquid crystal panel: Panel manufacturers in China continued to grow in recent years, while some of the major manufacturers in Japan and Korea have successively announced their exit from the panel industry. Among panel devices, detection devices have been taken as an important breakthrough for substitution with domestic product, which has immense market potential. At present, the self-developed edge defect detection system for liquid crystal panel is based on the ManuVision platform and deep learning AI technology. In comparison with the traditional vision technology of Japan and Korea, our detection registered a notably higher accuracy. With respect to the manufacturing processes of Array, Cell and Module for panel glass, we can detect the types of edge defect arising from the production processes, which, among others, include chipping, crack, distortion, scratch and dirt. With a detection accuracy of not lower than 99.9%, the system is capable of detecting the types of defects and displaying the defects in real time. Users may look for the inspection result in the record history and precisely locate the defects. Meanwhile, the real-time communication between the system and the main equipment of the production line enables the system to issue alert and shut down immediately once a defect or failure is identified, hence allowing the user to resolve it in a timely manner. There is a great market potential for future development of liquid crystal panel inspection with the notable trend of domestic substitution. Currently, multiple production lines from a particular leading liquid crystal panel manufacturer have been delivered and are in operation, through which we will offer defect inspection for one, two and four edges of liquid crystal panel to end-users. Subsequently, we will continue to upgrade the comprehensive inspection function.

Business Overview

- Expand and enrich product and solution offerings: We will progressively develop a systematic portfolio of products and solutions in the key segments, while pushing forward the 1xN replication of mature products and solutions in full swing. In the panel semiconductor segment, we will continue to replicate the panel glass inspection solution of leading panel enterprises and further improve our quality inspection solution for silicon chips, at the same time realizing replication of production lines of existing customers. In the automotive equipment sector, we will, on one hand, fully promote the replication of integrated vision application solution, and on the other hand, facilitate the organic integration of such solution with the MOM system of the automotive equipment industry as well as the solutions of Shanghai Higher in the areas of automotive equipment automation and control, with a view to providing a full range of solutions with expanded coverage of intelligent operation and intelligent information to customers in the automotive equipment sector. In the iron and steel metallurgy sector, we will leverage the intelligent molten iron transportation solution as the technological basis for the continuous expansion of unmanned automobile application scenario and establishment of a whole-process smart factory logistics system that runs around the clock and is driven by industrial AI. At the same time, we will further diversify and optimize the quality inspection solution for steel products and promote such solutions among leading manufacturers. In the sector of energy and power, we will continue to focus on developing the flexibility upgrade solution, explore customer needs and enhance the degree of standardisation, in a bid to deliver more well-structured solutions. In the financial service industry, we will make every effort to promote the management of AI computing power resources within data centers of major financial enterprises. Meanwhile, we will further improve the enterprise-featured platform solution through cooperation with existing customers, thereby helping financial enterprises to build intelligent application in an efficient manner.

Management Discussion and Analysis

Despite that the unaudited net assets and profit of Target Company II in 2021 recorded a loss, the Board is of the view that the consideration of the acquisition of 51% equity interest in Target Company II is fair and reasonable based on the following reasons:

- (1) the consideration is determined mainly based on the projected revenue of Target Company II in 2022 amounting to RMB105 million. The financial data of Target Company II as of 31 December 2021 as set out in the announcement by the Company is unable to reflect the latest financial position of Target Company II. In consideration of the booming potential business opportunities arising from the adequate existing orders of Target Company II and high customer repurchase rate, it is likely to achieve breakthroughs in results performance with a total revenue amounting to RMB105 million in 2022;
- (2) immediately prior to the entering into of Share Transfer Agreement II, the former shareholders of Target Company II have fully paid their respective subscribed registered capital of Target Company II and a capital injection of RMB27.64 million was made by the largest shareholder to Target Company II with an intention to reduce the debt level of Target Company II, and the financial position of Target Company II saw significant improvement immediately following the closing;
- (3) after years of technology improvement and accumulation, Target Company II enhanced its project implementation efficiency and reduced costs, hence it is foreseeable that the profit of Target Company II will increase in 2022;
- (4) Target Company II is engaged in the industrial software industry which has immense potential and is strongly supported by national policies. Therefore, the Board is optimistic on the future business prospect of Target Company II and considers the Acquisition II as a good investment opportunity to increase the Group's investment return;
- (5) the revenue of Target Company II is expected to increase in the next few years, with its amount being basically at the same level of the amount of consideration. Even if Target Company II fails to deliver the expected growth rate of revenue in the future, the consideration to be actually paid by the Company will be adjusted accordingly based on the performance of Target Company II as the acquisition introduced a performance commitment mechanism. As such, the Board believes that the performance commitment mechanism in the Acquisition II can effectively ensure the consideration to be paid by the Company will match the actual value of Target Company II, and mitigate the risks arising from improper operation of Target Company II which may cause damages to the Company.

Please refer to the announcement of the Company dated 20 May 2022 for details of the acquisition of 51% equity interest in two Target Companies.

3.2 Goodwill

Goodwill arising from the acquisition of subsidiaries represents the excess of the consideration transferred, the amount of any non-controlling interest in the acquiree and the acquisition-date fair value of any previous equity interest in the acquiree over the fair value of the identified net assets acquired.

For the purpose of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is allocated to each of the cash generating units ("CGUs"), or groups of CGUs, that is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination. Each unit or group of units to which the goodwill is allocated represents the lowest level within the entity at which the goodwill is monitored for internal management purposes.

Goodwill impairment reviews are undertaken annually or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate a potential impairment. The carrying value of the CGU containing the goodwill is compared to the recoverable amount, which is the higher of value in use ("VIU") and the fair value less costs of disposal. Any impairment is recognized immediately as an expense and is not subsequently reversed.

3.3 Intangible assets

Software

Acquired software is initially capitalised on the basis of the costs incurred to acquire and bring to use the specific software. Costs associated with maintaining computer software programmes are recognized as an expense as incurred. Software is stated at historical cost less accumulated amortisation and impairment losses, if any. Amortisation is calculated using the straight-line method to allocate the cost over their estimated useful lives of 5 years.

The amortisation period and amortisation method of intangible assets are reviewed at each reporting period. The effects of any revision are recognized as profit or loss when the changes arise.

Research and development

The Group incurs significant costs and efforts on research and development activities, which include expenditures on artificial intelligence technology. Research expenditures are charged to the profit or loss as an expense in the period the expenditures are incurred. Development costs are recognized as assets if they can be directly attributable to a newly developed artificial intelligence products and all the following can be demonstrated (if applicable):

- the technical feasibility of completing the intangible assets so that it will be available for use or sale;
- the intention to complete the intangible asset and use or sell it;
- the ability to use or sell the intangible assets;
- the intangible asset will generate probable future economic benefits;
- the availability of adequate technical, financial and other resources to complete the development and to use or sell the intangible asset; and
- the ability to measure reliably the expenditure attributable to the intangible asset during its development.

Other development expenditures that do not meet these criteria are recognized as an expense as incurred. No development costs met these criteria and therefore, were capitalised as intangible assets during the reporting periods.

Other intangible assets

Other intangible assets mainly include customer relationship and technology. They are initially recognised and measured at estimated fair value of intangible assets acquired through business combinations. The Group amortizes these intangible assets with a limited useful life using the straight-line method over the following periods:

- Technology: 5 years
- Customer relationship: 10 years

When determining the length of useful lives of these intangible assets, management take into account the (i) estimated period during which such asset can bring economic benefits to the Group; and (ii) the useful life estimated by comparable companies in the market.

4 Estimates

The preparation of interim financial information requires management to make judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expense. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Except as described below, in preparing this interim condensed consolidated financial information, the significant judgements made by management in applying the Group's accounting policies and the key sources of estimation uncertainty were the same as those that were applied to the consolidated financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2021.

(a) Impairment of goodwill

The Group tests whether goodwill has suffered any impairment on an annual basis. Judgment is required to identify any impairment indicators existing for any of the Group's goodwill to determine appropriate impairment approaches, i.e., VIU, for impairment review purposes, and to select key assumptions applied in the adopted valuation models, including discounted cash flows and market approach. Changing the assumptions selected by management in assessing impairment could materially affect the result of the impairment test and in turn affect the Group's financial condition and results of operations. If there is a significant adverse change in the key assumptions applied, it may be necessary to take additional impairment charge to the consolidated statement of comprehensive income.

For the Six Months Ended 30 June 2022

(All amounts in thousands of Renminbi unless otherwise stated)

(b) Business combinations

Business combinations are accounted for under the acquisition method. The determination and allocation of fair values to the identifiable assets acquired and liabilities assumed is based on various assumptions and valuation methodologies requiring considerable management judgment. Although the Group believes that the assumptions applied in the determination are reasonable based on information available at the date of acquisition, actual results may differ from the forecasted amounts and the difference could be material.

5 Financial risk management

5.1 Financial risk factors

The Group's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: foreign exchange risk, cash flow and fair value interest rate risk, credit risk and liquidity risk.

The interim condensed consolidated financial information does not include all financial risk management information and disclosures required in the annual financial statements, and should be read in conjunction with the Group's annual financial statements as at 31 December 2021.

There have been no changes in the major risk management policies since 31 December 2021.

Credit risk

The Group is exposed to credit risk in relation to its cash and cash equivalents and restricted cash, financial assets at fair value through profit or loss ("FVPL"), financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income ("FVOCI"), amounts due from related parties, trade and notes receivables and other receivables. The carrying amount of each class of the above financial assets represents the Group's maximum exposure to credit risk in relation to the corresponding class of financial assets.

5.2 Fair value estimation

Financial instruments carried at fair value or where fair value was disclosed can be categorised by levels of the inputs to valuation techniques used to measure fair value. The inputs are categorised into three levels within a fair value hierarchy as follows:

- (i) Quoted prices (unadjusted) in active markets for identical assets or liabilities (Level 1).
- (ii) Inputs other than quoted prices included within level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly (that is, as prices) or indirectly (that is, derived from prices) (Level 2).
- (iii) Inputs for the asset or liability that are not based on observable market data (that is, unobservable inputs) (Level 3).

The following table presents the Group's assets and liabilities that are measured at fair value.

For the period ended 30 June 2022, the Group's level 1 financial assets included listed equity securities and other financial investment instrument is within level 2.

For the period ended 30 June 2022, the Group's level 3 financial assets included bank and commercial acceptance notes, wealth management products and investment fund; the Group's level 3 financial liabilities included contingent liabilities and convertible bonds.

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined by using valuation techniques. These valuation techniques maximize the use of observable market data where it is available and rely as little as possible on entity specific estimates. If one or more of the significant inputs are not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in level 3.

For the period ended 30 June 2022, the discounted cash flow method was used to determine the fair value of bank and commercial acceptance notes, wealth management products, contingent liabilities and convertible bonds. Key assumption under discounted cash flow method included discount rate, expected return rate, discount of lack of marketability and expected volatility. The net asset value method was used to determine the fair value of investment fund and no key assumption is applicable for the net asset value method.

The following table presents the changes in level 3 items for the periods ended 30 June 2022:

	FVPL RMB'000	FVOCI RMB'000

The weighted average number of ordinary shares deemed in issue before the conversion into a joint stock company was determined as assuming that:

- (2) The remaining paid-in capital had been fully converted into number of ordinary shares deemed in issue at the same conversion ratio of 1:1 as upon transformation into joint stock company;
