III. EXPLANATION FOR THE CHANGES IN RESULTS

During the reporting period, the Company seized the opportunities presented by the booming global new energy industry and, leveraging its leading position in battery materials, achieved total sales of core products such as nickel-based, cobalt-based, phosphorus-based, and sodium-based materials exceeding 250,000 tonnes. By segment, ternary precursor sales increased by over 50% year-on-year in the first half of the year, with a stable gross profit margin, further solidifying its leading position in the industry; phosphorus-based material sales increased by over 25% year-on-year, significantly releasing profit elasticity and successfully achieving a turnaround; sodium battery precursor materials sales maintained a high growth trend, continuing to maintain its industry-leading position. Furthermore, the Company's upstream resource layout yielded remarkable results, with investment returns from laterite nickel mines steadily increasing; the Indonesian pyrometallurgical nickel smelting project, leveraging its cost advantages, effectively offset local policy changes and maintained excellent profitability.

Overall, the company's integrated "resources + smelting + materials" full-industry chain advantage continued to deepen, with each business segment working synergistically to jointly build the company's operational safety margin and counter-cyclical resilience.
