 - (xi) none of the parties to such Documents is or will be seeking to conduct any relevant transaction or any associated activity in a manner or for a purpose not evident on the face of any of such Documents which might render it or any relevant transaction or associated activity illegal, void or voidable; and

 - (ii) the products sold by the Group are not prohibited products under Singapore laws and regulations and are not prohibited from import into Singapore under Singapore laws and regulations; and
 - (iii) the products sold by the Group do not originate, or are not manufactured or are not in any way related to countries sanctioned by the Office of Foreign Assets Control or countries which are subjected to sanctions under Singapore laws and regulations;
- (j) based on the Company's confirmations in the RFIDs and the Documents reviewed, all logistics service providers engaged by the Group are responsible for ensuring that the products imported for sale in Singapore comply with all the applicable Singapore laws and regulations (including import and export laws) which are required for the Group to conduct its Business;
- (k) the Group has not and will not be utilising any logistics service providers where the responsibility of compliance with the applicable Singapore laws and regulations (including import and export laws) is imposed on the Group;

- (o) the Group has complied with all laws and regulations outside Singapore required to conduct its Business (as defined below).

D. QUALIFICATIONS

17. This Opinion is subject to the following qualifications:

- (a) The term “enforceable” as used in this Opinion means that the obligations assumed by the parties under the Documents are of a type that the Singapore courts enforce. It does not however mean that those obligations will necessarily be enforced in all circumstances in accordance with their respective terms. In particular:
 - (i) enforcement may be limited by bankruptcy, insolvency, liquidation, reorganisation, moratorium, and other similar laws of general application in the context of insolvency, or the rights of creditors;
 - (ii) enforcement may be limited by general principles of equity, for example, equitable remedies may not be available where damages are considered to be an adequate remedy;
 - (iii) claims may become barred under the Limitation Act 1959 of Singapore, or may be or become subject to defences of set-off or counterclaim;
 - (iv) the Singapore courts may not enforce a submission to the exclusive jurisdiction of any court in any jurisdiction to the exclusion of the Singapore courts;
 - (v) where under an agreement, any person is vested with a discretion or may determine a matter in its opinion, Singapore law may require that such discretion is exercised reasonably or that such opinion is based upon reasonable grounds; and provisions in such agreements which provide that certain determinations, notifications, opinions, statements or certificates will be final and binding, will not be effective if the same could be shown to have an unreasonable or arbitrary basis, are erroneous on their face or fraudulent and will not necessarily prevent judicial enquiry into the merits of any claim by an aggrieved party;
 - (vi) the effectiveness of provisions excusing a party from a liability or duty otherwise owed may be limited by law, for example the effectiveness of contract terms seeking to exclude or restrict the liability of a party for negligence or breach of duty may be limited by the Unfair Contract Terms Act 1977 of Singapore;
 - (vii) covenants and undertakings which are in restraint of trade may not be enforced in accordance with their terms;
 - (viii) any currency indemnity provision in the Documents may not be enforceable in the Singapore courts in relation to any judgment delivered by any court and expressed in a currency other than that in which the relevant sum is payable;
 - (ix) the giving of any direct or indirect financial assistance by a company for the purpose of or in connection with, among others, the acquisition by any person of shares in such company would be prohibited by Section 76 of the Companies Act 1967 of Singapore (“Companies Act”) unless such company has complied with Section

76(10) of the Companies Act;

- (x) any right of set-off may be limited by the laws of the jurisdiction where the relevant credit balances are held;
- (xi) clauses in the Documents relating to any additional interest or other sum imposed thereunder on any of the parties thereto where it has defaulted in the performance of any of its obligations may not be enforceable in the courts of Singapore if they are construed as penalties and not as genuine and reasonable pre-estimates of the damage likely to be suffered as a result of the default in payment of the amount in question;
- (xii) a Singapore court may stay proceedings if concurrent proceedings are brought elsewhere;
- (xiii) provisions as to severability may not be binding under the laws of Singapore and the question of whether or not provisions which are illegal, invalid or unenforceable may be severed from other provisions in order to save such other provisions depends on the nature of the illegality, invalidity or unenforceability in question and would be determined by a Singapore court at its discretion;
- (xiv) a Singapore court may refuse to give effect to clauses in respect of costs of unsuccessful litigation brought before a Singapore court or where the court itself made an order for costs;
- (xv) a Singapore court may refuse to enforce a provision thereof if such enforcement would be incompatible with any principle of Singapore public policy or which is or becomes illegal by the law of a foreign jurisdiction in which it is to be performed or contrary to public policy or exchange control regulations of a foreign jurisdiction;
- (xvi) enforcement may be limited by the provisions of the laws of Singapore applicable to agreements held to have been frustrated by events happening after their execution;
- (xvii) an express choice of law is valid and enforceable provided that the choice of law is bona fide and legal, and the application of the chosen law is not contrary to public policy;
- (xviii) notwithstanding any provisions providing for submission to the jurisdiction of or the exclusive jurisdiction of certain courts or whether or not any court is an inconvenient forum or the most appropriate or convenient court, the courts in Singapore have a discretion as to whether an action may be tried in Singapore;
- (xix) a party to a contract may be able to avoid its obligations under that contract (and may have other remedies) where it has been induced to enter into that contract by a misrepresentation and the courts of Singapore will generally not enforce an obligation if there has been fraud;
- (xx) a Singapore court may refuse to give effect to provisions which would involve the enforcement of foreign revenue or penal or other public laws;
- (xxi) any provision in the Documents which states that amendments to the Documents or waivers of any provisions thereof or defaults thereunder are only effective if made in writing and signed by certain parties, may not be given effect by the courts of Singapore. In particular, failure to exercise a right promptly may operate as a waiver of that right, notwithstanding a "no waiver" provision in the Documents;
- (xxii) any provision in the Documents which involves an indemnity for the costs of litigation is subject to the discretion of the Singapore courts to decide whether and to what extent a party to the litigation should be awarded the costs incurred by it in connection with the litigation;

- (xxiii) notwithstanding any provisions in the Documents which may indicate otherwise, the Documents may not be enforced against persons who are not party to the Documents;
 - (xxiv) the courts of Singapore can give judgments in a currency other than Singapore dollars if, subject to the terms of the contract, it is the currency which most truly expresses the plaintiff's loss. However, we express no opinion on whether the judgment can be enforced in Singapore in that foreign currency;
 - (xxv) any purported waivers of statutory rights or agreements not to sue or agreements to agree or negotiate or consult may not be enforceable under Singapore law; and
 - (xxvi) where it can be shown that the directors of a company were not acting bona fide or in the best interests of that company in connection with an obligation of that company, such obligation may be avoided. It is a question of fact whether there is any benefit to the Group to enter into the Documents and we do not express any opinion as to whether the Singapore courts would determine that there is such.
- (b) This Opinion is not to be taken to imply that a Singapore court will necessarily grant any remedy, the availability of which is subject to equitable considerations or otherwise in the discretion of the court. In particular, an order for specific performance or injunction would not be available where a Singapore court considers damages to be an adequate remedy.
 - (c) We express no opinion as to the tax treatment or consequences of the Documents or the transactions contemplated by the Documents.
 - (d) With regard to the Group's use of AIGC technology, there are currently no laws in Singapore as of 15 May 2025 restricting the use of such technology. However, please note that the Parliamentary Elections Act 1954 ("PEA") imposes restrictions on publishing AIGC during an election period in an electoral division in Singapore. Specifically, it prohibits the publishing of AIGC that depicts an election candidate saying or doing something they did not actually say or do, if it is likely that some members of the public would reasonably believe the candidate did say or do that thing ("Prohibited Content"). Under the PEA, the Returning Officer can issue a written direction ordering the Group to remove or disable access to Prohibited Content. If the Group is classified as a "social media service" under the PEA, failure to comply with such a direction may result in a fine of up to S$1,000,000.
 - (e) We express no opinion as to the laws governing, (i) the use and/or (ii) legal ownership, of content of whatsoever nature and in whatsoever medium generated, created or otherwise produced by or using artificial intelligence in Singapore.
 - (f) The accuracy of information obtained in the Searches depends upon due filing and/or registration of documents by the Company or other third parties obliged to do so.
 - (g) The Searches are not capable of revealing whether or not a winding up petition has been presented. Notice of a winding up order or of a resolution passed for the appointment of a receiver or judicial manager in respect of the Company may not have been filed with the Accounting and Corporate Regulatory Authority (ACRA) immediately upon the occurrence of the same.
 - (h) Any clause in the Documents providing that a person will not be affected by any irregularity or defect may not be effective in all circumstances under Singapore law.
 - (i) Any clause in the Documents providing that the invalidity, illegality or unenforceability of a provision of that document in any jurisdiction will not affect the validity, legality or enforceability in that jurisdiction of any other provision of that document, or the validity, legality or enforceability in other jurisdictions of that or any other provision of that document may not be fully effective under Singapore law.
 - (j) You should seek advice of relevant legal counsel of the relevant jurisdiction outside Singapore as to whether further documentation and/or other formalities are required at such time when any persons are intended to be added as parties to the Documents who are not signatories to the Documents and/or in the event that there is any assignment or transfer by any parties of their rights, benefits and obligations under the Documents.

- (k) The courts of Singapore are bound to follow judicial precedents laid down by the superior courts of Singapore. However, the Court of Appeal, which is the highest court in Singapore, has power to depart from such precedents where adherence will cause injustice in a particular case or constrain the development of law in conformity with the circumstances of Singapore.
 - (l) If it is necessary to initiate any legal proceedings in Singapore by serving a writ outside the jurisdiction, the leave of the Singapore courts (as to which the court has a discretion) would have to be obtained.
 - (m) Any term of a document (other than a deed) may be amended orally if agreed by all the parties notwithstanding provisions to the contrary in the document.
 - (n) This Opinion is given on the basis that there will be no amendment to or termination or replacement of the Documents.
 - (o) The courts in Singapore have supportive and supervisory functions over international arbitrations held in Singapore. The courts of Singapore may intervene in its supportive and supervisory function over international arbitrations held in Singapore to such extent as the International Arbitration Act 1994 of Singapore (the “IAA”) or the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration adopted by the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law on 21st June 1985 (the “Model Law”) provides (including, but not limited to, the power to grant a mandatory stay to give effect to an arbitration agreement).
 - (p) The powers of the arbitral tribunal in the conduct of an international arbitration (which seat is in Singapore) generally consist of those implied by virtue of the office as arbitrator, those conferred on him by the arbitration agreement (including such rules as were adopted but subject to mandatory provisions of the IAA) and those under the IAA and Model Law.
18. This Opinion is strictly limited to the matters stated herein and is not to be read as extending by implication to any other matter in connection with the Documents or otherwise, including but without limitation, any other document signed or to be signed in connection therewith or pursuant thereto.
19. Without limiting any other assumption or reservation made in this Opinion, we have not investigated whether any company is or will by reason of the execution of, or the transactions contemplated by, the Documents or any document referred to therein be in breach of any of its obligations under any authorisation, consent, agreement or document.
20. This Opinion is given on the basis of the laws of Singapore in force as of the date of this Opinion. We undertake no responsibility to notify the Company of any change in the laws of Singapore after the date of this Opinion that may alter, affect or modify the opinion expressed herein.

- (a) subject to the assumptions as stated in Paragraphs 16(i) to 16(m), there are no licences, approvals, registrations, authorisations, permits, certificates, concessions or consents required to conduct the business operations of the Group in Singapore (including through and the Group’s websites) (“Business”);

However, if any AIGC is produced based on an existing copyrighted work in Singapore, and the AIGC comprises a reproduction of the existing copyrighted work, this would constitute a copyright infringement under section 146 of the Copyright Act 2021; and

“物流服务”是指包裹的揽收、派送、退回与退件管理以及与之相关的任何其他增值服务。

- 2.2 Once Shipper accepts this Agreement, Shipper may create or use an account on Dashboard (or its successor), which Shipper acknowledges and agrees to be Ninja’s proprietary software platform and portal for shippers to access and obtain delivery and other services from Ninja.

一旦发件人接受本协议, 其即可在 Ninja 平台 (或其承继方) 上创建或使用一个账户以进行访问和获取 Ninja 提供的物流服务和相关服务。发件人确认并同意该账户是 Ninja 的专有软件平台和门户。

- 2.3 Unless otherwise stated in this Agreement, no title or property rights in the Shipper’s parcels shall pass or be transferred to Ninja.

除非本协议另有约定, 否则发件人之包裹的任何所有权或财产权均不因本协议项下服务而转移或转让予 Ninja。

- 2.4 Ninja has the right to reject or accept partially if the handover volume differs from that stated in the delivery order. The Shipper must acknowledge the quantity of the Parcels handed over by either: (i) signing on the Ninja Driver App electronically (no physical signature is required); or (ii) signing on the proof of delivery. Once acknowledgement has been entered into, the Shipper may not retrieve any part of the Parcel, and parcel pick up is deemed to be completed.

如果发件人交付的包裹数量与订单内约定的包裹数量不符, Ninja 有权拒绝接收或只接收部分包裹。发件人必须通过以下方式确认交付的包裹数量: (i) 在 Ninja Driver App 提供电子签署 (无需线下签名); 或 (ii) 签署交货单。完成前述签署确认后, 发件人可能无法取回包裹的任何部分, 且包裹揽收服务视为已完成。

Shipper shall respond/provide clear instructions to Ninja within 45 days or otherwise agreed by both parties, failing which will be deemed as failure of return and Ninja may proceed as Clause 2.9 of the Agreement.

Proof of delivery may include photographs that the parcel is left at the delivery address.
