ENVIRONMENTAL ASPECT

The environmental aspect is a core value that the Group upholds its commitment to sustainability. Fulfilling this mission requires much effort in areas including conserving natural resources and reducing carbon emissions as we grow our business. We maintain an environmental management system designed to raise and monitor our environmental standards, minimise our environmental footprint and assist us to improve the compliance level in environment.

During the Reporting Period, the Group had no incident of non-compliance with environmental protection laws and regulations that significantly impacted the Group relating to air and greenhouse gas emissions, discharges into water and land, and generation of hazardous and non-hazardous waste. The Group also confirmed no penalty was imposed by relevant government authorities arising from non-compliance with the aforesaid laws and regulations during our operation in the Reporting Period.

Emissions

The Group complies with the relevant regulations promulgated by the government that are applicable to the Group, including the Air Pollution Control Ordinance (空氣污染管制條例), Water Pollution Control Ordinance (水污染管制條例), Waste Disposal Ordinance (廢物處置條例), the Environmental Protection Law of the People's Republic of China (中華人民共和國環境保護法), Law of the People's Republic of China on Prevention and Control of Pollution From Noise (中華人民共和國噪聲污染防治法), Law of the People's Republic of China on Appraising of Environmental Impacts (中華人民共和國環境影響評價法), Environmental Protection Tax Law of the People's Republic of China (中華人民共和國環境保護稅法), Regulations on the Administration of Construction Projects Environmental Protection (建設項目環境保護管理條例), Law of the People's Republic of China on the Prevention and Control of Environmental Pollution by Solid Wastes (中華人民共和國固體廢物污染環境防治法) and Decision of the State Council on Several Issues Concerning Environmental Protection (國務院關於環境保護若干問題的決定). During the Reporting Period, we were not aware of any non-compliance with laws and regulations relating to environmental aspects that significantly impacted the Group.

Air Pollution – Greenhouse Gas

In the course of daily operations, apart from the greenhouse gases emissions generated from the combustion sources in transportation, our largest emission source is cooking stoves. The indirect emissions of the Group's greenhouse gases mainly come from the purchased electricity and fuel consumption of offices and vehicles. The Group considers that such greenhouse gas emission level is normal.

We are dedicated to reducing our carbon emissions by keeping a record of consumption levels for each business, closely monitoring emissions levels, and ensuring the proper functioning of all machinery and equipment to prevent excessive emission of exhaust gas caused by related mechanical malfunctions.

For the Group's real estate projects, we will only engage construction contractors with good environmental protection and safety records, which are required to strictly abide by all current environmental protection and safety regulations, such as the use of construction materials and methods.

Hazardous and Non-hazardous Waste Treatment

Handling processes for all waste generated from production and daily operations of the Group are in strict compliance with internal guidelines. Recycling and reusing waste are encouraged under feasible circumstances.

Food waste and construction materials are the major types of waste for our restaurant and property operations. Food waste is collected and handled by local executive agencies. The construction materials applied in property projects include but not limited to steel, bricks, and concrete. Some of these materials can be recycled and reused in site levelling, sub-base layers, and marsh infilling. All construction waste will be stockpiled together and disposed by municipal administrative department during the construction process.

During the Reporting Period, the Group's resource consumption was within a reasonable level. Resources consumed in the offices are mainly from document photocopying and printing. The Group promotes a "Paperless office" by promoting email and document digitalization among employees. Environment and Natural Resources

Raising Environmental Awareness

We are taking a holistic approach in environmental management. In addition to the energy saving and emission reduction measures, we believe in enhancing environmental awareness and strengthening the governance, including daily operations and business decision-making by the Board. We actively promote environmental protection awareness among the employees. Internal codes are reviewed and internal environmental protection guidelines, and reminders are issued from time to time. Information related to environmental protection such as green office has been shared by the Group.

Attaching Importance to Biodiversity and Deforestation

Biodiversity can increase ecosystem productivity, and all kinds of species, no matter how small, play an essential role in the ecosystem. Therefore, we value the conservation of biodiversity and strive to achieve our food ingredients sustainable. We intend to enhance our food sourcing sustainability commitments by undertaking comprehensive studies in areas such as not to use HPCIA in the chicken, purchase sustainable beef and seafood labelled with MSC (Marine Stewardship Council), ground and whole bean coffee sourcing through Rainforest Alliance and other relevant certification schemes.

We understand that forest conservation contributes to mitigating climate change and protecting biodiversity. Sustainable food pronouncement also is a key to cease excessive logging. We hope to achieve complete traceability across the entire commodities supply chain through continuous improvement eventually. Other measures include fiber-based packaging, recycled wood, and other materials, increasing production and resource efficiency, reducing landfill waste and waste recycling, support for landscape restoration.

Combating Climate Change

As a responsible company, we recognise that climate change has become a severe threat to the planet and potentially creates a significant impact on our communities and operations. Therefore, we continue to consolidate our efforts to combat climate change and mitigate global warming.

Regarding the physical risks of the business, adverse weather events have frequently occurred in recent years to paralysing transportation and road systems, causing a shortage of water or other resources. This will result in suspension or hindrance of business operation. While countries around the world continue to act on climate change, we are convinced that corporates are exposed to changes in regulations, technologies requirements and market responses in the future, such as new greenhouse gas emission limits and stricter laws to hold companies accountable for the environmental degradation and requirement on adapting renewable energy. These factors may bring additional operating costs and extensive changes in operating structure.

Given that the risks mentioned above, we proactively address climate change at different levels. In respect of frontline operation, we have formulated a set of work arrangements to reduce the impact of bad weather conditions (such as typhoon and black rain) to our business and safeguard our employees. Regarding environmental policy, we review our environmental policies and identify related threat from time to time to reinforce internal governance and improve with greener measures. Close communication with our suppliers is maintained and we work together to develop contingency plans in case of supply chain disruption or other issues. We also keep a watchful eye on any changes in relevant regulations that significantly impact our operations and environmental policies, while acquiring new knowledge and technology that are instrumental to our environmental initiatives.

The Group is currently mapping out its plan on reducing its carbon footprint by pursuing best operational practices and enhancing supply chain management. Our plan to minimise our environmental impact covers water stewardship, waste management, and energy and carbon reduction.
