Based on the background and information obtained from verification, the Group's on-the-ground management team in Mainland China has cross-checked information available from two categories of online sources:

- (i) official public disclosure platforms operated by government and judicial authorities, including the National Enterprise Credit Information Publicity System and official online disclosure platforms run by Mainland Chinese judicial authorities; and Information obtained from the above-mentioned sources may suffer from time-lags for online enquiries, and platform data may not be updated in a timely manner. Due to time-lags in online public disclosures as well as information asymmetries between online records and physical court documents, minor data discrepancies may exist.
