MARKET REVIEW

In 2022, the global economy continued to pick up from the pandemic of the novel coronavirus ("COVID-19"), resurgence of the infections and the new Delta and Omicron variants posed new threats to the many economies across the world. Since the pandemic had been largely contained in People's Republic of China ("PRC" or "China"), industrial production and economic activities has gradually recovered to pre-pandemic level. Despite the country's economy showing resilience, the second quarter of the economy only achieved a slight advance of 0.4% year-on-year, while the first quarter has witnessed a 4.8% year-on-year growth. PRC government has continued to implement a series of measures, ranging from cutting taxes for businesses, to injecting more money into different infrastructure projects.

BUSINESS REVIEW

i. Cigarette Packaging Products

Hubei Province was one of the hardest hit regions when the COVID-19 first broke out in the country. Fortunately, the provincial economy has been gradually gaining momentum in GDP growth and the consumer market has also witnessed a steady recover throughout the year.

The government of the PRC has continued to extend its efforts in the structural reform of the tobacco market, which included cigarette control, promotion of mental and physical health, and cancer prevention. During the reporting period, revenue of this segment was approximately RMB54.0 million.

ii. Steam for Industrial Use, Household Heating and Electricity Supply

During the reporting period, the Group's new energy business relied on a professional technology management team of a heating and electricity company which provides integrated services solutions for high-efficiency clean coal technology, clean production, energy saving, and environmental protection. Through these solutions, the Group has helped the country's clean energy industry to transform, upgrade and tackle the long-existing heating supply problem in urban areas and industrial parks.

With the industrial and manufacturing activities slowly returning to pre-pandemic level and favourable government policies to drive investment in this space, we witnessed an increasing application of combined heat and power, which subsequently boosted the investment in total installed generation capacity in the country. During the reporting period, revenue of this segment was approximately RMB107.3 million, representing an increase of approximately 40% as compared to the corresponding period in 2021.

iii. Household Paper Products

With the growing wealth and disposable income of people in China, health awareness continued to increase, which has driven the demand for high-quality household paper products, in particular since the outbreak of COVID-19. Our partnering brands are widely recognised in China for years and have been chosen as the "China's 500 Most Valuable Brands" for years. During the reporting period, revenue of this segment was approximately RMB30.9 million.
