BUSINESS UPDATE

- Network Development: During the Period, the Group continued to upgrade its existing healthcare service institutions and expand into new cities, further enhancing the service capabilities of individual institutions and improving its offline service network. In the third quarter of 2026, the three One-stop Healthcare Service Institutions in Changsha, Wuhan and Shenzhen completed their upgrades and commenced operations successively. With more comprehensive service offerings and greater service capacity, these upgraded institutions are better equipped to address the diverse and full-life-cycle health needs of user families, while enhancing multi-specialty collaboration and improving the user experience. Meanwhile, the Group opened a new Initial Standard Institution in Xi'an in June 2026, marking a key node in its strategic expansion into this new city.

- Subscription-based Health Services: Since its launch this year, the health subscription service has been in a rapid development stage, with its business scale gradually expanding. As of the end of September 2026, the service was generating over RMB1 million in monthly revenue for the Group, providing a new growth channel for the Group to acquire new customers and deepen long-term healthcare relationships with users.
