Pricing policies

Charges for the Transactions are determined by reference to the respective types of aircraft (where applicable) and the required technical standards. These Transactions for services provided and received by Cathay Group are competitively sourced and negotiated with reference to prevailing market conditions, industry standards, competitive peer analysis, and industry practices. In addition to the factors stated above:

- 1) Purchase of services: For services received by Cathay Group, Transactions are negotiated on an arm's length basis, and are sourced through a procurement basis. Proposals are requested from Air China Cargo Group and other service providers. The preferred supplier is selected based on various factors, including price, reliability, expertise, and experience.
- 2) Sale of services: For services provided by Cathay Group, Transaction terms are established through arm's length negotiations. These terms are determined with reference to (i) the fees charged by independent third-party service providers to Cathay Group for the same type of services, and (ii) the service fees charged by Cathay Group to independent third-party customers for comparable services.

This comprehensive approach to pricing ensures that the terms of the Transactions are fair, competitive, reflective of current market standards, and always on normal commercial terms or better.

Payment term

Payments under the Relevant Agreements shall be negotiated and agreed upon by the parties of the Relevant Agreement, based on the specific needs and circumstances of the underlying Service Arrangements under the Relevant Agreement. Unless otherwise agreed in the Relevant Agreement, any amount payable by one party to the other party under a Relevant Agreement shall be paid in cash within 45 days upon the first mentioned party's receipt of an applicable invoice issued by the other party.

Termination

A party to any Relevant Agreement may terminate that agreement with immediate effect by notice in the event of material default by the other party. If a Relevant Agreement is terminated, all the rights and obligations of the parties under it, except those subsisting at the time of termination, will cease.

Annual caps

The annual caps for the Transactions have been determined by reference to the actual historical transaction amounts for the Service Arrangements provided in the two years ended 31st December 2025 and the estimated transaction amount for various services as contemplated under the Framework Agreement for the year ending 31st December 2026, as well as the Cathay Group's projections of its operating parameters such as fleet size and plan.

The Directors estimate that the amounts payable for the Service Arrangements for the three years ending 31st December 2029 will not exceed the annual caps set out below. For the avoidance of doubt, the amounts paid and received by Cathay Group are not netted for the purposes of calculating the historical amounts and the annual caps set out below.
