Details of any changes in IFRS Accounting Standards are set out in Note 3.

The preparation of these condensed consolidated interim financial statements in compliance with IAS 34 requires the use of certain judgements, estimates and assumptions that affect the application of policies and the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, income and expenses on a year-to-date basis. These changes include categorisation and sub-totals in the statement of profit or loss, aggregation/disaggregation and labelling of information, and disclosure of management-defined performance measures.

IFRS 18 is effective for annual periods beginning on or after 1 January 2027. Retrospective application is required and so the comparative information for the financial year ending 31 December 2026 will be restated in accordance with IFRS 18.

No internally generated costs have been recognised as intangible assets (six-month period ended 30 June 2025: total RMB2,421,000 internally generated costs have been recognised as intangible assets in respect of enterprise management business). 14. INTANGIBLE ASSETS (Continued)

The recoverable amounts have been determined based on value-in-use calculation, which derived from the income approach. The calculation uses cash flow projections based on financial budgets approved by management covering a 5-year period, and pre-tax discount rate at 15.2%. The growth rate used to extrapolate the cash flows beyond the five-year period is 2.0%. Other key assumptions for the value in use calculations relate to the estimation of cash inflows/outflows which include budgeted revenue and gross margin, such estimation is based on the unit's past performance and management's expectations for the market development. Management believes that any reasonably possible change in any of these assumptions would not cause the aggregate net carry amount to exceed the aggregate recoverable amount.

During the six-month period ended 30 June 2026, a provision for impairment of intangible assets of RMB3,441,000 (six-month period ended 30 June 2025: Nil) was recognised to reduce the carrying amounts of the intangible assets to their recoverable amounts as a result of unsatisfactory market demand for the corresponding products in the enterprise management business.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

BUSINESS REVIEW

The Group is one of the leading providers of enterprise digital transformation services in China. With extensive industry experience and strong research and development (R&D) and innovation capabilities, it has been able to widely adopt emerging technologies such as cloud computing, big data and AI to provide enterprise customers with digital products, solutions and professional information technology (IT) services. As enterprise customers in China accelerate the digital transformation in their operations and the IT market continues to evolve, the Group has also actively provided customers with enterprise management services through its two major businesses – Cloud Intelligence and Data Intelligence. During the six-month period ended 30 June 2026 (the "Period"), the Group further sharpened its focus on cloud computing- and AI-driven digital products and upgrading solutions businesses, while scaling back its traditional integration operations, resulting in a decline of approximately 25% in the Group's overall revenue.

Cloud Intelligence

Cloud Intelligence, which is the main income source of the Group, has been growing with good momentum over the years. Through close collaboration with leading IT companies and cloud resources providers, local and abroad, such as Baidu AI Cloud, H3C, Tencent Cloud and Alibaba Cloud, complemented by its proprietary cloud-computing products including CloudScape (雲境), CloudOne (雲樞), CloudShare (雲享), CloudObs (雲觀) and CloudAtlas (雲圖), the Group has actively provided enterprise customers with "cloud+AI" integrated platform solutions, and strived to offer customers a unified, concise and standardized autonomous multi-cloud+AI platform that not only supports the efficient management of multiple computational powers, models, data and applications, but also enables flexible integration methods and intelligent operating strategies. During the Period, despite increasingly fierce competition in the Chinese IT market, the Group proactively optimized its existing product line and launched new products, further advancing its product portfolio and services optimization strategies to sustain healthy cash flow and enhance profitability.

Data Intelligence

Driven by emerging technologies such as AI and big data, the Group has developed a series of proprietary data intelligence products, including Voice of Customer (客戶之聲), IntelligenceCore Data Workshop (智核數據工坊), IntelligenceCore AI Agent Management Platform (智核智能體管理平台), among others, integrating AI technology deep into the different business scenarios of customers in various industries. The Group has undertaken data analysis to uncover the value of data, enabling customers to fully leverage its potential and maintain a competitive edge in the era of AI driven digital transformation. Among its different products, Futong IntelligenceCore provides an end-to-end workflow encompassing data governance, AI Agent building, delivery and operation, helping enterprises establish an AI capability system that can be "fast to build, stable to deliver, and sustainable to operate", thereby facilitating the efficient deployment of AI Agent across various industry scenarios. During the Period, the Group continued to strengthen the integration of technologies in its intelligent application and invested more resources in improving technologies and marketing, driving further revenue growth in this business segment. The Group will continue to provide services to more customers and actively accumulate industry expertise to lay a solid foundation for future business development.

OUTLOOK

Looking back at the first half of 2026, China's IT market recorded a steady recovery, driven by "AI+" and emerging technologies, marking a shift from technological catch-up to application-led growth. Demand for enterprise digital transformation has evolved from an "optional" initiative into a business imperative, creating structural growth opportunities for the Group. Heeding those situations and to cope with market changes, the Group adjusted its business structure and integrated internal resources, allowing it to reduce operating costs, while further optimizing its proprietary services and products. Yet, despite its efforts, amid fierce market competition, the Group's overall revenue dropped.

Looking ahead to the second half of 2026, China's AI market will move from an intensely competitive phase focused on cost reduction and efficiency gains into a decisive stage of commercial monetization. Industry-level AI applications will also progress from pilot to large-scale deployment, and enterprises' demand for end-to-end solutions spanning computational powers operations, data governance and AI Agent applications will become increasingly urgent. The rapid emergence of refined management needs will create new market opportunities for the Group in the field of AI operations management. The Group will continue to adhere to the core philosophy of "AI + industry + scenario", and build an AI-powered Cloud Intelligence capability system covering the full value chain from "Computational Power, Token to AI Agent".

To address the increasingly complex demands of digital governance and intelligent operations, the Group will further strengthen its AI infrastructure and computational power operations capabilities. It will enhance the synergies between the CloudScape Intelligent Multi-Cloud Management Platform (雲境智能多雲管理平台) and CloudAtlas Intelligent Computing Operation Management Platform (雲圖智算運營管理平台), enabling unified management and efficient scheduling of heterogeneous computing resources, including general-purpose computing, intelligent computing, and supercomputing resources. Building on its proven track record in sectors such as automotive and government services, the Group will continue to expand its operations services for city-level intelligent computing centers, facilitating the transition of computational power infrastructure from construction to service-oriented operations. In addition, Futong iCore Enterprise Intelligent Agent Platform (智核企業級智能體平台) has established an enterprise AI ecosystem covering the three-tier architecture of application, operation, and production, while IntelligenceCore Data Workshop focuses on addressing data-related challenges in enterprise AI deployment. The Group will strengthen collaboration with ecosystem partners such as China Telecom to accelerate the large-scale deployment of AI solutions in key industries such as automotive, healthcare, government affairs and education.

In recent years, the Group has been actively developing innovative proprietary products and intelligent applications. It has established the Genesis AI Innovation Center and assembled a specialized and pioneering research team of professors and holders of relevant doctoral degrees from renowned local and overseas universities, dedicated to improving the R&D and technological service capabilities of AI products. As a key platform for the Group's future AI strategy, the Genesis AI Innovation Center has, since its inception, remained committed to implementing cutting-edge AI technologies in industry applications. Leveraging nearly 30 years of deep industry experience in healthcare, transportation, finance, and manufacturing, the Group has built knowledge graphs with industry insights and proprietary model capabilities, driving the broader adoption of AI technologies and accelerating their commercialization across enterprise scenarios.

At the same time, the Group will actively collaborate with domestic and overseas model companies and computational power infrastructure partners to develop overseas markets. It will fully leverage its full-stack AI capabilities, deeply integrating into key areas such as data platforms and industrial ecosystem clusters, thereby providing AI-enabled services tailored to real-world business scenarios for enterprises seeking international expansion.

Although the Group has effectively controlled operating costs by restructuring its business and consolidating resources, fluctuations in the global economy and uncertainties in the external environment will continue to affect the domestic market. In the coming years, the Group will continuously implement refined resource management solutions to ensure effective utilization of resources and improve operational efficiency. The Group will also strictly implement cost control measures to maintain a healthy financial position.

In the rapidly evolving AI landscape, the Group, as an innovative technology enterprise, remains committed to advancing its core product technologies and providing products and services that can effectively address the key concerns of users. Looking ahead, the Group will build an enterprise-level AI resource operations management system to help customers achieve cost-efficient and value-driven large-scale AI deployment. Through the combined drivers of technological innovation, product iteration, and ecosystem collaboration, the Group will be able to capture structural opportunities arising from the wave of AI industrialization, create greater value for customers, and deliver long-term sustainable returns to shareholders.
