REASONS FOR AND BENEFITS OF THE DISPOSAL

Affected by various unfavorable factors such as macro economy, real estate market environment and financial environment, and multiple rounds of epidemics, the Group's liquidity has experienced periodic problems. In light of this, the Group has enacted a wide range of measures including acceleration of sales and payment collection, acceleration of other receivables, disposal of assets, implementing stringent cost saving measures, and also launching several exchange offers and consent solicitations in relation to the oversea US$ senior notes in order to bolster liquidity.

While delivery of properties on time is the priority target of the Group at this stage and several projects of the Group should be delivered to the purchasers in the first half of the coming year according to the contracts. In order to settle the construction amounts to ensure the delivery of properties on time, as part of the efforts, the Group, therefore, is conducting the Disposal to provide more cash flow to pay the construction amounts and ensure timely delivery of the properties to purchasers. The total outstanding amount of construction amounts as at the Latest Practicable Date is approximately RMB2,100 million, among which, approximately RMB400 million (the "Guarantee Delivery Construction Funds") is to be settled before the end of the first half of 2024, to ensure the delivery of the properties on time.

As at 30 June 2023, the Group has available cash of approximately RMB145 million, which has been utilised for daily operation purpose including the payment of the construction amount, the payment of bank loan principal and interests, the payment of tax and other operating expenses. Due to the weak sales performance for the past several months, the daily sales amount collection will not be sufficient to cover the Guarantee Delivery Construction Funds. The Board considers that the Disposal is in line with the Group's strategy to improve its liquidity and stability.

In respect of the property development business of the Group, the Company will keep looking for appropriate potential property development project(s) which will benefit to the Company and Shareholders as a whole. However, due to uncertainty of the global economy, the uncertainty in the future PRC property market and the resources of the Company, the Company will consider carefully for any investment in the property development business which requires a significant amount of financial supporting, capital expenditure and time for completion.

In view of the above, the Directors (including the independent non-executive Directors) consider that the Disposal provides a good opportunity for the Group to realise its investment in the Target Group and can help the Group to improve its overall financial position. The Directors consider that the Share Transfer Agreement has been made on normal commercial terms and in the ordinary and usual course of business of the Group; and its terms are fair and reasonable and as such the Disposal is in the interests of the Company and the Shareholders as a whole.

FINANCIAL EFFECTS OF THE DISPOSAL

Upon Completion, the Company will cease to hold any interests in the Target Company and the Target Company will cease to be a subsidiary of the Company. Accordingly, the financial results of the Target Group will no longer be consolidated into the consolidated financial statements of the Group.

A gain of approximately RMB70.0 million (equivalent to approximately HK$74.9 million) arising from the Disposal is expected to be recognized by the Group in its consolidated income statement, being the difference between (i) the Consideration; and (ii) the unaudited consolidated net liabilities of the Target Group attributable to the Company as at 31 October 2023. Such calculation is only an estimate provided for illustrative purposes and the accounting treatment of the Disposal will be subject to further review by the auditors of the Company.

The net proceeds arising from the Disposal will be approximately RMB51.5 million (after deducting other expenses in relation thereto) (equivalent to approximately HK$55.1 million), in which approximately 80% is intended to be used to pay for the construction amounts for the delivery of properties on time and approximately 20% is intended to be used for general working capital purpose.

LISTING RULES IMPLICATIONS

As one or more of the applicable percentage ratios in respect of the Disposal as calculated under Rule 14.07 of the Listing Rules exceed 25% but are less than 75%, the Disposal constitutes a major transaction for the Company under Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules and is subject to reporting, announcement, circular and Shareholders' approval requirements under Chapter 14 of the Listing Rules.

WRITTEN SHAREHOLDERS' APPROVAL

Pursuant to Rule 14.44 of the Listing Rules, in lieu of resolutions to be passed at a general meeting of the Company, written Shareholders' approval for the Disposal has obtained from the controlling Shareholder, China Guangdong - Hong Kong Greater Bay Area Holdings Limited, which is holding 276,443,711 Shares of the Company, representing approximately 60.93% of the issued share capital of the Company as at the date of this circular. To the best of the Directors' knowledge, information and belief, after having made all reasonable enquiries, none of the Shareholders has any material interest in the Disposal and therefore no Shareholder is required to abstain from voting if the Company were to convene an extraordinary general meeting for the approval of the Disposal.

RECOMMENDATION

If the Company were to convene an extraordinary general meeting for the approval of the Disposal and voting was required, the Directors are of the view that the terms of the Share Transfer Agreement and the transactions contemplated thereunder have been negotiated on an arm's length basis and on commercial terms which are fair and reasonable, and are in the interests of the Shareholders and the Company as a whole.

Completion is subject to the fulfilment of the Conditions Precedent, the Disposal may or may not proceed. Shareholders and potential investors of the Company are advised to exercise caution when dealing in the Shares.

FINANCIAL AND TRADING PROSPECTS OF THE GROUP

Although local governments of many cities provide supporting policies on the demand side to boost buying sentiment and gradually loosen the supply side restrictions, the management believes it takes time to restore the confidence of creditors and home buyers. In the short term, the pressure of deleveraging inventories still exists and the suppressed buying sentiments will take time to recover. Delivery of properties on time is the priority target of the Group at this stage. The Group will work relentlessly to achieve "three guarantees" ("guarantee delivery of properties", "guarantee sales" and "guarantee repayment") and strive for long-term "survival".

The Group will continue to implement a strict construction progress supervision system and utilize the precious financial resources for construction amount payment to ensure that the sold property projects are delivered on schedule.

Although the current sales environment is still weak, the Group will continue to increase sales efforts and adopt all marketing strategies to promote sales de-marketing, and increase efforts to collect sales receivables. And the Group will continue to strive to find ways to realize cash inflow to meet the Company's debt repayment obligations, including promoting sales, increase sales collections, increase collections of other receivables, seeking debt refinancing, project sales, etc., so as to fulfill its debt repayment obligations and enable the Company to operate stably.

The unaudited financial statements as of 30 June 2023 are the latest available financial information circulated to us. The Target Company recorded a revenue of RMB55.22M and a net income of RMB7.53M in FY23U (January – June).

The Target Company's revenue for FY22U was RMB105.43M, indicating a 11.06% decrease from the RMB118.54M reported for FY21U. The gross profit margin and net income margin for FY22U were 39.71% and 10.13% respectively, showing a decline from the 46.44% and 13.75% respectively as reported in FY21U. According to the Management, the declines were primary caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

As of 30 June 2023, the Target Company reported net liabilities of RMB21.32 million. Per Management, the net liabilities position was mainly due to the loss incurred in early years, caused by upfront operation costs and payments between the Company and the Target Company. As discussed, the Target Company provided property management services for most of the projects developed by the Company, therefore, the amounts owed by/amounts owed to intra-group of the Company were the main component of the Target Company's assets and liabilities respectively.

2.4. Major Risk Factors and Mitigation Measures

As discussed with Management, the Target Company faces several risk factors, which include but not limited to the followings:

• Regulatory Risk: The PRC has a complex regulatory environment, and property management companies must comply with various laws and regulations. Non-compliance can lead to fines, legal action, and reputational damage;

- Market Risk: The property market in the PRC is volatile and can be affected by various factors such as economic conditions, government policies, and social trends:
- Operation Risk: The Target Company faces operational risks such as employee fraud, data breaches, and natural disasters; and
- Competition Risk: the increasing competition may lead to lower market share and profit margin of the Target Company.

According to Management, they are aware of the risk factors abovementioned and will take appropriate actions such as regularly conducting market analysis to keep abreast of market trends and technological development; conducting competitive analysis and carrying out effective and consistent compliance management, and closely monitoring the macroeconomics environment to attempt to mitigate these and other possible risks.

3. INDUSTRY OVERVIEW

3.1. The PRC Economy

Since the economic reform of incorporating capitalism within a command economy in the late 20th century, PRC has experienced rapid economic growth and is currently the world's second-largest economy.

According to publicly available data, PRC's nominal GDP increased from RMB53,858T in 2012 to RMB121,021T in 2022, representing a CAGR of approximately 8.43% in the last decade. Meanwhile, PRC's GDP per capita also grew steadily from RMB39,771 in 2012 to RMB85,698 in 2022, representing a CAGR of approximately 7.98%.

The historical trends of the nominal GDP and nominal GDP per capita are shown below:

PRC economy underwent a challenging period between 2019 and 2021. With the ever-rising trade tensions between the U.S. and PRC, the COVID-19 pandemic had a significant negative impact on the already weakening global and local economy. Nevertheless, the economic situation in PRC rebounded in 2021 and remained solid in 2022 with countrywide vaccine coverage and the recovery of the global economy from the pandemic.

Ever since PRC government allowed foreign direct investments within its borders, many foreign firms have entered the PRC market. Over the past few decades, they set up numerous factories and employed many domestic workers in PRC. PRC is the largest recipient of foreign direct investment globally, receiving roughly USD181B in 2021, indicating an increase of approximately 21% compared with 2020.

In recent years, the impact of the demographic shift in the PRC has become increasingly evident. The labour force in China indicated a general decreasing trend in recent years. The workforce of the PRC has fallen by more than 41M in the past three years, reflecting the COVID-19 pandemic's impact on the economy. As a result, the potential economic growth of PRC is expected to be a relatively mild growth, and such a trend is expected to continue.

On the other hand, PRC is the world's largest exporter and the second-largest importer of goods. However, in 2018, the U.S. imposed sweeping tariffs on PRC for its alleged unfair trade practices. In response, PRC has set tariffs on selective U.S. goods, threatening to restrict U.S. business operations in PRC. As a result, both economies are expected to suffer from the impacts. Nonetheless, PRC plays a prominent role in international trade, with an export volume of USD3.36T and an import volume of USD2.69T in 2021, according to a research result published by Statista:

To cope with the recent economic slowdown resulting from the pandemic and ongoing trade war, PRC government has adopted economic reforms and made massive amounts of capital expenditures on infrastructures. According to publicly available data, government expenditure increased from approximately RMB23.9T in 2019 to RMB24.6T in 2021. The PRC government remains confident that the local economy is resilient and will recover steadily.

3.2. Property Management Industry

The PRC boasts a thriving property management industry that oversees various facilities, including residential, commercial, and public spaces. This sector's robust growth is fuelled by the escalating demand for elevated living standards and the abundant availability of property spaces.

Property management companies in PRC typically charge fees for both core property management services and value-added services. Core services encompass cleaning, landscaping, security, and maintenance, while value-added services extend to community management, property agency, housekeeping, elderly care, nursing, and consulting services. Property management fees may be lump-sum payments or commissions, with the primary revenue stream being the basic management fee. This fee is determined by the gross floor area ("GFA") under management, with the average basic management fee reaching 1.18 yuan per square meter per month in 2023, according to CEIC Data Company, a global economic data provider.

3.3 Industry Landscape

In recent years, PRC's property management industry has experienced substantial growth, driven by rapid urbanisation and rising per capita disposable incomes. The total GFA under management by all property management companies in PRC surged from approximately 19.5 billion sq.m. in 2017 to 28.9 billion sq.m. in 2022, reflecting a CAGR of around 8.2%. Projections from China Index Academy, an independent industry consultant, indicate further growth, with total GFA under management expected to reach approximately 35.5 billion sq.m. by 2026.

Among the top 100 Property Management Companies, the GFA of properties managed witnessed significant expansion, surging from around 6.3 billion sq.m. in 2017 to 14.3 billion sq.m. in 2022, marking a CAGR of about 17.8%. This growth elevated the market share of the Top 100 Property Management Companies in terms of total GFA under management, rising from approximately 32.4% in 2017 to 49.6% in 2022.

Chart 3.3a: Market Share of PRC Property Management Industry in Terms of GFA, 2016-2022

Source: China Index Academy

Revenue generated from property management services remains the primary income source for these companies. Additionally, they may derive revenue from value-added services. The following chart illustrates the increase in average revenue, both from property management services and value-added services, for the Top 100 Property Management Companies in the specified years.

Chart 3.3b: Revenue Sources of Top 100 Property Management Companies in PRC Property Management Industry, 2016–2022

3.3.1. Future Growth Prospect

Residential properties continue to dominate the portfolios of property management companies. The total GFA of non-residential properties managed by the Top 100 Property Management Companies increased from approximately 1.9 billion sq.m. as of 31 December 2017, to 5.1 billion sq.m. as of 31 December 2022, representing a CAGR of approximately 21.8%.

Several factors are poised to support the steady growth of the property management industry in the coming years. These include a growing population and rapid urbanisation, with PRC's population reaching 1.4 billion in 2022 and an urbanisation rate of 65.0%, the urbanisation rate is projected to rise to 66.5% by 2030, according to the United Nations. This upward trend will generate increased demand for housing and related services.

Another key driver is the growth in real estate investment. Despite the challenges posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, PRC's real estate investment grew by 4.4% year-on-year in 2021, with residential buildings accounting for most of this investment. The development of new properties will expand the GFA under management and bolster income for property managers.

As Chinese households become more affluent and quality-conscious, they are increasingly willing to invest in superior property management services, including smart home solutions, community activities, and various value-added services. While the outbreak of COVID-19 initially had a short-term impact on the property management industry, several supportive policies, such as tax cuts and increased government subsidies, have created a favourable environment for industry recovery.

4. BASIS AND METHODOLOGY

4.1. Basis of Valuation

In valuing the Target Company, we have prepared our Valuation on the basis of "market value" as defined in International Valuation Standards 2022, i.e., "the estimated amount for which an asset should exchange on the date of valuation between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion".

4.2. Professional Valuation Standards

Our Valuation has been prepared in accordance with the International Valuation Standards issued by the International Valuation Standards Council.

4.3. Sources of Information

The primary sources of information that we have relied on in the preparation of this report, include:

- Unaudited FY21U FY23U (January to June) income statements and balance sheets of the Target Company;
- Discussions with Management regarding the background and other relevant information of the Target Company; and
- Other public sources of market data

We have not attempted to verify any of the information provided to us or contained in this report. We also have no reasons to believe that any material fact has been withheld from us. Moreover, we do not warrant that our investigations have revealed all of the matters which an audit or more extensive examination might disclose.

We hereby reserve our rights to revise this Valuation Report, if required and appropriate, should there be any updated information or otherwise made available to us that we consider to be relevant to the Valuation.

4.4. Limiting Conditions and Assumptions

Our Valuation has been primarily based on the unaudited income statements and balance sheets provided by Management and a number of limiting conditions and assumptions, as set out in section 7.1 Limiting Conditions and 7.2. Assumptions.

It is noted that only the unaudited financial statements have been provided to us for the Valuation. In the event any of the information, figures or accounts we have relied upon have been misstated or actual events do not accord with one or more of the assumptions, the resulting valuations of the Target Company may vary substantially from the figures as set out in this report.

You are recommended not to rely on the Valuation unless you have read carefully and fully understood the limiting conditions and assumptions.

4.5. Valuation Approach

4.5.1. Generally Accepted Approaches

We have considered three generally accepted approaches, including the Income Approach, Market Approach and Cost Approach in the Valuation:

- Income Approach: The Income Approach measures the value of an asset by the present value of its future economic benefits. These benefits can include earnings, cost savings, tax deductions and proceeds from its disposition.
- Market Approach: The Market Approach is a valuation technique based on the principle of substitution. For the valuation of a company, public companies in the same general industry as the subject company are selected to provide valuation guidelines, i.e., valuation multiples for such guideline companies then are determined and analysed. On the other hand, valuation multiples indicated in merger and acquisition transactions of private companies may also be considered.
- Cost Approach: The Cost Approach, also known as the depreciated replacement cost approach, considers the cost to reproduce or replace in new condition the appraised asset in accordance with current market prices, with allowance for accrued depreciation arising from the condition, utility, age, wear and tear, or obsolescence present, taking into consideration past and present maintenance policy and rebuilding history. This approach generally furnishes the most reliable indicator of value for PPE in the absence of a known market based on comparable sales.

Please note these three valuation approaches are fundamentally different and may generate substantially different valuation results.

4.5.2. Selected Approach

Among the abovementioned valuation approaches, the selection of a valuation approach is based on, among other criteria, the quantity and quality of the information provided, access to available data, supply of relevant market transactions, type and nature of the subject asset, purpose and objective of the valuation and professional judgment and technical expertise. The Market Approach was considered to be the most appropriate due to the following reasons:

The Income Approach was not adopted as it heavily relies on subjective assumptions adopted in the long-term financial projections of the Target Company. The market value is sensitive to the inputs in the financial forecast, which could significantly impact the market value. As per Management, they had limited access to the Target Company's detailed future business plans, limiting its ability to formulate reasonable and reliable forecasts. Therefore, the Income Approach was not adopted.

The Cost Approach was not adopted as it does not consider the future economic benefits generated from the operation of the Target Company's business. The Cost Approach is inadequate in reflecting the value of its equity interests deriving from its ongoing business and any potential growing prospect.

The Market Approach reflects the value obtained from a consensus of market participants over the corresponding industry. It is generally agreed that such an approach involves less subjective assumptions and judgements in a valuation as this is principally based on comparison. We also notice that there are several publicly listed companies of similar businesses in the same geographical region that could provide a reasonable valuation benchmark. Thus, the Market Approach has been adopted in this valuation.

4.5.3. Guideline Companies

Under the Market Approach, we adopted the Guideline Company Method in the Valuation and selected publicly listed companies that are considered to be comparable to the Target Company, i.e., Guideline Companies.

The selection of the Guideline Companies was based on the comparability of the overall industry sector and geographical location. Although no two companies are ever exactly alike, behind the differences, there are certain business universals, such as required capital investment and overall perceived risks and uncertainties that guide the market in reaching the expected returns for companies with certain similar attributes. The following criteria were considered reasonable to select the Guideline Companies.

In the Valuation, we follow the below major principles when searching for Guideline Companies:

- The Guideline Companies engage in property management services per our understanding based on their company descriptions provided by publicly available source and their websites. Such business activities are the principal or one of the principal business activities of these companies;
- Over 90% of the total revenue of the Guideline Companies is generated from property management related businesses, with property portfolio included both residential and commercial projects according to their respective latest annual reports;
- The principal business of Guideline Companies is domiciled in the PRC, which aligns with the business' geographical location of the Target Company; and
- The Guideline Companies' shares were publicly traded in stock markets in Hong Kong or the PRC and have sufficient relevant financial information which are publicly available.

Details of these Guideline Companies are summarized as below:

We considered that the selected Guideline Companies comprise an exhaustive list based on the selection criteria and our understanding of the Target Company and the Guideline Companies.

4.5.4. Valuation Multiples

In the course of our Valuation, we have considered certain commonly adopted valuation multiples such as enterprise-value-to-sales ("EV/Sales"), enterprise-value-to-earning-before-interest-tax ("EV/EBIT"), price-to-book ("P/B"), price-to-sales ("P/S"), and price-to-earnings ("P/E").

The EV/Sales multiple and P/S multiple do not consider the cost structure of a company, two companies with the same revenue might have very different costs, which would significantly impact their profitability. Since the property management business can vary greatly in terms of cost structure depending on factors such as location, market conditions, and management strategy, therefore, the EV/Sales multiple and P/S multiple were not suitable for the Valuation.

The EV/EBIT multiple does not consider a company's tax structure and the cost of financial gearing. Two companies with the same operating profit might have very different tax obligations or financial gearing, significantly impacting their net income. Since the property management business can vary greatly in these merits depending on factors such as location, market conditions, and management strategy, therefore, the EV/EBIT multiple was not adopted in the Valuation.

The P/B multiple may not be suitable for companies operating in asset-light or service-oriented industries, such as property management. In these cases, the book value of net assets might not strongly correlate with the fair value of the Target Company. Given the substantial variability among individual companies within the same industry concerning future earnings potential and profitability, which are attributed to factors like location, market conditions, and management strategy, consequently, the P/B multiple was deemed unsuitable for the Valuation.

Lastly, the P/E multiple is a key metric in evaluating a company's profitability. This widely acknowledged and frequently utilized valuation metric holds particular relevance for companies characterised by positive and predictable earnings patterns. For the inapplicability of other considered multiples aforementioned and considered the historical positive earning records of the Target Company, we consider the P/E multiple as the optimal choice for the Valuation.

The P/E multiples of the Guideline Companies as at the Valuation Date are shown below:

Ticker	P/E Multiple
9608 HK Equity	8.73x
2376 HK Equity	4.18x
2107 HK Equity	12.55x
2210 HK Equity	2.88x
1922 HK Equity	3.94x
2168 HK Equity	4.00x
Average	6.05x

Source: Publicly available data and Moore's analysis

The average P/E of 6.05x was multiplied by the normalised earnings of the Target Company as of the Valuation Date provided by Management.

4.5.5. Normalized Net Income

The breakdown of the normalized trailing 12-months net income as at the Valuation Date is presented below:

Item	Amount
	(RMB)
Net Income (LTM)	12,872,929
Minus: One-off Investment Income (After Tax)	(4,641,053)
Normalized Net Income (LTM)	8,231,876

Source: Management and Moore's analysis

According to the Management, such investment income is non-recurring and non-operating in nature sourced from assets disposal, we therefore deducted such investment income to derive normalized trailing 12-months net income amounted to RMB8.23M.

4.5.6. DLOM

The discount for lack of marketability is a downward adjustment to the value of an investment to reflect its reduced level of marketability. The concept of marketability deals with the liquidity of an ownership interest, that is, how quickly and easily it can be converted into cash if the owner chooses to sell.

DLOM reflects the fact that there is no ready market for shares in a closely held company. Ownership interests in closely held companies are typically not readily marketable compared to similar interests in publicly listed companies. Therefore, a share of stock in a privately held company is usually worth less than an otherwise comparable share in a publicly listed company.

The value of non-marketable interest can be calculated from marketable interest using the following formula:

Market Value of Non-Marketable Interest = Market Value of Marketable Interest $\times (1 - DLOM)$

Currently, there is no widely used empirical study conducted on lack of marketability discount for private companies in Hong Kong or the PRC. Most studies on lack of marketability were based on transactions or data in the U.S.. According to the Stout Restricted Stock Study, published by Business Valuation Resources, LLC in 2022, DLOM is estimated as the percentage difference between the private placement price per share and the market trading price per share. 772 relevant private placement transactions of unregistered common stock issued by publicly traded companies from July 1980 through March 2022 have been examined in the Stout Restricted Stock Study. The Stout Restricted Stock Study analyses the transaction database and provides mean and median discount rates. Since the median rate is not affected by abnormal extreme high and low values, we adopted the median discount rate of 15.70% calculated from the 772 transactions from the Stout Restricted Stock Study as DLOM for the Valuation.

4.5.7. Control Premium

Control premium is the amount that a buyer is willing to pay over the minority equity value of the company in order to acquire a controlling interest in that company.

The value of controlling interest can be calculated from minority interest using the following formula:

Market Value of Controlling Interest = Market Value of Non-control Interest \times (1 + Control Premium)

The P/E multiples adopted in the Valuation were calculated from publicly listed companies, which represents minority ownership interest; value calculated using such P/E multiples, therefore, represents the minority interest.

As our Valuation was for 100% equity interests in the Target Company, a control premium has been adopted with reference to our research "Control Premium and Discount for Lack of Marketability Study 2023 – Issue 2". Our research summarized the data extracted from HKEX. The key findings provided a clear view of figures about control premium adopted by the market participants. We have adopted a control premium of 23.9%, which is the median of trailing 12-months market data, in the Valuation.

4.5.8. Valuation Summary

The overall valuation of the Target Company using the valuation multiples is presented below:

Item	Amount (RMB)
