VOLUNTARY ANNOUNCEMENT

This announcement is made by WuXi AppTec Co., Ltd.* (無錫藥明康德新藥開發股份有限公司) (the “Company” or “we”) on a voluntary basis.

The Company’s Biology business segment recently experienced a cybersecurity incident of unauthorized access to certain data on its DNA Encoded Library (“DEL”) platform for specialized chemical compound libraries of coded chemicals for early-stage discovery projects.

The Company immediately implemented response protocols and brought in leading external cybersecurity experts and external counsel to contain and investigate this incident. The security breach of DEL platform has been contained and there is no evidence that any other system has been impacted. We have already reached out to the WuXi Biology customers whose data files were compromised. To date, we have not identified any evidence that any data has been published, misused or otherwise exploited.

This cybersecurity incident did not affect the Company’s normal operations. Our ability to serve customers remains unaffected, and all our IT systems (including DEL platform) are functioning normally. We take the data security seriously and are treating this as our priority. The Company is working closely with cybersecurity experts and external counsel to complete the investigation and improve our system protection. We have already implemented additional security protocols to further secure our systems and will take additional actions as merited by the ongoing investigation.

Shareholders of the Company and potential investors are advised to exercise caution when dealing in the shares of the Company.
