Chairman's Statement

Secretary of the Party Committee, Chairman

Mr. Liu Jian

Dear shareholders,

2025 was an extraordinary year. Looking back on the "14th Five-Year Plan" period, China's total economic output has continuously crossed new thresholds, new quality productive forces have surged vigorously, comprehensive deepening of reforms progressed solidly, and achievements in people's livelihood have been satisfied, marking a good start to the new journey towards the "Second Centenary Goal". The successful convening of the Fourth Plenary Session of the 20th CPC Central Committee has drew a blueprint for China's development over the next five years, providing an even broader stage for pursuers. Over the past year, Shenwan Hongyuan actively devoted to the overall endeavor of building a financial powerhouse, growing through exploration, breaking new ground through hard work, and delivering a hard-won and impressive performance. By the end of 2025, Shenwan Hongyuan's total assets exceeded the RMB700 billion threshold with annual net profit reaching RMB10.527 billion. with increase in income from all four primary business segments and steady improvement of development quality and investment value. These achievements are attributable to our pioneering spirit in the face of difficulties, persistent efforts in reform and steadfast commitment to long-term values, marking a vivid footnote to our new journey following 40 years of entrepreneurship.

DEVOTING MORE IN "PRAGMATIC APPROACH" AND FOCUSING ON PRINCIPAL BUSINESS TO SERVE THE REAL ECONOMY, TO CULTIVATE SHENWAN HONGYUAN WITH GREATER EFFECTIVENESS

Better serving scientific and technological innovation and new quality productive forces is not only the era mission shouldered by the capital market but also a strategic opportunity for the securities industry to seize the initiative in development. Grounded in the solid foundation of the real economy and adhering to the strategic cornerstone of expanding domestic demand, we are firmly positioned in our triple role: as the primary service provider for direct financing, a key gatekeeper for the capital market and a professional manager of social wealth, to contribute the vital force of finance to matters of paramount national importance and issues of great public concern. We have resolutely prioritized the service to the "Five Priorities" on finance. We initiated the establishment of Xinjiang's first science and technology innovation fund, launched the industry's first "New Quality Productive Forces Index (新質生產力指數)" the STAR Market White Paper 2025 (《科創板白皮書2025》). We have leveraged the advantages of private equity funds in supporting scientific and technological innovation, made strategic investments in a batch of green and digital intelligence enterprises, provided market-making services for the first batch of science and technology innovation bond ETFs, enriched the pension product system, achieved an annual underwriting volume of over RMB980 billion for equities and bonds, maintained an investment balance of nearly RMB500 billion in equities and bonds, and guided resources toward strategically critical sectors and weak links within the industrial and supply chains. We have taken the lead in guiding and unleashing the market-stabilizing and market-boosting effects. By diversifying investment instruments and wealth management portfolios, and highlighting the inclusiveness and accessibility of financial services, we assisted in increasing residents' property income. By actively engaging in major events and mainstream media, we enhanced the stability of investment behavior, leveraged the role of futures and derivatives in ensuring supply and stabilizing prices, and built up the strength of patient capital. We launched an investor education AI platform, with our investor education efforts once again receiving the industry's highest Class A rating. We have served the high-level two-way opening-up with greater intensity. We safeguarded Chinese assets for listing on the Hong Kong capital market through professional services. The scale, volume and layout of offshore investment banking financing have comprehensively leaped forward. Acting as the vital bridge for "investment from China" and "investment in China", we achieved breakthroughs in both scale and benefits of cross-border wealth management, whilst cross-border trading covers the full range of equity, fixed income and commodity products in both northbound and southbound flows.

PLACING GREATER EMPHASIS ON "INNOVATION" AND DEEPENING TRANSFORMATION BENCHMARKING THE FIRST-CLASS ENTERPRISE, TO FORGE SHENWAN HONGYUAN WITH A STRONGER CORE

The increasing inclusiveness and adaptability of the capital market have given rise to more complex and diverse client needs, driving a profound transformation in the industry's profit model from a channel-based, scale-oriented competition to an integrated, one-stop service model. Faced with this comprehensive competition of capabilities and abilities, we have deeply studied the development laws of first-class investment banks, took advantages of our strengths, addressed weaknesses, strengthened underperforming areas, and consolidated our core, aiming to seize new opportunities amid changing landscapes and forge new paths through challenges. We deeply explored opportunities in real economy industries through "research + investment + investment banking". Focusing on cultivating emerging industries, proactively positioning future industries, and innovating and transforming traditional industries, we enhanced our capabilities in risk pricing, value discovery and resource integration based on industrial chains. The equity and debt underwriting business has achieved a comprehensive advancement, and highlights such as mergers, acquisitions and restructurings, Hong Kong IPOs and offshore bond underwriting have emerged. Our commitment to inclusive finance has deepened, and "technology content" has become increasingly prominent. We grasped the residents' wealth management opportunities through "research + wealth + asset management". Focusing on value creation and long-term companionship, we are dedicated to forge five core competencies of channel power, service power, product power, digital power and management power, providing more competitive and diversified wealth management products. The retained scale of public fund investment advisory business significantly increased by 80%, and the supply of medium and low-risk products such as structured notes was strengthened. We undertook the entry opportunities of medium and long-term capital through "research + trading + institutions". Relying on the advantages of Shenwan Hongyuan in investment and trading and product creation, we significantly expanded our reach to comprehensively address the asset allocation and risk management needs of medium and long-term capital. Cross trade businesses such as product creation, OTC derivatives and investment advisory entrustment have reached new highs, and the multi-level product matrix and risk management toolbox have become increasingly complete.

MAKING MORE ACHIEVEMENTS IN "EXCELLENCE" AND ADVANCING REFORM AND INNOVATION WITH FIRM AND RESONANT STEPS, TO INSPIRE A MORE DYNAMIC SHENWAN HONGYUAN

As we navigate this critical period of uphill transformation, we were addressing the market's pressing challenges such as digital-intelligence transformation, cost reduction and efficiency enhancement, and resource integration through pivotal reforms. We have promoted the structural streamlining and strengthening through innovated organizations and systems. With a focus on strengthening governance, optimizing management and enhancing core competitiveness, we have completed the reform of the Board of Supervisors, integrated and consolidated management institutions, optimized the structure of key business structures such as wealth management and investment banking, and enhanced the management mechanism at subsidiary level with penetration management and support empowerment. The competitiveness of our subsidiaries continued to improve. We have enhanced efficiency and quality through digital and intelligent transformation. Generative AI, represented by large models, is permeating the securities industry and reshaping the whole business chain. We have formulated a new round of financial technology plan, established the "AI+" strategy, launched key systems and platforms covering core business areas such as retail, institutions and trading, thereby deepening the synergistic integration between business and technology. We have united hearts and demonstrated our responsibility through cultural brand. With the value of "faith and responsibility, pursuing innovation on the basis of what has worked in the past, and pursuit of excellence", we have built a consensus on the concept of "One Shenwan Hongyuan". The atmosphere of courage to take responsibilities has become increasingly strong, which has led to continuous improvement in personnel orientation, talent echelon, and incentives and constraints, and injected fresh vitality into the internal driving force of the organization.

ACHIEVING GREATER RESULTS IN "ENHANCEMENT" AND STEADILY IMPROVING THE QUALITY OF DEVELOPMENT, TO FORGE A MORE RESILIENT SHENWAN HONGYUAN

As a professional institution that carries forward the legacy of China's capital market, we have consistently maintained strategic positioning, and regarded long-termism and prudent operation as the golden key throughout the life cycles. We were neither advancing rashly nor acting impulsively, but made down-to-earth efforts, and achieved fruitful results of high-quality development. Stronger foundation – Systematical enhancement of our risk management capability. We have always integrated the Party leadership into the whole process of operation and management, continuously improved best practices in corporate governance, and maintained an A rating for information disclosure supervision. We have consolidated our compliance and risk control systems, and continuously improved our mechanisms for risk identification and stress testing, with core indicators exceeding industry standards. We have solidly promoted our progress in "reducing existing risks, curtailing incremental risks and preventing variable risks" (減存遏增防變). Better benefits – ladder-like improvement of operating performance. Throughout the year, the weighted average ROE increased by 3.68 percentage points year-on-year, operating performance has been solidly improved, the cost to expense ratio continued to decline, and the level of capital return steadily increased. Enhanced value – deeper enhancement of shareholder returns. We always adhere to value management, insist on authentic performance, pursue a more balanced and diversified business structure, and continuously share stable growth results with shareholders. The total cash dividend for the year set a decade-high, and the ESG rating has continuously improved, demonstrating tangible progress in sustainable development.

TURNING THE BLUEPRINT INTO REALITY TO PAVE THE WAY TOWARDS SHENWAN HONGYUAN WORTHY OF OUR TIME

As we step into the "15th Five-Year Plan" period, the certainty of China's economy is injecting positive energy into the world; scientific and technological innovation is continuously enhancing the appeal of Chinese assets; the capital market guides the concentration of more factors and resources toward new quality productive forces; comprehensive investment and financing reforms centered on investors will promote the quality enhancement and coverage broadening of household wealth management; the market stabilization mechanism with Chinese characteristics will foster a market ecosystem conducive to long-term capital and investment; and the wave of digital intelligence transformation will reshape the industry's ecosystem and business models, presenting the securities industry with a new strategic window of opportunity amid complex and shifting circumstances.

A sharp beginning demands a well-conceived end; a successful endeavor starts with a solid plan. Standing at this pivotal moment of carrying forward the legacy, Shenwan Hongyuan remains committed to seeing our blueprint through to the end. More importantly, with a spirit of historical initiative, we are aligning ourselves with the strategic vision of the "15th Five-Year Plan", striving to transform this "list of opportunities" into concrete leverage points for financial services to drive high-quality development. We are positioning the development of industrial investment banking, trading investment banking and wealth management investment banking as the primary engines of our new round of strategic development, and accelerating the pace of building a first-class investment bank and investment institution, thereby infusing fresh meaning into the "investment + investment banking" strategy we have been cultivating for a decade.

Dreams propel us forward, and tangible results are our final testament. As the "15th Five-Year Plan" period gets underway, we will establish and practice the correct concept of political achievement. By deeply grasping the political and people-centered nature of financial work, we will be resolute activists and pragmatic doers, contributing the "strength of Shenwan Hongyuan" to the high-quality development of the Chinese economy. We will hone our internal capabilities and strengthen our competencies by balancing functionality with profitability, adhering to the principle of laying foundations and benefiting the long term, and give back to our clients and shareholders with the "value of Shenwan Hongyuan". We will accelerate internal potential tapping and business transformation through a deep integration with financial technology, making high-quality financial services more equitable, efficient and accessible, and serving the people's pursuit of a better life through "wisdom of Shenwan Hongyuan". We will help employees realize their dreams by building an ideal career platform, and supporting the future of every striver through the "home of Shenwan Hongyuan". The blueprint has been drawn; now is the time to forge ahead. With confidence, we will embark on a new journey and contribute to the new era through greater efficiency, higher quality and more sustainable development.

Section III Report of the Board

I. INDUSTRY OF THE COMPANY DURING THE REPORTING PERIOD

(I) Basic Information of the Industry of the Company

2025 is the last year for achieving the goals and tasks of the "14th Five-Year" Plan. Facing a complex international situation and arduous domestic tasks of reform, development and stability, under the strong leadership of the Party Central Committee, China's economy steadily improved, high-quality development was solidly advanced, and the expected economic growth target for the year was successfully achieved. The Party Central Committee and the State Council have always attached great importance to the development of the capital market. With the coordinated efforts of investment and financing as the core, landmark measures such as the "1+6" reform of the STAR Market and the "Six Rules for Managers and Acquisitions" were introduced to remove institutional bottlenecks and strengthen the hub function of the capital market. During the Reporting Period, the operation of the securities market continued to develop in a positive direction, and the major indexes fluctuated upward, with the CSI 300 Index, the SSE Index and the ChiNext Price Index increasing by 17.70%, 18.41% and 49.60%, respectively, and market trading activity increasing significantly. In a context of an improving capital market environment, the performance of the securities industry showed a significant recovery in 2025, the brokerage and investment business became an important performance growth point, and the securities industry was showing a positive trend as a whole.

During the Reporting Period, the securities industry in the PRC showed three major development characteristics:

1. The investment and financing functions of the capital market continued to improve, laying the foundation for the high-quality development of the industry

In 2025, regulatory authorities systematically advanced the deepening of comprehensive investment and financing reforms in the capital market from aspects such as guiding medium and long-term funds to enter the market, deepening the reform of the STAR Market, strengthening the governance of listed companies, deepening the reform of securities investment funds, expanding opening up, and enhancing investor protection, to improve the functions of the capital market and promote its long-term stable development. Based on the New "National Nine Guidelines" (新「國九條」), the "1+N" policy system of the capital market has been continuously expanded, laying a foundation for building a benign ecology for the development of the capital market. The CSRC, in conjunction with relevant authorities, formulated and revised a number of supporting documents, systems and rules, systematically reshaping the basic system of the capital market, and enhancing the comprehensive service capabilities of the multi-level capital market system. During the Reporting Period, the Fourth Plenary Session of the 20th Central Committee of the Communist Party clearly required to "enhance the inclusiveness and adaptability of the capital market system, and improve the capital market functions that coordinate investment and financing", which pointed out the direction for the reform and development of the capital market in the coming period. With the continuous improvement of the basic system construction of the capital market and the continuous optimization of the market ecology, the securities industry has ushered in a new stage of high-quality development.

2. The industry constantly strengthened its functional positioning and improved the quality and efficiency of financial services

The securities industry adhered to a "functional" positioning, accelerating its shift from simply pursuing scale and profit expansion to prioritizing functionality, and earnestly playing its role in serving the real economy to enhance the quality and efficiency of financial services. The securities industry actively played the role of a good "gatekeeper" of the capital market and a "service provider" of direct financing. While optimizing the social financing structure, the securities industry enhanced the quality of listed companies from the source and improved the ability to allocate global resources. In response to the needs of domestic enterprises to "go global" and integrate their industrial chains, by actively seizing the opportunities of cross-border mergers and acquisitions by Chinese enterprises, and taking advantage of the upsurge of the return of Chinese concept stocks, Chinese enterprises were provided a package of services including sponsorship and listing, issuance and underwriting, as well as rights issue, US dollar bonds, convertible bonds, etc. for returning to Hong Kong and the A-share market for listing and financing. The securities industry actively played the role of the "manager" of social wealth, accelerated the improvement of wealth management service capabilities, sped up the transformation from product sales to asset allocation and wealth planning, optimized the wealth management service system, actively built a multi-level buy-side investment consulting allocation service system, provided professional and objective consultation and suggestions for investors, and enabled them to obtain medium and long-term returns through medium and long-term investment in the capital market. The securities industry also continued to deepen its fulfillment of social responsibilities, focused on five major areas, including industrial revitalization, talent revitalization, cultural revitalization, ecological revitalization and organizational revitalization, actively carried out financial assistance work, closely integrated the service of national strategies with industry development, and struck a balance between functionality and profitability.

3. A new round of industry mergers, acquisitions and restructurings continued, accelerating differentiated and characteristic development

Mergers, acquisitions and restructurings are powerful measures to better leverage industry functions, enhance professional service capabilities of the industry, and form a differentiated industry development pattern. Regulatory authorities have repeatedly and explicitly supported the expansion and strengthening of securities companies through mergers, acquisitions and restructurings. Under the support of a series of policies, many securities companies chose to grow stronger through mergers, acquisitions and restructurings, implemented differentiated and specialized development, and promoted the reshaping of the competitive landscape in the securities industry. Large securities companies further shored up their shortcomings and consolidated their advantages through mergers, acquisitions and restructurings, and rapidly grew stronger by benchmarking against world-class investment banks. Small and medium-sized securities companies achieved resource integration and business synergy through mergers and acquisitions, further focused on development priorities, and followed a regionalized, specialized and intensive development path to form differentiated competitive advantages. The securities industry enhanced the overall competitiveness in the process of increasing concentration. It is expected to form a coexistence pattern of large-scale leading securities companies and top-quality small and medium-sized securities companies in the future.

(II) Industry Position of the Company

As a comprehensive financial service provider based on the capital market, the Company has witnessed the development of the securities industry of the PRC, experienced multiple market cycles, established a long-standing, comprehensive and high-quality leading position in the securities industry of China, and deeply served national strategies and contributed to the high-quality development of the real economy. The Company fully exerts the dual structure advantages of "investment holding group + securities subsidiaries", upholds steady operation and strict risk control, and with the focus on the needs of customers of corporate finance, personal finance, institutional services and trading as well as investment management, etc., the Company constantly enriches the investment business fields, optimizes the asset allocation structure, deepens and accelerates the business coordination and continues to improve the sustainable development investment model, to strive to create a closed loop of comprehensive financial services.

During the Reporting Period, the Company thoroughly implemented the decisions and arrangements of the CPC Central Committee and the State Council, practiced the political and people-oriented nature of financial work, firmly adhered to the general tone of seeking progress while maintaining stability, persisted in returning to its roots, strengthened main responsibilities and optimized main businesses, built a comprehensive financial service system matching the development of new quality productive forces and the construction of modern industrial system, and continuously implemented the important achievements of serving the "Five Priorities" on finance; seized major opportunities of capital market reform, strengthened the performance of its duties as a major "service provider" of direct financing, an important "gatekeeper" of the capital market and a professional "manager" of social wealth, and effectively assisted in the full play of the functions of the capital market and the continuous improvement of the functions of financial infrastructure; deeply promoted business development and reform and transformation, resolutely adhered to the bottom line of avoiding major risks, and unswervingly followed the path of financial development with Chinese characteristics. The market competitiveness has been continuously enhanced, achieving rapid growth in business performance and steady progress in high-quality development.

(III) Major Impact of Newly Promulgated Laws, Administrative Regulations, Departmental Rules and Industry Policies on the Industry

In 2025, the "1+N" system of the capital market centered on the New "National Nine Guidelines" (新「國九條」) has been continuously improved, and various deepening reform measures aimed at enhancing the investment and financing functions of the capital market have been continuously introduced. In terms of basic system construction, the deepening reform of the STAR Market and the ChiNext Board has been advanced, enhancing the inclusiveness of the issuance and listing system for diverse financing needs. The CSRC amended the Measures for the Administration of the Material Asset Restructurings of Listed Companies, implemented the core initiatives of the "Six Rules for Managers and Acquisitions", and guided listed companies to carry out industrial chain integration around core technologies. Moreover, reforms such as the expansion of science and technology innovation bonds and commercial real estate REITs were advanced simultaneously, promoting the innovation and expansion of financing instruments. In terms of guiding medium and long-term funds into the market, the Implementation Plan for Promoting the Entry of Medium and Long-Term Funds into the Market was issued to systematically promote the entry of various types of medium and long-term funds into the market. Long-term assessment has been fully implemented, and insurance companies, public funds and other institutions were encouraged to establish long-term assessment mechanisms of more than three years, guiding funds to break free from the shackles of short-term performance and focus on long-term value investment. The three-stage fee rate reform of mutual funds has been completed, and the fee rates have steadily declined. In terms of improving the quality of listed companies, the CSRC has amended and released the Code of Corporate Governance for Listed Companies and the Administrative Measures for Information Disclosure of Listed Companies, and introduced the Regulations on the Supervision and Administration of Listed Companies (Draft for Public Comments), improving the requirements for corporate governance, and promoting the quality improvement of listed companies. In terms of dual opening up, policies have been introduced to support qualified foreign institutional investors and RMB qualified foreign institutional investors in participating in stock option trading, as well as foreign institutional investors in conducting bond repurchase business. The qualified foreign investor system has been comprehensively optimized. The pilot projects for opening up the capital market in Hainan Free Trade Port and Lingang New Area of Shanghai Pilot Free Trade Zone have been continuously advanced.

XI. FUTURE DEVELOPMENT PROSPECTS

(I) Industry Landscape and Trends

The year 2026 marks the start of the "15th Five-Year Plan" and is a crucial year for comprehensively deepening reforms. The capital market will coordinate the balanced development of investment and financing, actively develop direct financing channels such as equity and bonds, steadily expand high-level institutional opening-up of the capital market, and foster a market ecosystem that is safe, standardized, transparent, vibrant and resilient. The securities industry will continue to support the capital market in serving high-quality economic development, playing an increasingly vital role in serving new quality productive forces, modern industrial systems, preserving and increasing residents' wealth, and preventing and resolving major risks. Four key development trends are expected for the securities industry in the future.

Firstly, the securities industry will continue to reinforce its functional positioning, prioritize functionality, and enhanced the quality and efficiency of securities firms in serving the real economy, residents' wealth management, financial powerhouse and capital market, better balancing functionality and profitability. Focusing on enhancing the capital market's inclusiveness and adaptability, securities firms will actively seize opportunities presented by deepening reforms in the STAR Market and ChiNext Board, develop service models tailored to enterprises in key sectors, improve their ability to identify, nurture and price innovative elements and assets, and cultivate and select more genuine hard technology companies for the capital market from the source.

Secondly, the securities industry is entering a new phase of high-quality development. Driven by industry mergers, acquisitions and restructurings and accelerated proactive business transformation, the development of securities industry will enter a new stage of quality improvement and efficiency enhancement. On the one hand, the competitive landscape will be optimized, potentially forming a structure where leading firms take the lead while smaller securities firms pursue differentiated development, with the industry's scale and revenue-generating capacity continuing to grow. On the other hand, the industry's professional standards and service capabilities will significantly improve, enhancing its influence within the broader financial sector.

Thirdly, the securities industry will intensify international expansion to better serve market opening, meet robust corporate outbound investment demand and strong cross-border asset allocation needs from residents, advance high-quality development in cross-border investment banking, wealth management, and other businesses, refine the comprehensive cross-border financial service system spanning domestic and international markets, and accelerated deployment in key regions, including "Belt and Road Initiative" partner countries, Europe, the United States and the Middle East, to better serve the investment from China and the investment in China.

Fourthly, the securities industry will seize the significant development opportunities brought by capital market reforms to achieve breakthrough growth across multiple business areas. In wealth management, the securities industry is poised to actively seize opportunities arising from the shift of household savings toward investment. It will expand its footprint in the public fund asset management sector, leverage its product creation capabilities, and drive the proactive, public offering, equity-oriented and differentiated development of asset management businesses. This will be achieved by strengthening active management and refining product design, with a particular focus on increasing the supply of low-volatility, allocation-type products to better meet investors' demand for stable medium-to-long-term returns. In trading services, securities firms will proactively address the diverse trading demands of multiple market participants amid rising trading volumes. They will accelerate the transformation of trading operations toward a client-driven model characterized by "non-directional, low-volatility" strategies, improve hedging-oriented investment trading systems, and provide more risk management tools to support the sustained and stable development of capital markets. In comprehensive services for listed companies, securities firms will engage more deeply and sustainably in value creation for listed companies. They will provide professional capital operation support, assist listed companies in strategically utilizing a suite of market capitalization management tools, including M&A restructuring, equity incentives, employee stock ownership plans and cash dividends, to help listed companies grow larger, stronger and more competitive.

(IV) Potential Risks and Countermeasures

According to the analysis on the macroeconomic situation, industry development trend, regulatory environment and the Company's own conditions, the Company's major risk factors are mainly market risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, operational risk, policy risk, legal compliance risk, risk of innovative businesses, reputation risk and exchange rate risk.

1. Market risk

Market risk exposure is mainly concentrated in the proprietary investment business and other related business segments. During the Reporting Period, all investment businesses achieved relatively stable returns generally. At the end of the period, the VaR (95% for one day) of the proprietary investment business of Shenwan Hongyuan Securities (including subsidiaries) was RMB316 million.

The current external environment is complex, with persistent geopolitical risks and insufficient global economic growth momentum. China's economic development still faces the challenges of insufficient effective demand and weakening expectations, uncertainty factors increases and market risk management faces great challenges.

The countermeasures taken by the Company include but are not limited to: (1) closely monitoring the macroeconomic situation and financial evolution trends, strengthening the follow-up analysis and research and judgment on the changes in macroeconomic data, deepening the research on the risk characteristics and future change trends of large-scale assets, dynamically adjusting portfolio exposures and making timely and proactive responses; (2) optimizing a quantitative risk indicator assessment system, including risk measurement indicators such as VaR, beta, volatility, Greek letters, interest rate basis point value, duration and investment concentration, and utilizing a combination of various methods or tools such as stress test and sensitivity analysis for measurement and assessment; (3) continuously improving the multi-level risk control indicators system of "risk appetite – risk tolerance – risk limit", covering equity proprietary investment, non-equity proprietary investment, derivatives and other types of business exposed to market risk; (4) establishing the whole-process management mechanism of models, strengthening model validation and model risk assessment, enhancing the backtest and inspection of VaR model of various financial assets, and fully playing the role of VaR model in asset portfolio risk management; (5) conducting dynamic monitoring and graded pre-warning of risk control indicators, measuring and monitoring market risk limit-related indicators on a daily basis, conducting a comprehensive dynamic assessment of the Company's overall market risk, and taking effective countermeasures on a timely basis; and (6) prior to the launch of major investment projects, strictly carrying out the project risk analysis, and having the risk control department issue risk assessment reports independently.

2. Credit risk

Credit risk exposure mainly existed in the areas of financing business, fixed-income proprietary business and OTC derivatives trading business. During the Reporting Period, the Company dynamically updated and optimized the internal rating model, optimized and improved the analysis and monitoring of regional risks in urban investment, and enhanced the risk monitoring for financing-related businesses. There were no material credit risk events, and all business operations remained generally stable.

The domestic credit market currently exhibits overall low interest rates, with credit spreads at historically low levels, yet significant structural divergence persists. The government has launched a series of debt resolution policies and property stabilization policies, which have significantly reduced the pressure on local debt and improved the credit market environment. However, real estate, urban investment and small and medium-sized financial institutions are still the main sources of risk in the credit market, and the situation of credit risk prevention and control remains severe.

The countermeasures taken by the Company include but are not limited to: (1) continuing to optimize the unified internal rating system of the Company and its subsidiaries, strengthening the access management of business entities, and requiring all business entities with credit risk exposure to meet the unified internal rating access standards of the Company; (2) implementing the unified same customer management and control mechanism with the de facto controller as the main body to achieve the unified credit extension of the same customer within the scope of the Company and its subsidiaries; (3) monitoring negative public sentiment information across the market, establishing default pre-warning mechanism based on secondary market prices, corporate interest spreads, implied ratings and other information, and applying the monitoring and warning results to credit risk management practices such as updating of rating results, adjustment of credit lines, and restrictions on access to negative list; (4) taking targeted credit risk control measures for key businesses: ① for financing business, continuing to optimize the financing business structure, focusing on the analysis of credit status and repayment ability of financing entities, controlling the concentration of financing targets, strengthening dynamic mark-to-market, and implementing counter-cyclical management; ② for debt securities investments, allocating bonds with high credit rating and good liquidity, improving the bond credit rating center, following up on regulatory policies and market changes in a timely manner, and optimizing quantitative indicators such as risk limits; ③ for OTC derivatives business, improving the risk limit indicators and pre-approval criteria, optimizing financial models such as credit extension, default risk exposure measurement and deposits measurement, enhancing the mark-to-market management of performance deposits, and improving the pressure test mechanism of credit risk of counterparties; and (5) establishing a risk asset disposal management process to promptly address credit risk projects through multiple approaches, including additional collateral, realization of collateral, early termination of contract and litigation recovery.

3. Liquidity risk

During the Reporting Period, the central bank implemented moderately accommodative monetary policies through measures such as reserve requirement ratio cuts, interest rate reductions and structural monetary policy tools, which stabilized financial markets and supported the sustained recovery and improvement of the economy. For the liquidity risk, on the one hand, the Company continuously improved its liquidity reserve management system, strengthened the total amount and structure management of high-quality liquidity assets and had relatively sufficient liquidity reserve; on the other hand, taking into consideration the macro market environment, the Company reasonably adjusted the proportion of assets with various maturity periods, balanced the distribution of debt maturities, increased the diversity of financing channels, optimized the structure of liability maturities, dynamically monitored cash flow gaps and carried out the liquidity risk emergency plan drills, thus effectively preventing the occurrence of liquidity risk. During the Reporting Period, the Company's liquidity risk remained generally under control, with both the liquidity coverage ratio (LCR) and net stable funding ratio (NSFR) meeting regulatory standards. Key tasks for the central bank in 2026 include continuing to implement appropriately accommodative monetary policies, flexibly and efficiently utilizing various monetary policy tools such as reserve requirement ratio cuts and interest rate reductions, and maintaining relatively loose social financing conditions. However, attention must be paid to uncertainties arising from changes in monetary policies of major overseas economies.

The countermeasures taken by the Company include but are not limited to: (1) strengthening research and judgment of financial market conditions, closely following monetary policy trends of the central bank, making comprehensive capital planning, and continuously optimizing the structure of high-quality current assets to ensure the Company's business capital needs and debt repayment; (2) strengthening the dynamic monitoring of liquidity risk status, continuously tracking and evaluating the information including liquidity regulatory indicators, cash flow gap and liquidity reserve, and carrying out liquidity risk pre-warning work; (3) optimizing the liquidity risk measurement model, improving the capabilities to predict changes in cash flow from operations and analyze gaps; (4) conducting stress test of liquidity risk on a regular basis to assess liquidity pressure in the event of substantial expansion of business scale and extreme market changes, strengthening the stress assessment on liquidity risk of the OTC derivatives business, and preparing response plans for liquidity impact in advance; (5) assessing the Company's response to liquidity risk, continuously perfecting liquidity emergency scenarios, improving the practical performance of emergency drills and enhancing Company's capabilities to respond to liquidity crisis by conducting liquidity risk emergency drills; and (6) improving liquidity risk limit indicators of subsidiaries and enhancing daily risk monitoring to strengthen the liquidity risks management of subsidiaries.

- investment banking services – the fees are determined with reference to factors including the market fee rates for projects of a similar type for the last half year and the amount of proceeds raised from the offering through competitive bidding, business negotiation or based on arm's length negotiation; with respect to the underwriting fee rates for fixed-income products (including corporate bonds, company bonds, asset securitisation products, etc.), the fees are mainly determined through negotiations with issuer or competitive bidding according to the issuer, type and term of bonds;

with respect to the pricing for investment banking business, the CSRC published the Guidance on Internal Control of Investment Banking Business of Securities Companies (《證券公司投資銀行業務內部控制指引》) in 2018, pursuant to which in carrying out investment banking business, securities companies shall determine the price reasonably based on comprehensive assessment of execution cost. The price of the investment banking business of the Company is subject to regulation by the CSRC;

The market rates for these services are generally transparent across the market. The rates charged by the Group for the subsisting asset management services are basically consistent with the market rates and generally in the range of 0.01% to 3%; and

- other comprehensive securities and financial advisory and consulting services – such services are determined based on arm's length negotiation with reference to the market rates for transactions of similar type and size for the last half year.

XIX. CAPITAL ADEQUACY OF SHENWAN HONGYUAN SECURITIES, A SUBSIDIARY OF THE COMPANY

(I) Satisfaction of capital adequacy standards

Shenwan Hongyuan Securities proactively expands various financing channels to enhance capital strength, guarantee capital needs for business development, and enable the Company's capital level to continue to meet regulatory requirements.

(II) Internal capital adequacy assessment process

Shenwan Hongyuan Securities reasonably assesses internal capital adequacy and determines capital replenishment mechanisms based on a number of factors including macroeconomic operation conditions, the development of the securities market and changes in businesses, as well as capital level and regulatory requirements. In the internal capital assessment process, Shenwan Hongyuan Securities determines the periodical asset allocation scale of each business through the asset allocation and adjustment mechanism within the operating investment budget with the largest annual budget. The Company determines the corresponding capital replenishment plan based on the asset allocation results and the existing capital level.

Shenwan Hongyuan Securities regularly conducts stress tests based on changes in market operations and regulatory requirements. By testing the pressure of internal capital level under different risk conditions, it determines its capital replenishment plan to enhance the risk tolerance of capital level and ensure its long-term healthy and stable development.

(III) Main internal and external risk factors affecting capital adequacy

Given the relatively limited channels for securities firms to replenish capital, if high-risk investment operations expand too rapidly, causing risk capital reserves to surge significantly in the short term, capital adequacy may face the risk of decline.

1. Risk factors affecting net capital

Due to the relatively limited financing channels available to securities firms, the slow growth in net capital has become one of the key factors contributing to the decline in capital adequacy. The replenishment of the net capital mainly consists of the following methods: (1) accumulation of own profits; (2) capital increase through shareholders; (3) financing in the public market including issuance of shares and subordinated bonds; (4) issuance of preferred shares, etc.

Shenwan Hongyuan Securities is actively replenishing capital through multiple channels, including capital increase through shareholders. Additionally, in addition to the issuance of perpetual bonds and subordinated bonds, Shenwan Hongyuan Securities will also accelerate the exploration of preferred shares and convertible bonds so as to broaden capital replenishment channels and maintain adequate capital levels.

2. Factors affecting risk capital reserves

(1) Rapid increase in risk capital reserves arising from business expansion

In recent years, Shenwan Hongyuan Securities' business has expanded at a rapid rate. The rapid development of financing business, securities proprietary business, and derivative financial products has brought promising development opportunity for the company but also an increase in risk capital reserves, causing the risk of a decline in the capital adequacy.

(2) Policy uncertainty risk

In the future, policy changes will bring certain uncertainty to the withdrawal of Shenwan Hongyuan Securities' risk capital reserves. Changes in the calculation standards for risk capital reserves may directly affect the value of risk capital reserves. For certain capital intermediary businesses and emerging businesses, regulators may increase the corresponding standards on provision for risk capital reserves for the sake of prudent regulation, thereby bringing certain risks.

At present, Shenwan Hongyuan Securities has established a capital replenishment mechanism. When the risk control indicators, such as net capital, reach the early warning standard, Shenwan Hongyuan Securities will use methods to replenish capital by compressing the type or scale of higher-risk proprietary investment products, adjusting the business operation plan, and issuing subordinated bonds.

(IV) Changes in paid-up capital or ordinary shares and other capital instruments

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

<tr><th colspan="2">Valuation of financial instruments held at fair value classified under Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy</th></tr>
<tr><td colspan="2">Refer to Notes 3(9) and 57 to the consolidated financial statements.</td></tr>
<tr><th>The Key Audit Matter</th><th>How the matter was addressed in our audit</th></tr>
<tr><td>The Group's financial instruments held at fair value included those classified under Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy ("Level 3 Financial Instruments"), which were measured using valuation techniques that involve significant inputs that were not based on observable market data ("unobservable inputs").

We identified the valuation of Level 3 Financial Instruments as a key audit matter because of the significance of their amounts and the degree of complexity involved and the significant judgement exercised by management in the valuation process, including the selection of unobservable inputs.</td><td>Our audit procedures to assess the fair value of Level 3 Financial Instruments included the following:
assessing and evaluating the design, implementation and operating effectiveness of key internal controls over the valuation process including the valuation model approval for financial instruments;
reading investment agreements of Level 3 Financial Instruments entered into, on a sample basis, to understand the relevant investment terms and identifying any conditions that were relevant to the valuation of financial instruments;
With the assistance of our internal valuation specialists, evaluating the valuation of level 3 financial instruments on a sample basis, including assessing the appropriateness of the valuation models, evaluating the reasonableness of the inputs used and performing parallel valuations; and assessing the reasonableness of the disclosures in the consolidated financial statements reflected the Group's exposure to financial instrument valuation risk with reference to the requirements of the applicable accounting standards.</td></tr>

Consolidation of structured entities
Refer to Notes 3(3) and 53 to the consolidated financial statements.
The Key Audit Matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
Structured entities are generally created to achieve a narrow and well-defined objective with restrictions around their ongoing activities. The Group may acquire or retain an ownership interest in, or act as a sponsor of, a structured entity through issuing or acquiring a wealth management product, an investment fund, an asset management scheme, a trust scheme or an asset-backed security. In determining whether a structured entity is required to be consolidated by the Group, management is required to consider the power the Group is able to exercise over the activities of the entity and its exposure to and ability to affect its own returns from the entity. The factors which management needs to consider when determining whether a structured entity should be consolidated or not are not purely quantitative and need to be considered collectively.	Our audit procedures to assess the consolidation of structured entities included the following: • making enquiries of management and inspecting relevant documents used by management relating to the judgement process over whether a structured entity is consolidated or not to assess whether the Group has an appropriate process in this regard; • selecting a sample of structured entities for each key product type and performing the following procedures for each item selected: - inspecting the related contracts and internal establishment documents and information disclosed to the investors, to understand the purpose of the establishment of the structured entity and the involvement the Group has with the structured entity and to assess management's judgement over whether the Group has the ability to exercise power over the structured entity; - inspecting the risk and reward structure of the structured entity including any capital or return guarantee, commission paid and distribution of the returns to assess management's judgement as to exposure, or rights, to variable returns from the Group's involvement in such an entity;

Refer to Notes 3(3) and 53 to the consolidated financial statements.
The Key Audit Matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
We identified the consolidation of structured entities as a key audit matter due to the significant judgements exercised by management in assessing whether the Group had control over the structured entities, and the amount of the structured entities managed or invested by the Group.	- inspecting management's analysis of the structured entity including qualitative analysis and the calculations of the magnitude and variability associated with its economic interests in the structured entity to assess management's judgement over the Group's ability to influence its own returns from the structured entity; - assessing management's judgement over whether the structured entity should be consolidated or not; and • assessing the reasonableness of disclosures in the financial statements in relation to consolidation of structured entities with reference to the requirements of the prevailing accounting standards.

Expected credit loss allowance for margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income
Refer to Notes 3(6), 3(7), 3(10), 3(11), 14, 24, 25, 26, 33 and 58(1) to the consolidated financial statements.
The Key Audit Matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
The measurement of expected credit loss allowance for margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income using the expected credit loss ("ECL") model is subject to a number of key parameters and assumptions, including the identification of loss stages, estimates of probability of default, loss given default, exposures at default , discount rate and forward-looking adjustment. Management judgement is involved in the selection of those parameters and the application of the assumptions. Management applied a three–stage ECL model to calculate their ECLs. For such financial assets classified under stages 1 and 2, management assessed credit loss allowances using ECL model that incorporated key parameters, including probability of default, loss given default and exposure at default. For credit-impaired financial assets classified under stage 3, management assessed the credit loss allowances by estimating the cash flows expected to be received from the financial assets.	Our audit procedures to assess ECL allowance of margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income included the following: • understanding and assessing the design, implementation and operating effectiveness of key internal controls over the approval, recording, monitoring, classification process and accrual of ECL allowance of margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income, the measurement of ECL allowances, • with the assistance of KPMG financial risk management specialists, assessing the appropriateness of the ECL model and key assumptions and parameters used by management in determining ECL allowance, including the identification of loss stages, probability of default, loss given default, exposure at default, discount rate , adjustments for forward-looking information, assessing the reasonableness of significant management judgement involved on a sample basis;

Expected credit loss allowance for margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (continued)
Refer to Notes 3(6), 3(7), 3(10), 3(11), 14, 24, 25, 26, 33 and 58(1) to the consolidated financial statements.
The Key Audit Matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
The measurement of ECL allowance involves significant management judgements and assumptions, primarily including: (1) selection of the appropriate ECL models and application of related parameters; (2) determination of the criteria for a significant increase in credit risk ("SICR"), definition of default and credit impairment; (3) determination of forward-looking measurements and weightings of the forward-looking scenarios; and (4) estimation of future cash flows expected to be received for financial assets classified under stage 3.	• assessing the completeness and accuracy of the key data used for the parameters in the ECL model. For parameters derived from key internal data relating to original agreements, we compared the total balance of the financial asset list used by management to assess the allowances for impairment of margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income with the general ledger, selecting financial assets and comparing investment information with the underlying agreements and other related documentation to assess the accuracy of compilation of the asset list. For parameters derived from key external data, we selected samples to inspect the accuracy of such data by comparing them with external sources. • for key parameters involving judgement, critically assessing input parameters by seeking evidence from external sources and comparing to the Group's internal records. We compared the economic factors used in the models with market information to assess whether they were aligned with market and economic development;

Expected credit loss allowance for margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income (continued)
Refer to Notes 3(6), 3(7), 3(10), 3(11), 14, 24, 25, 26, 33 and 58(1) to the consolidated financial statements.
The Key Audit Matter	How the matter was addressed in our audit
We identified the measurement of ECL allowance for margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income as a key audit matter because of the inherent uncertainty and management judgement involved and the significance to the financial results and capital of the Group.	• evaluating the validity of management's assessment on whether the credit risk of margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income has, or has not, increased significantly since initial recognition by checking the overdue status and collateral-to-loan ratio of a financial asset, and the credit situation of the obligor on a sample basis. On a risk-based sample basis, evaluating the reasonableness of management's assessment a financial asset is credit-impaired; • for selected samples of the financial assets that are credit-impaired, evaluating the reasonableness of loss given default. We also evaluated the forecast cash flows, challenged the viability of the Group's recovery plans and evaluated other credit enhancements that are integral to the contract terms; • recalculating the amount of ECL allowance using the ECL model of margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income and • assessing the reasonableness of the disclosures in the financial statements in relation to ECL allowance of margin accounts, financial assets held under resale agreements, financial assets measured at amortized cost and debt instruments measured at fair value through other comprehensive income with reference to the requirements of the applicable accounting standards.

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. This report is made solely to you, as a body, and for no other purpose. We do not assume responsibility towards or accept liability to any other person for the contents of this report.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by the directors.

- Conclude on the appropriateness of the directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.

- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

- Plan and perform the Group audit to obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business units within the Group as a basis for forming an opinion on the Group financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and review of the audit work performed for purposes of the Group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with the Audit Committee regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide the Audit Committee with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence and communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence and, where applicable, actions taken to eliminate threats or safeguards applied.

From the matters communicated with the Audit Committee, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partner on the audit resulting in this independent auditor's report is Pang, Shing Chor, Eric.

2 Basis of accounting

2.1 Basis of preparation

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards as issued by the IASB ("IFRS Accounting Standards"). In addition, the consolidated financial statements include applicable disclosures required by the Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited and by the Hong Kong Companies Ordinance (Cap. 622) for this financial year and the comparative period.

2.2 Amendments to the accounting standards effective in 2025 and adopted by the Group

The group has applied amendments to IAS 21, The effects of changes in foreign exchange rates – Lack of exchangeability issued by the IASB to these financial statements for the current accounting period. The amendments do not have a material impact on these financial statements as the group has not entered into any foreign currency transactions in which the foreign currency is not exchangeable into another currency.

2.3 Standards and amendments relevant to the Group that are not yet effective and have not been adopted before their effective dates by the Group

The Group has not adopted the following new and amended standards that have been issued but are not yet effective.

	Effective for accounting periods beginning on or after
Amendments to IFRS 9, Financial instruments and IFRS 7, Financial instruments: disclosures - Contracts referencing nature-dependent electricity	1 January 2026
Amendments to IFRS 9, Financial instruments and IFRS 7, Financial instruments: disclosures - Amendments to the classification and measurement of financial instruments	1 January 2026
Annual improvements to IFRS Accounting Standards - Volume 11	1 January 2026
IFRS 18, Presentation and disclosure in financial statements	1 January 2027
IFRS 19, Subsidiaries without public accountability: disclosures	1 January 2027

The group is in the process of making an assessment of what the impact of these developments is expected to be in the period of initial application. So far it has concluded that the adoption of them is unlikely to have a significant impact on the consolidated financial statements except for the following:

(1) IFRS 18, Presentation and disclosure in financial statements

IFRS 18 will replace IAS 1 Presentation of financial statements and aims to improve the transparency and comparability of information about an entity's financial statements. IFRS 18 is effective for annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2027 and is to be applied retrospectively.

Among other changes, under IFRS 18, entities are required to classify all income and expenses into five categories in the statement of profit or loss, namely the operating, investing, financing, discontinued operations and income tax categories. Entities are also required to provide specific disclosures about management-defined performance measures in a single note in the financial statements.

The Group does not plan to early adopt IFRS 18 and is still in the process of assessing the impact of the adoption.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates

(1) Functional and presentation currency

These consolidated financial statements are presented in Renminbi ("RMB"), which is the functional currency of the Company and its subsidiaries established in the PRC. All consolidated financial statements presented in RMB has been rounded to the nearest thousands, except when otherwise indicated. The Group translates the financial statements of subsidiaries from their respective presentation currencies into the Group's presentation currency if the subsidiaries' presentation currencies are not the same as that of the Group.

(2) Material accounting judgements and estimates

In preparing these consolidated financial statements, management has made judgements and estimates that affect the application of the Group's accounting policies and the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, income and expenses. Actual results may differ from these estimates.

Estimates and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to estimates are recognized prospectively.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(i) Judgements

Information about judgements made in applying accounting policies that have the most significant effects on the amounts recognized in these consolidated financial statements are included in the following notes:

Classification of financial assets

When the Group determines the classification of financial assets, a number of significant judgements in the business model and the contractual cash flow characteristics of the financial assets are required. Factors considered by the Group in determining the business model for a group of financial assets include past experience on how the cash flows for these assets were collected, how the asset's performance is evaluated and reported to key management personnel, how risks are assessed and managed and how managers are compensated.

When the Group assesses whether the contractual cash flows of the financial assets are consistent with basic lending arrangements, the main judgements are described as below: whether the principal amount may change over the life of the financial asset (for example, if there are prepayment of principal); whether the interest includes only consideration for the time value of money, credit risk, other basic lending risks and a profit margin and cost, associated with holding the financial asset for a particular period of time. For example, whether the amount paid in advance reflect only the outstanding principal and interest on the outstanding principal, as well as reasonable compensation for early termination of the contract.

Note 3(3) - consolidation: whether the Group has control over a structured entity

The Group manages or invests in a number of structured entities. In order to assess whether the Group has control over the structured entities, it mainly considers the extent of decision making and participation in establishing relevant structured entities, the aggregated economic interest (including the gain from holding a direct investment and expected remuneration) set out in the contractual arrangement, as well as the scope of decision making authority over the structured entities. If the Group determined that it has power over, has exposure to variable returns from its involvement with, and has ability to use its power to affect the amount of its returns from the structured entities, it will include the structured entities in the consolidated financial statement as the Group has control over the structured entities.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(ii) Assumptions and estimation uncertainties

Information about assumptions and estimation uncertainties at the end of the reporting period that have a significant risk of resulting in a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities in the next financial year is included in the following notes:

Note 3(7)(i) - measurement of 'expected credit loss' (ECL) allowance for financial assets

The measurement of the ECL allowance for financial instruments, including investments in financial assets measured at amortized cost (including margin accounts, reverse repurchase agreements), and FVOCI is an area that requires the use of models and assumptions about the future economic conditions and credit behavior of the clients.

The measurement of ECL adopted by the management according to IFRS 9, involves judgements, assumptions and estimations.

- Selection of the appropriate models and determination of relevant key measurement parameters;

- Criteria for determining whether or not there was a significant increase in credit risk, or a default or impairment loss was incurred;

- Determination of forward-looking measurements and weightings; and

- The estimated future cash flows for the financial assets classified under Stage 3

Note 3(9) - measurement of fair value

As at the end of the reporting period, the Group's valuation methods for specific investments are as follows:

- For exchange-listed equity securities, fair value is determined based on the closing price of the equity securities as at the reporting date within bid-ask spread. For those which has no quoted market price or those with lock-up periods as at the reporting date, valuation techniques are used to determine the fair value.

- For exchange-listed investment funds, fair value is determined based on the closing price within bid-ask spread as at the reporting date or the most recent trading date. For unlisted open-end funds and wealth management products, fair value is determined by quoted price which is based on the net asset value as at the reporting date.

- For debt securities listed through exchanges, fair values are determined based on the closing price within bid-ask spread of the debt securities as at the date of statements of financial position.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

- For debt securities traded through the inter-bank bond market and the OTC market, fair values are determined by valuation techniques.

- For unlisted equity securities, wealth management products without quoted bid price in an active market and derivative financial instruments, fair value is determined using valuation techniques.

Note 3(15) - recognition of deferred tax assets

Determining income tax provisions involves judgement on the future tax treatment of certain transactions. There are certain transactions and activities for which the ultimate tax determination is uncertain during the ordinary course of business. The Group carefully evaluates the tax implications of transactions and tax provisions are set up accordingly. The tax treatment of such transactions is reconsidered periodically to take into account all changes in tax legislations. Deferred tax assets are recognized for temporary deductible differences. As those deferred tax assets can only be recognized to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which the unused tax credits can be recognized, management's judgement is required to assess the probability of future taxable profits. Management's assessment is constantly reviewed and additional deferred tax assets are recognized if it becomes probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax assets to be recovered.

(3) Basis of consolidation

(i) The Group accounts for business combinations using the acquisition method when the acquired set of activities and assets meets the definition of a business and control is transferred to the Group. In determining whether a particular set of activities and assets is a business, the Group assesses whether the set of assets and activities acquired includes, at a minimum, an input and substantive process and whether the acquired set has the ability to produce outputs.

The Group has an option to apply a 'concentration test' that permits a simplified assessment of whether an acquired set of activities and assets is not a business. The optional concentration test is met if substantially all of the fair value of the gross assets acquired is concentrated in a single identifiable asset or group of similar identifiable assets.

The consideration transferred in the acquisition is generally measured at fair value, as are the identifiable net assets acquired. Any goodwill that arises is tested annually for impairment (see Note3(7)(ii)). Any gain on a bargain purchase is recognised in profit or loss immediately. Transaction costs are expensed as incurred, except if related to the issue of debt or equity securities.

The consideration transferred does not include amounts related to the settlement of pre-existing relationships. Such amounts are generally recognised in profit or loss.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Any contingent consideration is measured at fair value at the date of acquisition. If an obligation to pay contingent consideration that meets the definition of a financial instrument is classified as equity, then it is not remeasured and settlement is accounted for within equity. Otherwise, other contingent consideration is remeasured at fair value at each reporting date and subsequent changes in the fair value of the contingent consideration are recognised in profit or loss.

(ii) Subsidiaries and non-controlling interests

Subsidiaries are entities controlled by the Group. The Group controls an entity when it is exposed to, or has rights to, variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect those returns through its power over the entity. When assessing whether the Group has power, only substantive rights (held by the Group and other parties) are considered.

An investment in a subsidiary is consolidated into the consolidated financial statements from the date that control commences until the date that control ceases. Intra-group balances, transactions and cash flows and any unrealised gains arising from intra-group transactions are eliminated in full in preparing the consolidated financial statements. Unrealised losses resulting from intra-group transactions are eliminated in the same way as unrealised gains but only to the extent that there is no evidence of impairment.

Non-controlling interests represent the equity in a subsidiary not attributable directly or indirectly to the Company, and in respect of which the Group has not agreed any additional terms with the holders of those interests which would result in the Group as a whole having a contractual obligation in respect of those interests that meet the definition of a financial liability. For each business combination, the Group can elect to measure any non-controlling interests either at fair value or at the non-controlling interests' proportionate share of the subsidiary's net identifiable assets.

Non-controlling interests are presented in the consolidated statements of financial position within equity, separately from equity attributable to the shareholders of the Company. Non-controlling interests in the results of the Group are presented on the face of the consolidated statement of profit or loss and the consolidated statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income as an allocation of the total profit or loss and total comprehensive income for the year between non-controlling interests and the equity shareholders of the Company. Loans from holders of non-controlling interests and other contractual obligations towards these holders are presented as financial liabilities in the consolidated statement of financial position depending on the nature of the liability.

Changes in the Group's interests in a subsidiary that do not result in a loss of control are accounted for as equity transactions, whereby adjustments are made to the amounts of controlling and non-controlling interests within consolidated equity to reflect the change in relative interests, but no adjustments are made to goodwill and no gain or loss is recognized.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

When the Group loses control of a subsidiary, it is accounted for as a disposal of the entire interest in that subsidiary, with a resulting gain or loss being recognized in profit or loss. Any interest retained in that former subsidiary at the date when control is lost is recognized at fair value and this amount is regarded as the fair value on initial recognition of a financial asset (see Note 3(6)) or, when appropriate, the cost on initial recognition of an investment in an associate or joint venture (see Note 3(3)(iii)).

In the Company's statement of financial position, an investment in a subsidiary is stated at cost less impairment losses (see Note 3(12)), unless the investment is classified as held for sale (or included in a disposal group that is classified as held for sale).

(iii) Associates and joint ventures

An associate is an entity in which the Group or the Company has significant influence, but not control or joint control, over its management, including participation in the financial and operating policy decisions.

A joint venture is an arrangement whereby the Group or the Company and other parties contractually agree to share control of the arrangement, and have rights to the net assets of the arrangement.

An investment in an associate or a joint venture is accounted for in the consolidated financial statements under the equity method, unless it is classified as held for sale (or included in a disposal Group that is classified as held for sale). Under the equity method, the investment is initially recorded at cost, adjusted for any excess of the Group's share of the acquisition-date fair values of the investee's identifiable net assets over the cost of the investment (if any). The cost of the investment includes purchase price, other costs directly attributable to the acquisition of the investment, and any direct investment into the associate or joint venture that forms part of the Group's equity investment. Thereafter, the investment is adjusted for the post acquisition change in the Group's share of the investee's net assets and any impairment loss relating to the investment (see Notes 3(3) and 3(7)). Any acquisition-date excess over cost, the Group's share of the post-acquisition, post-tax results of the investees and any impairment losses for the year are recognized in the consolidated income statement, whereas the Group's share of the post-acquisition post-tax items of the investees' other comprehensive income is recognized in the consolidated income statement and other comprehensive income.

When the Group's share of losses exceeds its interest in the associate or the joint venture, the Group's interest is reduced to nil and recognition of further losses is discontinued except to the extent that the Group has incurred legal or constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of the investee. For this purpose, the Group's interest is the carrying amount of the investment under the equity method together with the Group's long-term interests that in substance form part of the Group's net investment in the associate or the joint venture.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Unrealised profits and losses resulting from transactions between the Group and its associates and joint venture are eliminated to the extent of the Group's interest in the investee, except where unrealised losses provide evidence of an impairment of the asset transferred, in which case they are recognized immediately in profit or loss.

If an investment in an associate becomes an investment in a joint venture or vice versa, retained interest is not remeasured. Instead, the investment continues to be accounted for under the equity method.

In all other cases, when the Group ceases to have significant influence over an associate or joint control over a joint venture, it is accounted for as a disposal of the entire interest in that investee, with a resulting gain or loss being recognized in profit or loss. Any interest retained in that former investee at the date when significant influence or joint control is lost is recognized at fair value and this amount is regarded as the fair value on initial recognition of a financial asset (see Note 3(6)).

In the Company's statement of financial position, investments in associates and joint venture of the Company are accounted for using the equity method, unless it is classified as held for sale (or included in a disposal group that is classified as held for sale).

(4) Foreign currency

When the Group receives capital in foreign currencies from investors, the capital is translated to RMB at the spot exchange rate on the date of receipt. Other foreign currency transactions are, on initial recognition, translated to RMB at the spot exchange rates or the rates that approximate the spot exchange rates on the dates of the transactions.

A spot exchange rate is an exchange rate quoted by the People's Bank of China, the State Administrative of Foreign Exchange or a cross rate determined based on quoted exchange rates. A rate that approximates the spot exchange rate is a rate determined under a systematic and rational method, normally the average exchange rate of the current period.

Monetary items denominated in foreign currencies are translated to RMB at the spot exchange rate at the end of the reporting period. The resulting exchange differences are recognized in profit or loss. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at historical cost are translated to RMB using the foreign exchange rate at the transaction date. Non-monetary items denominated in foreign currencies that are measured at fair value are translated using the foreign exchange rate at the date the fair value is determined; the resulting exchange differences are recognized in profit or loss, except for the differences arising from the translation of fair value in other comprehensive income, which are recognized as other comprehensive income in capital reserve.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

The assets and liabilities of foreign operation are translated to RMB at the spot exchange rate at the end of the reporting period. The equity items, excluding "retained profits", are translated to RMB at the spot exchange rates at the transaction dates. The income and expenses of foreign operations are translated to RMB at the spot exchange rates or the rates that approximate the spot exchange rates at the transaction dates. The resulting translation differences are recognized in other comprehensive income, and presented in the foreign currency translation reserve (translation reserve) in equity. Upon disposal of a foreign operation, the cumulative amount of the translation differences recognized in shareholders' equity which relates to that foreign operation is transferred to profit or loss in the period in which the disposal occurs.

(5) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash at bank and on hand, demand deposits with banks and other financial institutions, and short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value, having been within three months of maturity at acquisition.

(6) Financial instruments

(i) Recognition and initial measurement

Trade receivables and debt securities issued are initially recognised when they are originated. All other financial assets and financial liabilities are initially recognised when the Group becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument.

A financial asset (unless it is a trade receivable without a significant financing component) or financial liability is initially measured at fair value plus, for an item not at FVTPL, transaction costs that are directly attributable to its acquisition or issue. A trade receivable without a significant financing component is initially measured at the transaction price.

(ii) Classification and subsequent measurement

Financial assets

On initial recognition, a financial asset is classified as measured at: amortized cost; FVOCI - debt investment; FVOCI - equity investment; or FVTPL.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Financial assets are not reclassified subsequent to their initial recognition unless the Group changes its business model for managing financial assets, in which case all affected financial assets are reclassified on the first day of the first reporting period following the change in the business model.

A financial asset is measured at amortized cost if it meets both of the following conditions and is not designated as at FVTPL:

- it is held within a business model whose objective is to hold assets to collect contractual cash flows; and

- its contractual terms give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

A debt investment is measured at FVOCI if it meets both of the following conditions and is not designated as at FVTPL:

- it is held within a business model whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows and selling financial assets; and

- its contractual terms give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

On initial recognition of an equity investment that is not held for trading, the Group may irrevocably elect to present subsequent changes in the investment's fair value in other comprehensive income. This election is made on an investment-by-investment basis.

All financial assets not classified as measured at amortized cost or FVOCI as described above are measured at FVTPL. This includes all derivative financial assets. On initial recognition, the Group may irrevocably designate a financial asset that otherwise meets the requirements to be measured at amortized cost or at FVOCI as at FVTPL if doing so eliminates or significantly reduces an accounting mismatch that would otherwise arise.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Financial assets - Business model assessment

The Group makes an assessment of the objective of the business model in which a financial asset is held at a portfolio level because this best reflects the way the business is managed and information is provided to management. The information considered includes:

- the stated policies and objectives for the portfolio and the operation of those policies in practice. These include whether management's strategy focuses on earning contractual interest income, maintaining a particular interest rate profile, matching the duration of the financial assets to the duration of any related liabilities or expected cash outflows or realising cash flows through the sale of the assets;

- how the performance of the portfolio is evaluated and reported to the Group's management;

- the risks that affect the performance of the business model (and the financial assets held within that business model) and how those risks are managed;

- how managers of the business are compensated - e.g. whether compensation is based on the fair value of the assets managed or the contractual cash flows collected; and

- the frequency, volume and timing of sales of financial assets in prior periods, the reasons for such sales and expectations about future sales activity.

Transfers of financial assets to third parties in transactions that do not qualify for derecognition are not considered sales for this purpose, consistent with the Group's continuing recognition of the assets.

Financial assets that are held for trading or are managed and whose performance is evaluated on a fair value basis are measured at FVTPL.

Financial assets - Assessment whether contractual cash flows are solely payments of principal and interest

For the purposes of this assessment, "principal" is defined as the fair value of the financial asset on initial recognition. "Interest" is defined as consideration for the time value of money and for the credit risk associated with the principal amount outstanding during a particular period of time and for other basic lending risks and costs (e.g. liquidity risk and administrative costs), as well as a profit margin.

In assessing whether the contractual cash flows are solely payments of principal and interest, the Group considers the contractual terms of the instrument. This includes assessing whether the financial asset contains a contractual term that could change the timing or amount of contractual cash flows such that it would not meet this condition. In making this assessment, the Group considers:

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

- contingent events that would change the amount or timing of cash flows;
- terms that may adjust the contractual coupon rate, including variable-rate features;
- prepayment and extension features; and
- terms that limit the Group's claim to cash flows from specified assets (e.g. non-recourse features).

A prepayment feature is consistent with the solely payments of principal and interest criterion if the prepayment amount substantially represents unpaid amounts of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding, which may include reasonable additional compensation for early termination of the contract. Additionally, for a financial asset acquired at a discount or premium to its contractual amount, a feature that permits or requires prepayment at an amount that substantially represents the contractual par amount plus accrued (but unpaid) contractual interest (which may also include reasonable additional compensation for early termination) is treated as consistent with this criterion if the fair value of the prepayment feature is insignificant at initial recognition.

Financial assets - Subsequent measurement and gains and losses

Financial assets at FVTPL	These assets are subsequently measured at fair value. Net gains and losses, including any interest or dividend income, are recognized in profit or loss.
Financial assets at amortized cost	These assets are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. The amortized cost is reduced by impairment losses. Interest income, foreign exchange gains and losses and impairment are recognized in profit or loss. Any gain or loss on derecognition is recognized in profit or loss.
Debt investments at FVOCI	These assets are subsequently measured at fair value. Interest income calculated using the effective interest method, foreign exchange gains and losses and impairment are recognized in profit or loss. Other net gains and losses are recognized in OCI. On derecognition, gains and losses accumulated in OCI are reclassified to profit or loss.
Equity investments not held for trading at FVOCI	These assets are subsequently measured at fair value. Dividends are recognized as income in profit or loss unless the dividend clearly represents a recovery of part of the cost of the investment. Other net gains and losses are recognized in OCI and are never reclassified to profit or loss.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Financial liabilities - Classification, subsequent measurement and gains and losses

Financial liabilities are classified as measured at amortized cost or FVTPL. A financial liability is classified as at FVTPL if it is classified as held-for-trading, it is a derivative or it is designated as such on initial recognition. Financial liabilities at FVTPL are measured at fair value and net gains and losses, including any interest expense, are recognized in profit or loss. The fair value change of a financial liability designated at FVTPL that is attributable to changes of that financial liability's credit risk is recognized in OCI (without reclassification to profit or loss). Other financial liabilities are subsequently measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. Interest expense and foreign exchange gains and losses are recognized in profit or loss. Any gain or loss on derecognition is also recognized in profit or loss.

(iii) Derecognition

Financial assets

The Group derecognizes a financial asset when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire, or it transfers the rights to receive the contractual cash flows in a transaction in which substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership of the financial asset are transferred or in which the Group neither transfers nor retains substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership and it does not retain control of the financial asset.

The Group enters into transactions whereby it transfers assets recognized in its statement of financial position, but retains either all or substantially all of the risks and rewards of the transferred assets. In these cases, the transferred assets are not derecognized.

Financial liabilities

The Group derecognizes a financial liability when its contractual obligations are discharged, cancelled or expire. The Group also derecognizes a financial liability when its terms are modified and the cash flows of the modified liability are substantially different, in which case a new financial liability based on the modified terms is recognized at fair value.

On derecognition of a financial liability, the difference between the carrying amount extinguished and the consideration paid (including any non-cash assets transferred or liabilities assumed) is recognized in profit or loss.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(iv) Offsetting

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is presented in the statement of financial position when, and only when, the Group currently has a legally enforceable right to set off the amounts and it intends either to settle them on a net basis or to realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(v) Derivative financial instruments

The Group holds derivative financial instruments to hedge its interest rate and other price risk exposures. Embedded derivatives are separated from the host contract and accounted for separately if the host contract is not a financial asset and certain criteria are met.

Derivatives are initially measured at fair value. Subsequent to initial recognition, derivatives are measured at fair value, and changes therein are generally recognised in profit or loss.

(vi) Equity instruments

An equity instrument is a contract that proves the ownership interest of the residual assets after deducting all liabilities of the Group. Considerations received from issuance of equity instruments net of transaction costs are recognised in equity. Considerations and transaction costs paid by the Group for repurchasing its own equity instruments are deducted from equity.

(vii) Asset-backed securities

The Group securitises the financial assets, which generally results in the sale of these financial assets to structured entities. The structured entities in turn issue asset-backed securities to investors. Interests in the securitised financial assets may be retained in the form of senior or subordinated tranches, or other residual interests. For asset securitization business, the Group has applied the accounting policies set out in Note 3(3) when assessing consolidation of the structured entities and applied the accounting policies described in Note 3(6)(iii) when assessing whether or not to derecognise the transferred financial assets.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(7) Impairment

(i) Non-derivative financial assets

Financial instruments and contract assets

The Group recognises loss allowances for ECLs on:

- financial assets measured at amortized cost;
- debt investments measured at FVOCI; and
- contract assets.

The Group also recognises loss allowances for ECLs on lease receivables, which are disclosed as part of trade and other receivables.

The Group measures loss allowances at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs, except for the following, which are measured at 12-month ECLs:

- debt securities that are determined to have low credit risk at the reporting date; and
- other debt securities and bank balances for which credit risk (i.e. the risk of default occurring over the expected life of the financial instrument) has not increased significantly since initial recognition.

Loss allowances for trade receivables (including lease receivables) and contract assets are always measured at an amount equal to lifetime ECLs.

When determining whether the credit risk of a financial asset has increased significantly since initial recognition and when estimating ECLs, the Group considers reasonable and supportable information that is relevant and available without undue cost or effort. This includes both quantitative and qualitative information and analysis, based on the Group's historical experience and informed credit assessment, that includes forward-looking information.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

The Group considers a financial asset to be in default when:

- the debtor is unlikely to pay its credit obligations to the Group in full, without recourse by the Group to actions such as realising security (if any is held).

The Group considers a debt security to have low credit risk when its credit risk rating is equivalent to the globally understood definition of 'investment grade'.

Lifetime ECLs are the ECLs that result from all possible default events over the expected life of a financial instrument.

12-month ECLs are the portion of ECLs that result from default events that are possible within the 12 months after the reporting date (or a shorter period if the expected life of the instrument is less than 12 months).

The maximum period considered when estimating ECLs is the maximum contractual period over which the Group is exposed to credit risk.

Measurement of ECLs

ECLs are a probability-weighted estimate of credit losses. Credit losses are measured as the present value of all cash shortfalls (i.e. the difference between the cash flows due to the entity in accordance with the contract and the cash flows that the Group expects to receive).

ECLs are discounted at the effective interest rate of the financial assets.

Credit-impaired financial assets

At each reporting date, the Group assesses whether financial assets carried at amortized cost and debt securities at FVOCI are credit-impaired. A financial asset is 'credit-impaired' when one or more events that have a detrimental impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset have occurred.

Evidence that a financial asset is credit-impaired includes the following observable data:

- significant financial difficulty of the debtor;

- the restructuring of a loan or advance by the Group on terms that the Group would not consider otherwise;

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

- it is probable that the debtor will enter bankruptcy or other financial reorganisation; or

- the disappearance of an active market for a security because of financial difficulties.

Presentation of allowance for ECL in the statement of financial position

Loss allowances for financial assets measured at amortized cost are deducted from the gross carrying amount of the assets.

For debt securities at FVOCI, the loss allowance is charged to profit or loss and is recognised in OCI.

Write-off

The gross carrying amount of a financial asset is written off when the Group has no reasonable expectations of recovering a financial asset in its entirety or a portion thereof. The Group expects no significant recovery from the amount written off. However, financial assets that are written off could still be subject to enforcement activities in order to comply with the Group's procedures for recovery of amounts due.

Subsequent recoveries of an asset that was previously written off are recognized as a reversal of impairment in profit or loss in the period in which the recovery occurs.

(ii) Non-financial assets

At each reporting date, the Group reviews the carrying amounts of its non-financial assets (other than inventories, contract assets and deferred tax assets) to determine whether there is any indication of impairment. If any such indication exists, then the asset's recoverable amount is estimated. Goodwill is tested annually for impairment.

For impairment testing, assets are grouped together into the smallest group of assets that generates cash inflows from continuing use that are largely independent of the cash inflows of other assets or CGUs. Goodwill arising from a business combination is allocated to CGUs or groups of CGUs that are expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

The recoverable amount of an asset or CGU is the greater of its value in use and its fair value less costs to sell. Value in use is based on the estimated future cash flows, discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the asset or CGU.

An impairment loss is recognised if the carrying amount of an asset or CGU exceeds its recoverable amount.

Impairment losses are recognised in profit or loss. They are allocated first to reduce the carrying amount of any goodwill allocated to the CGU, and then to reduce the carrying amounts of the other assets in the CGU on a pro rata basis.

An impairment loss in respect of goodwill is not reversed. For other assets, an impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation or amortization, if no impairment loss had been recognised.

(8) Leases

At inception of a contract, the Group assesses whether a contract is, or contains, a lease. A contract is, or contains, a lease if the contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset for a period of time in exchange for consideration. To assess whether a contract conveys the right to control the use of an identified asset, the Group uses the definition of a lease in IFRS 16.

(i) As a lessee

At commencement or on modification of a contract that contains a lease component, the Group allocates the consideration in the contract to each lease component on the basis of its relative stand-alone prices. However, for the leases of property the Group has elected not to separate non-lease components and account for the lease and non-lease components as a single lease component.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

The Group recognises a right-of-use asset and a lease liability at the lease commencement date. The right-of-use asset is initially measured at cost, which comprises the initial amount of the lease liability adjusted for any lease payments made at or before the commencement date, plus any initial direct costs incurred and an estimate of costs to dismantle and remove the underlying asset or to restore the underlying asset or the site on which it is located, less any lease incentives received.

The right-of-use asset is subsequently depreciated using the straight-line method from the commencement date to the end of the lease term, unless the lease transfers ownership of the underlying asset to the Group by the end of the lease term or the cost of the right-of-use asset reflects that the Group will exercise a purchase option. In that case the right-of-use asset will be depreciated over the useful life of the underlying asset, which is determined on the same basis as those of property and equipment. In addition, the right-of-use asset is periodically reduced by impairment losses, if any, and adjusted for certain remeasurements of the lease liability.

The lease liability is initially measured at the present value of the lease payments that are not paid at the commencement date, discounted using the interest rate implicit in the lease or, if that rate cannot be readily determined, the Group's incremental borrowing rate. Generally, the Group uses its incremental borrowing rate as the discount rate.

The Group determines its incremental borrowing rate by obtaining interest rates from various external financing sources and makes certain adjustments to reflect the terms of the lease and type of the asset leased.

Lease payments included in the measurement of the lease liability comprise the following:

- fixed payments, including in-substance fixed payments;

- variable lease payments that depend on an index or a rate, initially measured using the index or rate as at the commencement date;

- amounts expected to be payable under a residual value guarantee; and

- the exercise price under a purchase option that the Group is reasonably certain to exercise, lease payments in an optional renewal period if the Group is reasonably certain to exercise an extension option, and penalties for early termination of a lease unless the Group is reasonably certain not to terminate early.

The lease liability is measured at amortized cost using the effective interest method. It is remeasured when there is a change in future lease payments arising from a change in an index or rate, if there is a change in the Group's estimate of the amount expected to be payable under a residual value guarantee, if the Group changes its assessment of whether it will exercise a purchase, extension or termination option or if there is a revised in-substance fixed lease payment.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

When the lease liability is remeasured in this way, a corresponding adjustment is made to the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset, or is recorded in profit or loss if the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset has been reduced to zero.

The Group presents right-of-use assets that do not meet the definition of investment property in 'property, plant and equipment' and lease liabilities in 'loans and borrowings' in the statement of financial position.

Short-term leases and leases of low-value assets

The Group has elected not to recognise right-of-use assets and lease liabilities for leases of low-value assets and short-term leases, including IT equipment. The Group recognises the lease payments associated with these leases as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

(ii) As a lessor

At inception or on modification of a contract that contains a lease component, the Group allocates the consideration in the contract to each lease component on the basis of their relative stand-alone prices.

When the Group acts as a lessor, it determines at lease inception whether each lease is a finance lease or an operating lease.

To classify each lease, the Group makes an overall assessment of whether the lease transfers substantially all of the risks and rewards incidental to ownership of the underlying asset. If this is the case, then the lease is a finance lease; if not, then it is an operating lease. As part of this assessment, the Group considers certain indicators such as whether the lease is for a major part of the economic life of the asset.

When the Group is an intermediate lessor, it accounts for its interests in the head lease and the sub-lease separately. It assesses the lease classification of a sub-lease with reference to the right-of-use asset arising from the head lease, not with reference to the underlying asset. If a head lease is a short-term lease to which the Group applies the exemption described above, then it classifies the sub-lease as an operating lease.

If an arrangement contains lease and non-lease components, then the Group applies IFRS 15 to allocate the consideration in the contract.

The Group applies the derecognition and impairment requirements in IFRS 9 to the net investment in the lease (see Note 3(7)). The Group further regularly reviews estimated unguaranteed residual values used in calculating the gross investment in the lease.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

The Group recognises lease payments received under operating leases as income on a straight-line basis over the lease term as part of 'other revenue'.

Generally, the accounting policies applicable to the Group as a lessor in the comparative period were not different from IFRS 16 except for the classification of the sub-lease entered into during current reporting period that resulted in a finance lease classification.

(9) Fair value measurement

If there is an active market for a financial asset or financial liability, the quoted price in the active market without adjusting for transaction costs that may be incurred upon future disposal or settlement is used to establish the fair value of the financial asset or financial liability. For a financial asset held or a financial liability to be assumed, the quoted price is the current bid price. For a financial asset to be acquired or a financial liability assumed, the quoted price is the current asking price. Quoted prices from an active market are prices that are readily and regularly available from an exchange, dealer, broker, industry group or pricing service agency, and represent actual and regularly occurring market transactions on an arm's length basis.

If no active market exists for a financial instrument, a valuation technique is used to establish the fair value. Valuation techniques include using recent arm's length market transactions between knowledgeable, willing parties, reference to the current fair value of another instrument that is substantially the same, discounted cash flow analysis and option pricing models. Where discounted cash flow technique is used, future cash flows are estimated based on management's best estimates and the discount rate used is the prevailing market rate applicable for instrument with similar terms and conditions at the end of the reporting period. Where other pricing models are used, inputs are based on market data at the end of the reporting period.

In estimating the fair value of a financial asset and financial liability, the Group considers all factors including, but not limited to, risk-free interest rate, credit risk, foreign exchange rate and market volatility, that are likely to affect the fair value of the financial asset and financial liability.

The Group obtains market data from the same market where the financial instrument was originated or purchased.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(10) Margin financing and securities lending

Margin financing and securities lending refers to the lending of funds by the Group to customers for purchase of securities, or lending of securities by the Group to customers for securities selling, for which the customers provide the Group with collateral.

The classification, subsequent measurement and impairment of margin financing receivables is based on policies in Notes 3(6) and 3(7(i)). Securities lent are not derecognized when the risks and rewards are not transferred, and interest income from margin financing receivables and securities lent is recognized using the effective interest rate method.

The collateral is not recognized on the statement of financial position, the transfer of the collateral from counterparties is only reflected on the statement of financial position if the risks and rewards of ownership are also transferred.

Securities trading on behalf of margin financing or securities lending customers is accounted for as securities brokerage business.

(11) Financial assets held under resale and sold under repurchase agreements

Financial assets held under resale agreements are transactions where the Group acquires financial assets which will be resold at a pre-determined price at a future date under resale agreements. Financial assets sold under repurchase agreements are transactions where the Group sells financial assets which will be repurchased at a predetermined price at a future date under repurchase agreements.

The cash advanced or received is recognized as amounts held under resale or sold under repurchase agreements in the statement of financial position. Assets held under resale agreements are recorded in memorandum accounts as off-balance sheet items. Assets sold under repurchase agreements continue to be recognized in the statement of financial position.

The difference between the purchase and resale consideration, and that between the sale and repurchase consideration, is amortized over the period of the respective transaction using the effective interest method and is included in interest income and interest expenses respectively.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(12) Investments in subsidiaries

In the Group's consolidated financial statements, investments in subsidiaries are accounted for in accordance with the principles described in Note 3(3).

In the Company's statements of financial position, investments in subsidiaries are accounted for using the cost method. The investment is stated at cost less impairment loss (Note 3(7)) in the statement of financial position. Except for declared but not yet distributed cash dividends or profits distribution that have been included in the price or consideration paid in obtaining the investments, the Group recognizes its share of the cash dividends or profit distribution declared by the investees as investment income.

(13) Property and equipment and construction in progress

(i) Recognition and measurement

Items of property and equipment are measured at cost less accumulated depreciation and any accumulated impairment losses. Cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset. The cost of self-constructed assets includes the following:

- the cost of materials and direct labour;
- any other costs directly attributable to bringing the assets to a working condition for their intended use;
- when the Group has an obligation to remove the asset or restore the site, an estimate of the costs of dismantling and removing the items and restoring the site on which they are located; and
- capitalised borrowing costs.

Purchased software that is integral to the functionality of the related equipment is capitalised as part of that equipment. When parts of an item of property and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items (major components) of property and equipment.

Any gain or loss on disposal of an item of property and equipment (calculated as the difference between the net proceeds from disposal and the carrying amount of the item) is recognized in profit or loss.

Costs of construction in progress are determined based on the actual expenditures incurred which include all necessary expenditures incurred during the construction period, borrowing costs eligible for capitalisation and other costs incurred to bring the asset to its intended use.

Items classified as construction in progress are transferred to property and equipment when such assets are ready for their intended use.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(ii) Subsequent expenditure

Subsequent expenditure is capitalised only when it is probable that the future economic benefits associated with the expenditure will flow to the Group. Ongoing repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred.

(iii) Depreciation

Items of property and equipment are depreciated from the date they are available for use or, in respect of self-constructed assets, from the date that the asset is completed and ready for use.

Depreciation is calculated to write off the cost of items of property and equipment less their estimated residual values using the straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives.

Depreciation is generally recognized in profit or loss, unless the amount is included in the carrying amount of another asset. Leased assets are depreciated over the shorter of the lease term and their useful lives unless it is reasonably certain that the Group will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term.

The estimated useful lives for the current and comparative years of significant items of property and equipment are as follows:

Types of assets	Estimated useful lives	Estimated residual values	Depreciation rates
Buildings	20 - 35 years	5%	2.71% - 4.75%
Motor vehicles	6 years	5%	15.83%
Machinery	10 - 11 years	5%	8.64% - 9.50%
Electronic equipment	3 - 5 years	5%	19.00% - 31.67%
Furniture and fixtures	5 years	5%	19.00%
Renovation	5 years	0%	20.00%

No depreciation is provided in respect of construction in progress.

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed at each reporting date and adjusted if appropriate.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(14) Employee benefits

(i) Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefit obligations are measured on an undiscounted basis and are expensed as the related service is provided. A liability is recognized for the amount expected to be paid under short-term cash bonus or profit-sharing plans if the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee, and the obligation can be estimated reliably.

(ii) Defined contribution plans

A defined contribution plan is a post-employment benefit plan under which an entity pays fixed contributions into a separate entity and has no legal or constructive obligation to pay further amounts. Obligations for contributions to defined contribution plans are recognized as an employee benefit expense in profit or loss in the periods during which related services are rendered by employees. There were no forfeited contributions (by employers on behalf of employees who leave the scheme prior to vesting fully in such contributions) to offset existing contributions under the defined contribution schemes.

(iii) Other long-term employee benefits

The Group's net obligation in respect of long-term employee benefits other than pension plans is the amount of future benefit that employees have earned in return for their service in the current and prior periods. That benefit is discounted to determine its present value. Remeasurements are recognized in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.

(iv) Termination benefits

Termination benefits are recognized as an expense when the Group is demonstrably committed, without realistic possibility of withdrawal, to a formal detailed plan to either terminate employment before the normal retirement date, or to provide termination benefits as a result of an offer made to encourage voluntary redundancy. Termination benefits for voluntary redundancies are recognized as an expense if the Group has made an offer of voluntary redundancy, it is probable that the offer will be accepted, and the number of acceptances can be estimated reliably. If benefits are payable more than 12 months after the end of the reporting period, then they are discounted to their present value.

(15) Income tax

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. Current tax and deferred tax are recognized in profit or loss except to the extent that it relates to a business combination, or items recognized directly in equity or in OCI.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(i) Current tax

Current tax is the expected tax payable or receivable on the taxable income or loss for the year, using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and any adjustment to tax payable in respect of previous years. Current tax payable also includes any tax liability arising from the declaration of dividends.

(ii) Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided, using the liability method, on all temporary differences at the end of the reporting period between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes, except that deferred tax is not recognized for the Pillar Two income taxes.

Deferred tax is not recognized for:

- temporary differences on the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and at the time of the transaction, affects neither accounting profit nor taxable profit/loss and does not give rise to equal taxable and deductible temporary differences;

- temporary differences related to investments in subsidiaries, associates and jointly controlled entities to the extent that the Group is able to control the timing of the reversal of the temporary differences and it is probable that they will not reverse in the foreseeable future; and

- taxable temporary differences arising on the initial recognition of goodwill.

The measurement of deferred tax reflects the tax consequences that would follow the manner in which the Group expects, at the end of the reporting period, to recover or settle the carrying amount of its assets and liabilities. For investment property that is measured at fair value, the presumption that the carrying amount of the investment property will be recovered through sale has not been rebutted.

Deferred tax is measured at the tax rates that are expected to be applied to temporary differences when they reverse, using tax rates enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date, and reflects uncertainty related to income taxes, if any.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset if there is a legally enforceable right to offset current tax liabilities and assets, and they relate to taxes levied by the same tax authority on the same taxable entity, or on different tax entities, but they intend to settle current tax liabilities and assets on a net basis or their tax assets and liabilities will be realised simultaneously.

A deferred tax asset is recognized for unused tax losses, tax credits and deductible temporary differences to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profits will be available against which they can be utilised. Deferred tax assets are reviewed at each reporting date and are reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that the related tax benefit will be realised.

(iii) Tax exposures

In determining the amount of current and deferred tax, the Group takes into account the impact of uncertain tax positions and whether additional taxes and interest may be due. This assessment relies on estimates and assumptions and may involve a series of judgements about future events. New information may become available that causes the Group to change its judgement regarding the adequacy of existing tax liabilities; such changes to tax liabilities will impact tax expense in the period that such a determination is made.

(16) Provisions and contingent liabilities

A provision is recognized if, as a result of a past event, the Group has a present legal or constructive obligation that can be estimated reliably, and it is probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required to settle the obligation. Provisions are determined by discounting the expected future cash flows at a pre-tax rate that reflects current market assessments of the time value of money and the risks specific to the liability. The unwinding of the discount is recognized as finance cost.

Where it is not probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required, or the amount cannot be estimated reliably, the obligation is disclosed as a contingent liability, unless the probability of outflow of economic benefits is remote. Possible obligations, whose existence will only be confirmed by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more future events, are also disclosed as contingent liabilities unless the probability of outflow of economic benefits is remote.

(17) Fiduciary activities

The Group acts in a fiduciary activity as an asset manager, a custodian, or an agent for customers. Assets held by the Group and the related undertakings to return such assets to customers are recorded as off-balance sheet items as the risks and rewards of the assets reside with customers.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(18) Revenue recognition

Income is classified by the Group as revenue when it arises from the provision of services or the use by others of the Group's assets under leases in the ordinary course of the Group's business.

Revenue is recognized when control over a product or service is transferred to the customer, or the lessee has the right to use the asset, at the amount of promised consideration to which the Group is expected to be entitled, excluding those amounts collected on behalf of third parties. Revenue excludes value added tax or other sales taxes and is after deduction of any trade discounts.

Where the contract contains a variable consideration, the Group estimates the amount of consideration to which it will be entitled in exchange for transferring the promised goods or services to a customer and includes in the transaction price some or all of the variable consideration estimated, such that revenue is only recognized to the extent that it is highly probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur.

Where the contract contains a financing component which provides a significant financing benefit to the customer for more than 12 months, revenue is measured at the present value of the amount receivable, discounted using the discount rate that would be reflected in a separate financing transaction with the customer, and interest income is accrued separately under the effective interest method. Where the contract contains a financing component which provides a significant financing benefit to the Group, revenue recognized under that contract includes the interest expense accreted on the contract liability under the effective interest method. The Group takes advantage of the practical expedient of IFRS 15 and does not adjust the consideration for any effects of a significant financing component if the period of financing is 12 months or less.

Further details of the Group's revenue and other income recognition policies are as follows:

(i) Commission income from brokerage business

Brokerage commission income is recognized on a trade date basis when the relevant transactions are executed. Handling and settlement fee income arising from brokerage business is recognized when the related services are rendered.

(ii) Underwriting and sponsoring fees

Underwriting fee is recognized when the Group has fulfilled its obligations under the underwriting contract.

Depending on contract terms, sponsoring fees are recognized progressively over time using a method that depicts the Group's performance, or at a point in time when the service is completed.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(iii) Advisory fees

Depending on the nature of the advisory services and the contract terms, advisory fees are recognized progressively over time using a method that depicts the Group's performance, or at a point in time when the advisory service is completed.

(iv) Asset management fees

Asset management fees include periodic management fees calculated based on assets under management and performance-based fees. The fees are recognized progressively over time using a method that depicts the Group's performance, to the extent that it is highly probable that a significant reversal in the amount of cumulative revenue recognized will not occur.

(v) Other business income

Other business revenue mainly comes from the bulk commodities sales of the Group's commodities trading subsidiaries.

The Group recognizes sales revenue from bulk commodity goods when fulfills the Group's performance obligations in the contract, that is, the revenue is recognized when the customer obtains control of the relevant bulk commodity goods. In the process of selling goods, the Group, as the primary obligor, has the primary responsibility of providing goods and performing orders to customers. The Group is exposed to inventory risk before or after the bulk commodity goods have been ordered by a customer; the Group has discretion in establishing prices of bulk commodity goods and exposed to credit risk for the amount receivable from customers in exchange for the other party's goods and commodity risk for inventory. The Group satisfies the performance obligation above and recognized revenue in the gross amount. When the Group acts as an agent, the net amount of the consideration received or receivable after deducting the price payable to other related parties shall be recognized and listed as income.

(vi) Interest income

Interest income is recognized as it accrues using the effective interest method. For financial assets measured at amortized cost or FVOCI (recycling) that are not credit-impaired, the effective interest rate is applied to the gross carrying amount of the asset. For credit impaired financial assets, the effective interest rate is applied to the amortized cost (i.e. gross carrying amount net of loss allowance) of the asset.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(vii) Dividend income

- Dividend income from unlisted investments is recognized when the shareholder's right to receive payment is established.

- Dividend income from listed investments is recognized when the share price of the investment goes ex-dividend.

(viii) Other income

Other income is recognized on an accrual basis

(19) Expenses recognition

(i) Commission expenses

Commission expenses relate mainly to transactions, which are recognized as expenses when the services are received.

(ii) Interest expenses

Interest expenses are recognized based on the principal outstanding and at the effective interest rate applicable.

(iii) Other expenses

Other expenses are recognized on an accrual basis.

(20) Dividend distribution

Dividends or profit distributions proposed in the profit appropriation plan, which will be authorised and declared after the end of the reporting period, are not recognized as a liability at the end of the reporting period but disclosed in the notes to the consolidated financial statements separately.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(21) Government grants

Government grants are recognized initially as deferred income at fair value when there is reasonable assurance that they will be received and the Group will comply with the conditions associated with the grant, and are then recognized in profit or loss as other income on a systematic basis over the useful life of the asset.

Grants that compensate the Group for expenses incurred are recognized in profit or loss as other income on a systematic basis in the periods in which the expenses are recognized, unless the conditions for receiving the grant are met after the related expenses have been recognized. In this case, the grant is recognized when it becomes receivable.

(22) Related parties

(a) A person, or a close member of that person's family, is related to the Group if that person:

(i) has control or joint control over the Group;

(ii) has significant influence over the Group; or

(iii) is a member of the key management personnel of the Group or the Group's parent.

(b) An entity is related to the Group if any of the following conditions applies:

(i) The entity and the Group are members of the same group;

(ii) One entity is an associate or joint venture of the other entity (or an associate or joint venture of a member of a group of which the other entity is a member);

(iii) Both entities are joint ventures of the same third party;

(iv) One entity is a joint venture of a third entity and the other entity is an associate of the third entity;

(v) The entity is a post-employment benefit plan for the benefit of employees of either the Group or an entity related to the Group;

(vi) The entity is controlled or jointly controlled by a person identified in (a);

(vii) A person identified in (a)(i) has significant influence over the entity or is a member of the key management personnel of the entity (or of a parent of the entity);

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

(viii) The entity, or any member of a group of which it is a part, provides key management personnel services to the Group or to the Group's parent.

Close members of the family of a person are those family members who may be expected to influence, or be influenced by, that person in their dealings with the entity.

(23) Perpetual bonds

A perpetual bond issued by the Group is classified as equity if, and only if, both of the following conditions are met,

(a) The perpetual bond includes no contractual obligation:

(i) to deliver cash or another financial asset to another entity; or

(ii) to exchange financial assets or financial liabilities with another entity under conditions that are potentially unfavourable to the Group.

(b) If the perpetual bond will or may be settled in the Group's own equity instruments, it is:

(i) a non-derivative that includes no contractual obligation for the Group to deliver a variable number of its own equity instruments; or

(ii) a derivative that will be settled only by the Group exchanging a fixed amount of cash or another financial asset for a fixed number of its own equity instruments.

Dividends for the perpetual bonds, which are classified as equity instruments, are accounted for as profit distribution.

(24) Segment reporting

Reportable segments are identified based on operating segments which are determined based on the structure of the Group's internal organisation, management requirements and internal reporting system. An operating segment is a component of the Group that engages in business activities from which it may earn revenues and incur expenses, whose financial performance are regularly reviewed by the Group's management to make decisions about resource to be allocated to the segment and assess its performance, and for which financial information regarding financial performance is available.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

Two or more operating segments may be aggregated into a single operating segment if the segments have same or similar economic characteristics and are similar in respect of the nature of each product and service, the nature of production processes, the type or class of customers for the products and services, the methods used to distribute the products or provide the services, and the nature of the regulatory environment.

Inter-segment revenues are measured on the basis of actual transaction price for such transactions for segment reporting, and segment accounting policies are consistent with those for the consolidated financial statements.

(25) Determination method and selection basis of material standard

According to the specific environment in which the Group is situated, the Group judges the materiality of financial information from the nature and amount of the project. In judging the materiality of the nature of the item, the Group mainly considers whether the item belongs to daily activities, whether it significantly affects the financial position, operating results and cash flow of the Group and other factors; In judging the materiality of the amount of the item, the Group considers the proportion of the amount of the item in the total assets, total liabilities, total shareholders' equity, total operating income, total operating cost, net profit, total comprehensive income and other directly related items or the proportion of the amount of the separately listed items in the subordinate statements.

(26) Changes in accounting policies

Except as described below, the accounting policies applied in these financial statements are the same as those applied in the Group’s consolidated financial statements as at and for the year ended 31 December 2024.

Considering the practical guidance issued by the relevant regulatory authority and the economic substance of transactions, the Group voluntarily made a change in accounting policy related to physical settlement of contracts to buy or sell bulk commodities that fail the own-use exception. Previously, for contracts involving the sale of bulk commodities, the Group recognised sales revenue and cost of sales when the customer obtained the control of the commodity. Effective on 1 January 2025, such transactions are accounted for as settlement of the sales contracts without recognising any sales revenue or cost of sales. The impact of this change in accounting policy has been applied retrospectively, and comparative figures have been adjusted accordingly.

3 Material accounting policies, material accounting judgements and estimates (continued)

The following tables summarize the impact of the above accounting policy change on the Group's consolidated financial statements:

Consolidated financial statement for the year ended 31 December 2024

	As previously reported RMB'000	Effect of voluntary change in accounting policy RMB'000	As restated RMB'000
Net investment gains	10,565,311	(34,369)	10,530,942
Other income and gains	6,408,531	(6,084,086)	324,445
Other operating expenses and costs	8,168,811	(6,118,455)	2,050,356
Contract liabilities	45,247	(31,549)	13,698
Other payables and accruals	60,276,965	31,549	60,308,514

The Group has not applied any new standard or interpretation that is not yet effective for the current accounting period.

4 Taxation

The Group's main applicable taxes and tax rates are as follows:

Tax type	Tax basis	Tax rate
Value added tax ("VAT") (1)	Output VAT is calculated on product sales and taxable services revenue. The basis for VAT payable is to deduct input VAT from the output VAT for the period.	3%–13%
City maintenance and construction	Based on business tax and value added tax paid	5%–7%
Education surcharge	Based on business tax and value added tax paid	3%–5%
Income tax (2)	Based on taxable profits	16.5%–25%

(1) According to the Circular regarding the Comprehensive Implementation of the Pilot Programs for Transformation from Business Taxes to Value-added Taxes (the "VAT Pilot Programs") (Cai Shui [2016] No.36), the Circular regarding Further Clarification of Relevant Policies Applicable to the Financial Sector in the Comprehensive Implementation of the VAT Pilot Programs (Cai Shui [2016] No.46), the Supplementary Circular regarding VAT Policies Applicable to Transactions between Financial Institutions (Cai Shui [2016] No.70) issued by the Ministry of Finance (the "MOF") and State Administration of Taxation (the "SAT") of the PRC, effective from 1 May 2016, the Company is subject to value-added taxes on its income from principal businesses at 6%.

The Group's non-current assets are mainly located in mainland China. The Group's revenue is substantially derived from its operations in mainland China.

57 Fair value information

(1) Fair value of financial instruments

The Group adopts the following methods and assumptions when evaluating fair value:

(a) Financial assets including cash and bank balances, cash held for brokerage clients, clearing settlement funds, financial assets held under resale agreements, and financial liabilities including placements from other financial institutions, short-term debt instruments issued, loans and borrowings under current liabilities and financial assets sold under repurchase agreements are mainly short-term financing or floating interest rate instruments. Accordingly, the carrying amounts approximate the fair values.

(b) Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, derivatives and financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income are stated at fair value. For the financial instruments traded in active open markets, the Group uses market prices or markets rates as the best estimate for their fair values. For the financial instruments without any market price or market rate, the Group determines the fair values of these financial assets and financial liabilities by discounted cash flow or other valuation methods.

(c) The fair value of non-current debt investment at amortized cost and long-term bonds are determined with reference to the available market prices or quotes from brokers or agents. If there is no quoted market price in an active market, the Group refers to the yield of financial instruments with similar characteristics such as credit risk and maturity, to estimate the fair value using pricing models or discounted cash flow.

(d) Accounts receivable, other receivables and prepayments, margin accounts receivable, and accounts payable to brokerage clients are mainly within one year. Accordingly, the carrying amounts approximate the fair values.

(2) Fair value hierarchy

The Group measures fair values using the following fair value hierarchy that reflects the significance of the inputs used in making the measurements:

- Level 1 valuations: Fair value measured using only Level 1 inputs i.e. unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.

- Level 2 valuations: Fair value measured using Level 2 inputs i.e. observable inputs which fail to meet Level 1, and not using significant unobservable inputs. Unobservable inputs are inputs for which market data are not available.

- Level 3 valuations: Fair value measured using significant unobservable inputs.

If there is a reliable market quote for financial instruments, the fair value of financial instruments is based on quoted market prices. If a reliable quoted market price is not available, the fair value of the financial instruments is estimated using valuation techniques. Valuation techniques applied include reference to the fair value of another instrument that is substantially the same, discounted cash flow analysis and option pricing models. The inputs used in valuation techniques include risk-free and benchmark interest rates, credit spreads and foreign exchange rates. Where discounted cash flow analysis is used, estimated cash flows are based on management's best estimates and the discount rate used is reference to another instrument that is substantially the same.

The table below analyses financial instruments, measured at fair value at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, by the level in the fair value hierarchy into which the fair value measurement is categorized. It does not include fair value information for financial assets and financial liabilities not measured at fair value if the carrying amount is a reasonable approximation of fair value.

For the years ended 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, there were transfers into and out of Level 3 due to the delisting of equity securities and the lifting of restricted stocks respectively. The Group's policy is to recognize transfer between levels of fair value hierarchy at the end of the year in which they occur.

(a) Financial instruments in Level 1

The fair value of financial instruments traded in active markets is based on quoted market prices at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024. A market is regarded as active if quoted prices are readily and regularly available from an exchange, dealer, broker and those prices represent actual and regularly occurring market transactions on an arm's length basis. The quoted market price used for financial assets held by the Group is the closing price within bid-ask spread. These instruments are included in Level 1. Instruments included in Level 1 comprise primarily securities traded on exchanges and fund investments traded through exchanges or fund management companies.

(b) Financial instruments in Level 2

The fair value of financial instruments that are not traded in an active market is determined by using valuation techniques. These valuation techniques maximize the use of observable market data where it is available and rely as little as possible on entity specific estimates. If all significant inputs required to fair value an instrument are observable, the instrument is included in Level 2.

(c) Financial instruments in Level 3

If one or more of the significant inputs is not based on observable market data, the instrument is included in Level 3.

(d) Valuation methods for specific investments

As at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, the Group's valuation methods for specific investments are as follows:

(i) For exchange-listed equity securities, fair value is determined based on the closing price of the equity securities as at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024 within bid-ask spread. If there is no quoted market price as at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, valuation techniques are used to determine the fair value.

(ii) For exchange-listed investment funds, fair value is determined based on the closing price within bid-ask spread as at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024 or the most recent trading date. For unlisted open-end funds and asset management products, fair value is determined by quoted price which is based on the net asset value as at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024.

(iii) For debt securities, fair values are determined by valuation techniques.

(iv) For futures traded through exchanges, fair value is determined based on the closing price of the futures as at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024.

Determinations to classify fair value measures within Level 3 of the valuation hierarchy are primarily based on the significance of the unobservable inputs which mainly include liquidity discount, volatility, risk-adjusted discount and market multiplier.

Credit risk refers to the risk that the Group may face when its financiers, counterparties or bond issuers fail to perform the agreed financial obligations. The Group's credit risk exposures mainly exist in its personal finance, proprietary trading, and principal investment businesses.

The Group has mainly adopted the following measures to detect, report and manage credit risk:

- Established an internal rating system for credit risk, and conducted concentration risk management of the clients;

- Optimised risk assessment and analysis of clients and collateral, and reinforced continuous supervision. The Group has also been improving credit risk management system, and set up company-level negative lists of counterparties so as to collect and manage the list of clients with bad credit, and unified the management of negative information of clients;

- Set up strict entry criteria such as bond and issuer ratings for the proprietary trading business, and carried out pre-transaction review, post-transaction monitoring, and follow up on trading behaviours, credit ratings and types of securities, as well as scale and concentration of bonds;

- Enhanced measures and policies of derivatives trading, set up rating and entry criteria for its counterparties, and improved the risk limit indicators system and pre-transaction review standard; and

- Tightened the review and management of certain businesses, such as stock-backed lending and principal investment business, on the assessment of client, concentration control, and scale of the businesses, and closely monitor project status on a continual basis.

Measurement of expected credit loss

The measurement of the ECL allowance for financial instruments, including investments in financial assets measured at amortized cost (including margin accounts, reverse repurchase agreements), and FVOCI is an area that requires the use of models and assumptions about the future economic conditions and credit behaviour of the clients (such as the likelihood of customers defaulting and the resulting losses).

The Group has applied a 'three-stage' impairment model for ECL measurement based on changes in credit quality since the initial recognition of financial instruments as summarized below:

- A financial instrument that is not credit-impaired on initial recognition is classified as "Stage 1" and has its credit risk continuously monitored by the Group;

- If a significant increase in credit risk ("SICR") since initial recognition is identified, the financial instrument is moved to "Stage 2" but is not yet deemed to be credit-impaired;

- If the financial instrument is credit-impaired, the financial instrument is moved to "Stage 3".

Stage 1: The Group measures the loss allowance for a financial instrument at an amount equal to the next 12 months ECL. Stage 2 and 3: The Group measures the loss allowance for a financial instrument at an amount equal to the lifetime ECL. Purchased or originated credit-impaired financial assets are those financial assets that are credit-impaired on initial recognition. The ECL is always measured on a lifetime basis.

For financial instruments under Stages 1 and Stage 2, including investments in financial assets measured at amortized cost (including margin accounts, stock-pledged repo), and FVOCI, the ECL is measured using the risk parameter modelling approach that incorporated key parameters, including Probability of Default ("PD"), Loss Given Default ("LGD"), Loss Ratio ("LR") and Exposure at Default ("EAD") taking into consideration of forward-looking factors. For credit-impaired financial assets classified under Stage 3, the management assesses the credit loss allowances by estimating the cash flows expected to arise from the financial assets.

The measurement of ECL adopted by the management according to IFRS 9, involves judgements, assumptions and estimations, including:

- Selection of the appropriate models and assumptions;

- Determination of the criteria for significant increase in credit risk ("SICR"), definition of default and credit impairment;

- Establishment of the number and relative weightings of forward-looking scenarios;

- Forecasts of the discounted cash flow of financial instruments under Stage 3.

Measuring ECL –Inputs, assumptions and estimation techniques

The ECL is measured on either a 12-month (12M) or Lifetime basis depending on whether a SICR has occurred since initial recognition or whether an asset is considered to be credit-impaired.

For debt securities investments, ECL is the discounted product of the PD, LGD and EAD after considering the forward-looking impact. For financing assets, ECL are the discounted product of the LR and EAD after considering the forward-looking impact.

- PD represents the likelihood of a borrower defaulting on its financial obligation, either over the next 12 months (12M PD), or over the remaining lifetime (Lifetime PD) of the obligation. For debt securities investments, the Group determines the PD by the appropriate external credit ratings.

- LGD represents the Group's expectation of the extent of loss on a defaulted exposure. For debt securities investments, LGD is determined based on the type of securities.

- EAD is based on the amounts the Group expects to be owed at the time of default, over the next 12 months (12M EAD) or over the remaining lifetime (Lifetime EAD).

- LR represents the Group's expectation of the likelihood of default and extent of loss on exposure. The Group uses historical loss rates and assesses their appropriateness. The Group determines LR of financing assets based on factors including: the coverage ratio of related loan to underlying collateral value, the volatility of such collateral's valuation and the realized value of collateral upon forced liquidation over the realization period.

The criteria of Significant increase in credit risk (SICR)

The Group evaluates financial instruments to identify whether a SICR has occurred since initial recognition at each financial statement date. An ECL allowance of financial assets is recognized according to the stage in which the assets are classified. This took into account of what reasonable information, including forward looking information, is available to identify whether a SICR had arisen. The Group considers a financial instrument to have experienced a SICR when one or more of the following quantitative, qualitative or backstop criteria have been met.

For financing assets, the Group sets differentiated collateral to loan ratios as triggering margin calls and force liquidation thresholds (force liquidation thresholds generally no less than 130%) against different exposures related to these transactions, based on the obligors' credit quality, operation situation, contract maturity date, the volatility and liquidity of related collateral securities, and related performance information.

For securities financing business, the Group considered securities financing business to have experienced a SICR if collateral to loan ratios is lower than the force liquidation thresholds, which means collateral valuation has declined or the quality of the third-party collateral is significantly reduced. As at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, over 90% of the securities financing balances of the Group were covered by collateral value of over the force liquidation thresholds of related loan or repo amounts.

For debt securities investments, the Group makes use of open market credit ratings. The Group considers debt securities investments to have experienced a SICR if the following scenarios occurs: the debt securities with an initial rating above AA level (inclusive) downgraded below AA (exclusive); the debt securities with an initial rating below AA level (exclusive) been downgraded; or the debt securities are on the warning list. As at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, the vast majority of the debt securities investments of the Group have been rated as investment grade or above and there was no SICR.

Financial instruments are considered to have a low risk when the borrower has a strong capacity to meet its contractual cash flow obligations in the near term and adverse changes in economic and business conditions in the longer term may, but will not necessarily, reduce the ability of the borrower to fulfil its contractual cash flow obligations.

The Group has used the low credit risk exemption for financial instruments, such as cash and bank accounts, settlement reserve, refundable deposits, financial assets held under resale agreements collateralized by debt securities.

Definition of default and credit impairment

The Group assesses whether a financial instrument has been credit-impaired in accordance with IFRS 9, in a manner consistent with its internal credit risk policies for managing financial instruments. The consideration includes qualitative criteria, quantitative criteria and upper limit. The Group defines a financial instrument as credit-impaired, which is fully aligned with the definition of "in default", when it meets one or more of the following criteria:

- The borrower is more than 90 days past due on its contractual payments;
- For securities financing business, forced liquidation of a client's position is triggered based on a predetermined threshold of loan to collateral ratios; whereby the collateral valuation falls short of the related loan or repo amounts;
- The latest external ratings of issuers of debt securities or debt securities themselves are in default grade;
- The debtor, issuer, borrower or counterparty is in significant financial difficulty;
- An active market for that financial asset has disappeared because of debtor's financial difficulties;
- Concessions have been made by the Group relating to the debtor, issuer, borrower or counterparty's financial difficulty;
- It is becoming probable that the debtor, issuer, borrower, or counterparty will enter bankruptcy or undertake a financial restructuring, etc.

When a financial asset is considered to be credit-impaired, it may be the result of multiple events, not due to a separately identifiable event.

Forward-looking information

The assessment of SICR and the calculation of ECL both incorporate forward-looking information.

When considering forward-looking information, the Group is not required to forecast the situation of financial instruments throughout their expected lifespan. The level of judgement that the Group needs to apply when estimating credit losses depends on the availability of specific information. The degree of the judgement that the Group must use when estimating ECL will increase when the prediction time span is longer or the availability of specific information is lower.

Based on the analysis of various business characteristics and historical data, the Group identified key economic indicators that affect the ECL of various businesses, mainly including the growth rate of Domestic GDP, cumulative year-on-year completion of fixed assets investment, the fluctuation of the Shanghai Composite index and the growth rate of Consumer Price Index (CPI). The Group determines the relationship between these economic indicators and macro factors through regression analysis, and makes forward-looking adjustments to the ECL of various businesses.

In addition to the base economic scenario, the Group's expert team also provided other possible scenarios along with scenario weightings. The number of other scenarios used is set based on an analysis of each major product type to ensure non-linearities are captured. The number of scenarios and their attributes are reassessed at each financial statement date.

At 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, for all portfolios the Group concluded that three scenarios appropriately captured non-linearities of key economic variables. The scenario weightings are determined by a combination of statistical analysis and expert judgement, taking account of the range of possible outcomes each chosen scenario is representative of. The number of scenarios and their attributes are reassessed at each financial statement date.

The assessment of SICR is performed using the Lifetime PD under each of the base and other scenarios multiplied by the associated scenario weighting, as well as qualitative criteria, quantitative criteria and upper limit. The Group measures ECL as either a probability weighted 12-month ECL or a probability weighted lifetime ECL. These probability weighted ECLs are determined by running each scenario through the relevant ECL model and multiplying it by the appropriate scenario weighting.

At 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, comprehensively considering of the current economic situation, and various supporting policies adopted by the government, the Group updated relevant economic indicators for forward-looking measurement based on the latest economic forecasts. As with any economic forecasts, the projections and likelihoods of occurrence are subject to a high degree of inherent uncertainty and therefore the actual outcomes may be significantly different to those projected. The Group considers these forecasts to represent its best estimate of the possible outcomes as at the financial statement date.

Sensitivity analysis

The allowance for credit losses is sensitive to the inputs used in internally developed models, macroeconomic variables in the forward-looking forecasts, weighting applied to economic scenarios and other factors considered when applying expert judgement. Changes in these inputs, assumptions and judgements are likely to have an impact on the measurement of ECLs.

A sensitivity analysis is performed on key economic indicators, economic scenarios and weightings assigned use in forward-looking measurement. When increasing the weighting applied to the optimistic scenario by 10% and a corresponding reduction of 10% weighting applied to the base scenario, or shifting 10% of the weighting from the base case scenario to the pessimistic scenario, the impact on ECL recognized is not significant.

Meanwhile, the Group also uses sensitivity analysis to monitor the impact of changes to the credit risk classification of the financial assets on ECL. As at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, assuming there was no significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition, and all the financial assets in Stage 2 were moved to Stage 1, the decremental impact on ECL to be recognized in financial statements is not significant.

Collateral and other credit enhancements

The Group employed a range of policies and credit enhancements to mitigate credit risk exposure to an acceptable level. The most common of these is accepting collateral for funds advanced or guarantee. The Group determined the type and amount of collateral according to the credit risk evaluation of counterparties. The collateral under margin financing and reverse repurchase agreements is primarily stocks, debt securities, funds etc. The management would test the market value of collateral periodically, and send margin calls according to related agreements, also monitor the market value fluctuation of collaterals when reviewing the measurement of the loss allowance.

Loss Ratio and impairment provision of securities financing business

Based on the obligors' credit quality, contract maturity date, the related collateral securities information, which including the sector situation, liquidity discount factor, concentration, volatility and related information, the Group sets differentiated collateral to loan ratios (generally no less than 140%) as triggering margin calls and force liquidation thresholds (collateral to loan ratios generally no less than 130%) against different exposures related to these transactions.

- For financing assets exposures with collateral to loan ratios above 130% and those not past due are classified under Stage 1.

- For financing assets exposures with collateral to loan ratios fall below 130% of the pre-determined force liquidation thresholds but above 100%; or those past due for no more than 30 days are considered to be with significant increase in credit risks and are classified under Stage 2.

- For financing assets exposures with collateral to loan ratios fall below 100%; or those past due for more than 30 days are classified under Stage 3.

Loss ratio applied by the Group on its Financing Assets under the 3 stages were as follows:

Stage 1: 0.13% to 0.24% according to the different collateral ratios;

Stage 2: 2.73% to 4.92% according to the different collateral ratios

Stage 3: Discounted cash flow on individual exposure.

Credit risk exposure analysis

The Group considered the credit risk of the financial assets was relatively low. As at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, majority of the financial assets' ratio to underlying collateral value was over the force liquidation level. As at 31 December 2025 and 31 December 2024, most of the debt securities investments of the Group were rated at investment grade or above.

The maximum credit risk exposure on the balance sheet date, without taking into account any collateral and other credit enhancements, refers to the carrying value of the relevant financial assets after the deduction of impairment provisions. The Group's maximum credit risk exposure is disclosed as follows:

The movements of loss allowance are mainly affected by:

- Increases are primarily attributable to new financial instruments recognized, changes in PD, LGD and expected cash flow recovery rate affected by market changes, the resulted movements amongst Stage 1, Stage 2 and Stage 3, and updates of parameters and assumptions in the ECL model;

- Reversals include the reversals caused by the redemption or disposal of financial assets, the impact of changes in model parameters and assumption;

- Transfers between stages due to financial instruments experiencing significant increases (or decreases) in credit risk or becoming credit-impaired, and the corresponding measurement basis changes between the 12-month (12M) or the Lifetime basis;

- Foreign exchange and other movements include changes in foreign exchange translations for assets denominated in foreign currencies and other movements.

(2) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Group may face if the Group fails to acquire sufficient funds in time with reasonable cost to repay its debts due, perform other payment obligations and satisfy capital requirements in normal business operations.

In managing its liquidity risks, the Group considers its short, medium and long-term funding needs and liquidity management requirements, and reinforces the management of both the total amount and the structure of high-quality liquid assets through continuously improving the management system of its liquidity reserve, so as to maintain a sufficient liquidity reserve. The Group maintains adequate cash and cash equivalents and continuously monitors and compares cash flow forecast and actual cash flows. The Group also adopts a risk indicator analysis method to manage its overall liquidity risk. Through the analysis of key risk indicators, such as liquidity coverage ratio, net stable funding ratio, liquidity gap, and asset and liability concentration, the Group assesses and measures its overall liquidity risk status.

For liquidity risks, the Group has primarily adopted the following measures:

- Formulated a comprehensive capital plan to maintain a sufficient liquidity reserve;

- Expanded the scope of cooperation of financial institutions, improved debt financing management capabilities and diversified liquidity management tools;

- Enhanced the dynamic monitoring of liquidity risk, maintained the tracking and assessment of information such as liquidity monitoring indicators, cash flow gap, liquidity reserve and its short-term financing capabilities;

- Carried out stress testing of liquidity risk, improved the ability to measure liquidity shock and put forward effective measures; and

- Improved the capability of reporting and dealing with liquidity risk contingencies through conducting emergency drills for liquidity risk to enhance the ability to respond to liquidity crisis.

(3) Market risk

(a) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that changes in market interest rates will affect the Group's operation performance, financial position and cash flows. The Group's interest-bearing assets mainly include cash and bank balances, clearing settlement funds, margin accounts receivable, financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, financial assets held under resale agreements, refundable deposits and financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income; interest-bearing liabilities mainly include loans and borrowings, short-term debt instruments issued, placements from other financial institutions, financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss, financial assets sold under repurchase agreements, accounts payable to brokerage clients and long-term bonds.

For financial instruments held on the balance sheet date that expose the Group to fair value interest rate risk, the Group applies interest rate repricing exposure analysis and sensitivity analysis as the primary approach for monitoring interest rate risk. Sensitivity analysis measures the effect of any reasonable and possible changes in the interest rate on the net profits and shareholders' equity with all other variables held constant.

The following tables indicate the interest rate risk of the Group as at 31 December 2025. In the tables, financial assets and liabilities as at 31 December 2025 are presented by the expected next repricing date or maturity date, whichever is earlier:

Sensitivity analysis

For those financial instruments held by the Group which expose the Group to fair value interest rate risk at the end of the reporting period, the Group adopts sensitivity analysis to measure the potential effect of changes in interest rates on the Group's and the Company's profit after tax and equity. Assuming all other variables remain constant, interest rate sensitivity analysis is as follows:

Sensitivity of profit after tax	31 December 2025	31 December 2024
Move in yield curve
Up 25 basis points	(653,035)	(1,009,579)
Down 25 basis points	552,304	986,406

Sensitivity of equity	31 December 2025	31 December 2024
Move in yield curve
Up 25 basis points	(1,065,381)	(1,454,378)
Down 25 basis points	982,639	1,501,165

The sensitivity analysis above indicates the instantaneous change in the Group's profit after tax and equity that would arise assuming that the change in interest rates had occurred at the end of the reporting period and had been applied to re-measure those financial instruments held by the Group which expose the Group to fair value interest rate risk at the end of the reporting period.

In respect of the exposure to cash flow interest rate risk arising from floating rate non-derivative instruments held by the Group, the impact on the Group's profit after tax and equity is estimated as an annualised impact on interest expense or income of such a change in interest rates.

(b) Foreign currency rate risk

Foreign currency risk is the risk arising from foreign exchange business of the Group, which is attributable to the fluctuation and monitor of foreign exchange rates. The Group's recognized foreign currency assets and liabilities and future foreign currency transactions (the valuation currencies of foreign currency assets and liabilities and foreign currency transactions are mainly US dollars and Hong Kong dollars) have foreign currency rate risk. The Group continuously monitors the scale of the Group's foreign currency transactions and foreign currency assets and liabilities to minimize the foreign currency rate risk it faces. As the net foreign currency exposure is relatively low in the Group, the foreign currency rate risk faced by the Group is not significant.

(c) Other price risks

Other price risks refer to the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of any equity securities and funds held by the Group will be affected by changes in market price factors (other than interest rates and foreign exchange rates). The Group mainly invests in stocks listed on stock exchanges and funds and the maximum market price risk is determined by fair value of financial instruments held by the Group.

Assuming that the market price of the financial instruments mentioned above increases or decreases by 10%, with all other variables held constant, the effect of these balance sheet assets on the Group shareholders' equity and net profit is listed as follows:

Sensitivity of profit after tax	31 December 2025	31 December 2024
Increase by 10%	8,482,510	5,210,537
Decrease by 10%	(8,482,510)	(5,210,537)

Sensitivity of equity	31 December 2025	31 December 2024
Increase by 10%	9,648,585	5,866,993
Decrease by 10%	(9,648,585)	(5,866,993)

(4) Capital management

The Group's primary objectives when managing capital are to safeguard its continued operations, so that it can continue to provide returns for shareholders, by pricing products and services according to the level of risk and by securing access to finance at a reasonable cost.

The Group's capital structure is regularly reviewed and managed to achieve an optimal structure and return for shareholders. Factors for the Group's consideration include: its future funding requirements, capital efficiency, actual and expected profitability, expected cash flows, expected capital expenditure and risk level. Adjustments are made to the capital structure in light of changes in the factors mentioned above affecting the Group.

On 13 September 2024, the CSRC issued the Calculation Rules for Risk Control Indicators of Securities Companies (2024) , which came into effect on 1 January 2025. Based on the rules above and other related rules issued or revised subsequently, the Company is required to meet the following standards for risk control indicators on a continual basis:

(i) the ratio of net capital divided by the sum of its various risk capital provisions shall be no less than 100%;

(ii) the ratio of net capital divided by net assets shall be no less than 20%; the ratio of net capital divided by liabilities shall be no less than 8%;

(iii) the ratio of net assets divided by liabilities shall be no less than 10%;

(iv) the ratio of the value of equity securities and derivatives held divided by net capital shall not exceed 100%;

(v) the ratio of the value of non-equity securities and non-equity derivatives held divided by net capital shall not exceed 500%;

(vi) the ratio of core net capital divided by total assets on and off-balance sheet shall be no less than 8%;

(vii) the ratio of high quality liquid assets divided by net cash outflows within 30 days shall be no less than 100%;

(viii) the ratio of stable funds available divided by stable funds required shall be no less than 100%; and the ratio of the value of margin financing, securities lending, stock-pledged financing and securities repurchase divided by net capital shall not exceed 400%.
